Rejoicing. There was general rejoicing in the Eastern citie when news was received that the Atlantic was safe. When the Africa reached New York on Saturday evening, bringing the gratifying intelligence, the people were wild with joy! The Herald establishment was so crowded that the gentlemen connected with the paper had great difficulty in finding a way of ingress and egress. The " Atlantic is sale" was announced (says the Herald) from the stages of the different theatres. The performances were tempotarily suspended in those places of amusement, by the cheering which ensued; and out of doors the welcome intelligence was passed from person to person, that " the Atlantic is safe." until every one in the city was acquainted with the gratifying intelligence. The Baltimore Sun of Monday says: "It was truly glorious news to all classes , for in addition to the fact that the lives of some of our most estimable citizens were involved in her eafety, all felt that the character and safety of the American steam marine in contrast with that of England, was at stake. It was the antiect of general conversation throughout the day, happily and appropriately alluded to in the pulpit by some of our most eloquent divines.

The Washington correspondent of the Sun statts that when the safety of the Atlantic was announced from the Stage of the National Hall Theatre, the enthusiasm with which it was received beggars all description. Nine cheers were intended to be given by the audience : but instead of that, a long continund, uninterrupted exclamation of joy rung through the house, in which every body participated-audi ence, actors, fiddlers, manager, lamplighters, sceneshifters, curtain-lifter and all. It was a perfect shout of triumph, which struck home to the heart of every one present, and produced a universal sense of glad BENTON FOR PRESIDENT.—Several democratic papers in Indiana arge the nomination of Col. Benton for President. Since his defeat in Missouri some who previously recommended Gen. Lane now sup-port Col. Benton.—Balttmore Sun.

All a mistake. We know of no democratic p per in Indiana which has declared its preference for Col. Benton for the Presidency. All the democratic papers in the State, two only excepted, are for Gentane. That he is the first choice of nine-tenths of the democracy of Indiana we believe there can be no doubt.—New Albany (Ia.) Ledger.

The item credited to the Sun was in the first place sent from Cincinnati by telegraph, by some Munchausen free soiler, who had ' nothing else to do. These little tricks are becoming too frequent entirely. Immediately before a Presidential election they might deceive somebody; but now, when there is a calm in regard to the Presidency, falsehoods of this description are only calculated to injure the men for whose benefit they are manufactured.

Read It. But a short time previous to his death, James Mad ison, one of the purest and best spirits America has produced or known, wrote the following as part of his legacy, of act and example, to the future : "Advice to My Country.—As this active, it is ever see the light, will not do so till I am no more, it may be considered as issuing from the tomb, where trait alone can be respected, and the happiness of men alone consulted. It will be entitled, therefore, to whatever weight can be derived from good intentions, and from the experience of one who has sers yed his country in various stations through a period "of forty years; who esponsed in his youth," and ad-hered through his life, to the cause of liberty, and who has borne a part in most of the great transactions which will constitute epochs of its destiny.

"The advice nearest to my heart and deepest in my convictions is, that the Union of the States by cherished and perpetuated. Let the open enemy to the regarded as a Pandora with her box opened and the disguised one, as the serpent creeping his deside wiles into Paradise."

This action is founded upon some breach of contract, express or implied, for the safety of the lainuff, and none such is averred. No legal duy is violated in employing persons to work at a hazardous employment. The persons employed take the hazard for the compensation agreed upon. Even if any care is demanded of the employer it is only reasonable care, and it is not averred that this was wanting. When gross negligence is relied on, it must be distinctly averred. As the declaration stands it raises only the

This, it must be observed, is a question of legal,

not of moral duty. The moral duty, which every man owes to those in his employment to consult their safety, will not be disputed. This is a duty prompted by the ordinary feelings of human charity, and may be of no more perfect obligation than he duty which one owes to another to warn him of approaching danger—a duty enforced by no sanctions but those of the moral law. It will not be pretended, if the defendant had warned the plaintiff that the machinery was dangerous, and then the plaintiff had agreed to risk it, that in such case the defendant would be liable gerous, and then the plaintiff had agreed to risk it, that in such case the defendant would be liable for the unfortunate result of the experiment. But the law very properly presumes that every man who undertakes a business understands the character of the business understands the character of the business and of the tools and machinery with which it is to be done; and on this account it is a fair presumption that he undertakes the risk for what he considers a sufficient compensation. If he ignorantly and presumptuously undertakes the work, it is not wrong that he should himself bear the natural coasequences. If the machinery is dangerous in its character, or by reason of its want of repair, a proper workman is presumed to know it at least as well as his empresumed to know it at least as well as his empresumed to know it at least as well as his empresumed to know it at least as well as his empresumed to know it at least as well as his empresumed. DECISIONS IN THE DISTRICT COURT | he had been set to cut wood with the defendant's axe, and it had become detached from the hand I suppose it would not have been claimed that the defendant was liable for an injury thus occasioned to the plaintiff. Yet I do not perceive the differ ence between that case and this; for if the machinery, in this instance, is more complicated, the person using it is presumed to have more skill and care. Even the manager himself is (as far concerns the plaintiff,) but one of the instrument by which the defendant carries on his business; an instrument just as likely to be defective as any of the unintelligent instruments by which the business is effected, and the persons employed are holds off, for the present, from accepting any of the of TRUST TO THE FUTURE. Trust to the Future:—Tho' gloomy and cheerless, Prowls the dark Past, like a Ghost at thy back,

Look not behind thee; be hopeful and fearless:
Steer for the right way and keep to the track!
Fling off Despair—it has strength like a giant—
Shoulder thy purpose, and boldly deflant!
Saveto the Right, stand unmoved and unpliant!
Faith and God's promise the Braye never lack.

Trust to the Future:—The Present may fright thee, Scowling so fearfully close at thy side; Face it unmoved, and no Present can blight thee—He who stands boldly, each blast shall abide, Never a storm but the tainted air needs it, Never a storm but the sunshine succeeds: it; Each has a lesson, and he slone reads it. Rightly, who takes it and makes it his guide.

Trust to the Future;—It stands like an angel,
Walting to lead thee, to bless and to cheer thee;
Singing of Hope, like some blessed Evangel,
Laring thee on to a brighter career.
Why should the Past or the Present oppress thee?
Stamp on their coils, for, with arms to caress thee,
See, the Great Future stands yearning to bless thee?
Press boldly forward nor yield to a fear. Trust to the Future:—it will not deceive thee
So thou but meet it with brave heart and strong;
Now begin living anew, and believe me,
Gladness and Triumph will follow ere long;
Never a night but there cometh a morrow,
Never a grief but the hopeful will borrow
Something of gladness to lighten the sorrow;
Life unto such is a Conqueror's song!

Trust to the Future then;—cease from thy weeping
Faith and a firm heart are all that you need—
God and his angels have yet in their keeping,
Harvest of joy if we'll but sow the seed!
Trust to the Future,—all Life will be glorious;
Trust, for in trusting the soul is victorious;
Trust,—and in trusting be strong and laborious;
Up and be doing, and give God the meed!
