my mind was undecided what person or subject, uncient or modern. I should first introduce to my readers. While I was pondering, my eye chanced to fall upon a volume of Mrs. Hemans' poems, which lay on my table; and following the example of the worthy couple in the story, I cut short deliberation, and at once wrote-

FELICIA DOROTHEA HEMASS.

A biographical sketch of this sweet poetess may serve for information, but it will present no striking incidents to arrest the attention of those who always expect to find such in the lives of the gifted of genius. Mrs. Hemans was a gentle, thoughtful, noble-minded woman, who saw more sorrow than sunkhine in her earthly career. Her poems are full of tenderness and loftiness of feeling, and no one can read their strange soft music, without learning the history of their author's heart-

"Her deep and much enduring love, Her constancy and faith, Her duty, her high fortitude, Triamphing over death."

Mrs. Hemans was born, Sept. 25th, 1794, Liverpool, where her father, whose name was Browne, was engaged in the mercantile business He was a native of Ireland; her mother was an Englishwoman, but descended from a Venetian family. Her father died when she was young but her mother lived to direct her education, and encourage her literary pursuits. She published her first volume of poems in 1808; and it is said a harsh review of them confined her in bed for several days. Like Keats, she was exceedingly sensitive to criticism; but knowing her own pow sensitive to criticism; but knowing her own pow-ers, she persevered, and her beautiful lyrics soon found favor with the public; and in enjoying the spearse that our whole public domain amounts to 1, 442,217,859 acres, which, at the present minimum

A.A. MASON & CO.,

No. 60 Market street, Pittsburgh, Pa.,

Dec leave most respectfully to announce to their many merous patrons and the public that they, in consequence of contemplating a change in their business, propose opening the whole of their extensive Warehouse, (including all their Wholesale Rooms.) for retailing, and will continue open until the first of February, commencing on New Year's Day, 1849. Our whole stock, comprising one of the most extensive and varied assortments of FANCY AND STAPLE DRY GOODS ever exhibited as the Western courty.

prising one of the most extensive and varied assortments of FANCY AND STAPLE BRY GOODS ever exhibited in the Western country, will be offered at lower prices than ever before known. Dywards of fairy thousand dollars of oun-stock has been recently purchased, the great; er portion of which are foreign Goods, received at New York by late European arrivals, which, from the lateness of the season, as well as the well known pressure in the money market, were soid at immense sacrifices at the public sales, at rates varying from twenty-five to fifty per cent. less than similar goods brought the first of the season. We therefore confidently believe that our prices for the time above mentioned will be found to be even lower than any Eastern wholesale rates.

We auxiously invite all persons to visit our establishment, whether they purchase or not, and test the truth of the above—assuring them that they will incur uo obligation thereby, but confer a favor upon the proprietors—Our assortment of SILKS, SHAWLS, and FINE DRESS GOODS will amply repay one tor a visit; added to which our great display of DOMESTIC GOODS will, we hope, induce all to call.

[[J] Our system of One Price, will be strictly adhered to Fourth street, between Smithfield and Grant streets, Pittsburgh. HOUSE.

Have already become so universally popular, wherever introduced, that the proprietors are induced to place introduced, that the proprietors are induced to place introduced, that the proprietors are induced to place them within the reach of all. Of the virtues of these medicines, it is altogether unnecessary for us to speak, as they have always, wherever introduced, been able to recommend thrusterer. The numerous certificates, which from time to time have been published, besides others now in our possession, is sufficient evidence, not only of their virtue and power to care, but that they are country; is flooded with "Panaceas," "Elizers," "Bal sams," and "Pills," and amany of them of a doubtful character, persons are at a loss to know how far they should trust any of them: Reject themall, and try those which have been proved by the experience of years. Such is the character of the medicines compounded by Dr. Willard, an eminent practitioner, and sold by men of character who have something more atstake than the accumulation of a few dollars. In order that the public may know what they men all the public our advertising will be genuine extificates. Thus you may be satisfied that "they own works will praise them."
