Judge SHALER assures the public that he has kept no copies of his speeches or productions, political or literary. This is a mere ruse de guerre. We would have ascribed the denial to the " learned. gentleman's" modesty, had not the idea struck us, that it was intended to parry off any solicitation that his old friends, the Federalists, might make, teince his return to their embraces,) for a copy of that colebrated prayer, "that the bones of the American soldiers might bleach on the shores of Canada."

The Tariff Convention. The more we turn to the proceedings of the late Tariff Convention, in this city, the more glaringly appear their contradictions and inconsistencies. On the first day of the session of the Convention the time it was passed; but owing to "foreign convulsions," it is "inoperative as a protection now." The following is one of the resolutions accompanying the report Resolved, That the Tariff Law of 1846, though the country, at the lime that law was passed, it is the country, at the lime that law was passed, it is fitted only for the peculiar state of things then exist-ing in the foreign market, and altogether ublitted for it existing now.

Here, in the first place, is an important admission viz: that the Tariff of 1846, (mind you, the "Britith (!) Free Trade Tariff of 1846,") was "SUFFI. CIENTLY PROTECTIVE TO THE IRON INTER-EST AND LABOR OF THE COUNTRY, at the time that law was passed !" Thus do we find this Convention of Tariffites making admissions and farnishing arguments against themselves. We do not deny t there have been "convulsions" in Europe, that it is within the power of Congress to prevent the recurrence of those "convolsions." Even if Congress possessed the power to prevent financial explosions and monetary revolutions, we doubt the policy of legislating upon the subject. What the country wants is STABILITY AND CERTAINTY in legislation; and not continued excitement and useless change. It is the worst kind of madness and ridicted by the quality of an article, and the supply and that the sum of $26,346,790 was the or

The same unblushing suppression The Tariff of 246, while it will act as a "safety the impression upon the mind of the reader that their steam up too high, and prevent, also, too great ury in 1848, to meet the expenditures of that ness,-will, at the same time, operate as a wholecountry, including commerce, agriculture, manufactures, and mechanic arts.

We noticed a few days since the reception of un essay bearing the above title, from the pen of Dr city. We have just finished its perusal, and though most of the idean were familiar to our mind, yet they the satisfaction which novelty inspires. Dr. Muller has caught the great idea of the age, and is not ashamed to become a teacher of those social truths which the working classes are beginning to discover; and which, when understood and applied will elevate Labor and remove the chief causes or human misery. The shackels of Conservatism have failed to bind his bold and investigating intellect. He looks upon the disorder and suffering which exist in the world to be the result of a violation of a Social Law, which when observed according to the intentions of God will produce a millennial era in the condition of our race. All the ills which flesh is heir to, are consequences of the transgression of laws which were given for a wise and benevolent purpose, and which, when obeyed, will yield a proportionate degree of happiness. Trace social evils to their cause, and we behold their origin in man's isolation, and in his endeavor to struggle throughout existence for himself alone, as if he were not a part of a great family whose interests are unitary and identical. The social unitary law is founded on the principle of Love; and if even Christianity is perfected on earth it must be by the observance of that law. We have sometimes thought that to the Angels the human family must present a spectacle similar to that of an orchestra, whose members are performing on their various instruments without a leader or note book; each player performing his own ments." And just so do many muster minds foresee the result which will follow their labors to convince the dull comprehension of mankind that there exists a Social Law a Jaw which in God's good time will produce upon this planet an era of universal brotherhood, harmony and happiness. In the creation, the evening came before the morning. It is obvious that these statements are made at mind? We hope they will be able to clear their this time for the purpose of affording a pretext for skirts of the criminality of this proceeding. a repeal of the Tariff of 1846. The wholesale and extraordinary expenditure of money by the present profligate administration, will, doubtless, ruinto the receipts to an alarming extent; but still, without taking the war debt into account, there during the last two years, but we positively deny must be a curplus in the treasury, beyond the exnenditures.

Thus it is not true-as the Republic, speaking for Mr. Meredith, the Secretary of the Treasury asserts-that "in the years 1847 and 1848, there fore our expenses exceeded our income $36,957. 523." On the contrary, the statement is utterly untrue and false, notwithstanding the cabinet organ asserts that "we cite from printed docurive at that point where conflicting interests can be public documents. They show that the statements reconciled. We may not live to see the day which in the Republic are utterly false, and so bugely and monstrously so as to leave the irresistible conviction upon the mind that they are intentionally so. The facts which we have stated show conclusively that there was no excess of expenditure over the income in the years 1847 and 1848; that instead of there being an excess of over THIRTY-TY-SIX MILLIONS OF DOLLARS, there was in both those years an actual balance in the treasury. Patent Chilled Rollers.

Bollmans & Garrison, Circuit Court United States—
ts. Case for Intringement of HarLEY'S Patent Right for casting Chilled Hollers. Defendant gave in evidence Patent to John C. Parry CHARGE OF COURT. A question of infringement is one of fact, of which the jury are the judges. The construction of the patent is for the Court.

After reading and commenting on the specification of Plaintiff's patent, the Court observed. In doubtful cases it is not the caston of the Court to express any opinion of the incise of the case; but in this case the facts are undisputed, and the Court think it is proper to state; as the opinion of both the Judges on the true construction of Plaintiff's Patent, that the Defendent's Patent is a gross and patipable piracy of the Plaintiff's invention.

It has evidently been obtained on the ground that it was an improvement on Plaintiff's patented invention, and now seeks to usurp his rights under pretence of an improvement—a pretence which is proved also to be unfounded. Per Curiam:

R. C. GRIER.

The above decision gives to the subscribers alone the right to manufacture Chilled Rollers, by the only process known to produce a good article.
