Pennsylvania Avenue. The condition of the leading Avenue to our city is horrible. We can only conceive of one way to make it passable, and that is by planking it. To atmake it passable, and that is by planking it. As as taxes shall be collected by a uniform assessmou-tempt to plank it until it is built up on both sides would be a useless expenditure of money. The planking will make it good for three or four years, the Directors of each Ward and Controllers shall be it as a state of the same o and by that time it will be pretty well built up, judging from the direction of the tide of population

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, Harrisburgh, Monday Atternoon, March 19. The House is in session. As I write, much conusion on existing questions. The morning session was mostly occupied by a waste of words on two dissimilar reports made by the Canal Board-or that fortion of them known as Mr. Painter and Mr. Power; each differing in their mode and manner of doing business. There is cvidently a bad feeling existing between these official dignitaries, and as it now appears, a regular war may be expected. After soveral resolutions, and amendments-being offered to get clear of the precious documents, this morning presented by said gentlemen-Mr. R. Rundle Smith, a cute, but yet clever Whig, offered a resolution that
