novi8 cor of Fourth and Wood six, up stairs states the same great incl, and describes the method of preparation. There are few higher authorities than Dr. Pereira.

Dr. Gomba, in his valuable writings on the "Physiology of Digestion," observes that "a diminution of the due quantity of the Gastric Juicer a prominent and all-prevailing cause of Dyspepsia," and he states that "a distinguished professor of medicine in London, who was severely afflicted with this complaint, fanding everything clast to fail, had recourse to the Gastric Juide, obtained from the stomach of living animals, which proved completely successful."

Dr. GRAIDM, author of the famous works on "Vegetable Diet," says: "It is a remarkable fact in physiology, that the stomachs of animals, uncertaited in water, impart to the fluid the property of dissolving various articles of food, and of effecting a kind of artificial digestive process,"

Dr. Srkon's great work, the "Chemistry of Man," (Lea & Blanchard, Philm., 1846, pp. 381-2) says: "The discovery of PEPSIN forms a new era in the chemical history of Digestion. From recent experiments we know that food is dissolved as rapidly in an artificial digestic fluid, prepared from Pepsin, as it is to the natural Gastric Juice itself."

Professor Dunglison, of the Jefferson College, Philadelphia, in his great work on Human Physiology, devotes more than fifty pages to an examination of this subject. His experiments with Dr. Beaumont, on the Gastric Juice, obtained from the living himan stomach and from animals, are well known, "In all cases," he says, "digestion occurred as perfectly in the artificial as in the natural digestions."
