The President having resumed his scat,

On motion of Mr. Morrow, the resolution was and promising rare sport, there is little doubt but Second, as to how I got along, crossing the Desert.

At the "Sink" of the Humboldt," I started at the head of a little hand, composed of myself and seven others, and went ahead for the purpose of procuring provisions for the train. We traveled until about 12 o'clock at night; the company became faigued and plead with me to stop—which I did. The next morning we started early, and in a short time all the water was gone, except that in my canteen. Hun put peaches is his, and being I was aware of what he intended to do, he throw it out. 10 o'clock came, and one alter another began to call for water—but alse! the water was soon consumed. At 12 o'clock, there was one continuous try of WATER! WAyoung man is bound to be gallant and polite, and to admire without stint, all the pretty young girls known and unknown, to doff the beaver, offer his arm, invite to ride, pleasant saunter—in short, to all the sundries; indeed, to show his devotion and gallantry towards the fair sex, until some new enchantress throws her spell around him, and he sinks, subdued, into a commonplace, indifferent, careless Benedict Now out of these things grow difficultier. A young man admires a pretty girl and must manifest it; he cannot help doing so for art in the discussion.

The President having resumed his scat,
On motion of Mr. Morrow, the resolution was there was one continuous cry of WATER! WATER! in a tone that would have made Hughes, who has for several weeks been confined to his room by rheumatism.
