ELOQUENT AND FEELING MEMORIAL

In answer to the Charges and Allegations of her: Husband, Dr. Wetherill.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:
The humble and respectful memorial of Isabella Wetherill respectfully represents -That I have earned with teelings of deep regret and sorrow hat my name has been again presented to your honorable bodies, and that my husband has again seen fit to lay before you a petition praying for a divorce, based upon allegations of my negligence, misconduct and want of fidelity to him. Of this petition I received no notice, nor can I learn that it was ever made public in the ordinary reports of he proceedings of your honorable bodies, prepard for the public press; and I was only indebted the disinterested kinduess of friends, who adviced me that certain proceedings were taking which required me, from self-respect, from the lov I bore my children, and from my consciousness of innocence, to give them immediate attention. My eldest son (who, with all my children, have been, and I thank my God with all christian sincerity for it, still are faithful, true and devoted to me in my sadness and effiction,) visited Harrisburg to earn the truth, and on his return yesterday I received for the first time definite information of

FROM HARRISBURG. DRESPONDENCE OF THE MORNING POST

NUMBER XXIV. HABRISBURG, February 13. Why, friend Harper, your friends in the West are secoming strangely temperate in their habits, if we are to judge from the action of the Senate today. Nearly the whole morning was spent in the consideration of a hill prohibiting the sale of spiritous, malt and vinous liquors in the county of Washington. Not satisfied with the usual penalties imposed upon liquor sellers, they at first proposed to make the sale of it, under any circumstances, punishable by fine and imprisonment, but finally their intermperate zeal cooled gown, and they made the offence punishable as keepers of tippling houses are now punished by law. This is a direct crusade against your "Monongahela Whiskey," which has acquired a world-wide reputation, and has long been favorably known a Harrisburg. I have spent several hours in copying for the Post" the memorial of Mrs. Isabella Wetherill, praying that the divorce asked by her husband may not be granted. It will tell its own tale.

To night we have a lecture from Wm. R. Dickserson, an egotistical individual, who has acquired some notoriety, and a reputation for honesty and disinterestedness, which he does not deserve, by trumpeting the dishonesty of others. His subject to night was the corruptions of the "State House Row," in Philadelphia. His vulgar abuse of all the Philadelphia county officers, and indiscriminate laudations of himself, led his audience to believe that there was no more honesty in his composition.

Tin Roofing.

The subscribers take this method to inform properly holders, house-builders, and all others interested, in all its branches. Their skill and experience in this part of the business, has hitherto enabled them to give entire satisfaction. And they hope, that by continuing the same policy of using the best materials, and employing skillful workmen, to keep up this favorable impression. If the question of Tin Roofing was new, or just brought before the notice of this community for the first time, we would consider that the importance of the subject would justify as in extending our views on its superior advantages. This, however, is not the case. We shall therefore, confine ourselves to a few remarks. On the 6th day of June, 1844, (nearly seven years ago.) we finished our first job of Tin Roofing in this place. From that up to the present time, we have covered with tin the roofs of the finest and most costly buildings that have been erected in this county. We have given our views on a previous occasion on the superior advantage of Tin over iron, as a covering for houses. And time, the great tester of all things, has but too clearly proven the correctness of our opinion. of Tin over 110n, as a covering for nouses. And time, the great tester of all things, has but too clearly proven be correctness of our opinion.

Again, if we place Tin in juxta position, with State as a covering for houses, we think that the will bear a favorable comparison, with some decided advantages.— These advantages are, that when this is used the roof, can be made much flatter—thereby saving materials, in the length of rafters, brick in the gable ends—making the house casy of access in case of a fire, and showing a better finish and appearance. Also, when the is used the gutters are worked in, thereby saving the extra and heavy expense for copper gutters, copper flashings, &c.,—things indispensible on slate roots. If further reasons were deemed necessary, we could offer the experience of our eastern cities in proof what has been advanced, as it is a well known fact that New York and other eastern cities very generally prefer even tin for their most costly and splendid buildings, netwithstanding they have a full supply of slate at their doors. With these remarks we will leave the subject with those interested, and will take pleasure in giving further information when called on,
