It is not more than one year ago zince this great remedy was brought before the public, for the relief and cure of disease. Its great powers to heal, have, since then, become fully appreciated by the community, and wo allege that the longer it is tried the more certain will its great fame spread. It is not the remedy of a day, got up for the sole purpose of making money; but, ohe, which we conceive, will-continue to be used when all nostrums have been forgotten. The PETROLEUM is a Natural Remedy, elaborated in the depths of the earth by a power and agency that laughs to scorn all human competition. It is our duty, when we write about a medicine, that we write TRUTH—that we say nothing calculated to deceive those who may trust out word or put confidence in our statements. The sick are very apt to eatch at any thing that promises relief from disease. A story can hardiy be too highly wrought to answer the object of gulling or humburging some of them. Baron Lieras, in hiscelebrated work on Animal Chem istry, says: "An artificial Bigestive Fluid, analogous up the Gastic Juice, may be readily prepared from the mucous membrane of the stomach of the calf, in which various articles of food, as meat and eggs, will be so softened, changed and digested, jast in the same manner as they would be in the human stomach."

Dr. Persukaa, in his famous treatise on "Food and Diet," published by Fowlers & Wells, New York, page 35, states the same great fact, and describes the method of preparation. There are few higher authorities than Dr. Pereira.

Dr. Comba, in his valuable writings on the "Physiology of Digestion," observers that "a dimination of the due quantity of the Gastric Juice is a prominent and all prevailing cause of Dysapesia," and he states that "a distinguished professor of medicine in London, who was severely afflicted with this complaint, finding everything close to fail, had recourse to the Gastric Juice, obtained from the stomach of living animals, which proved completely successful."

Dr. Gantas, anthor of the famous works on "Vegetable Diet," says: "It is a remarkable fact in physiology, that the stomachs of animals, macerated in water, impart to the fluid the property of dissolving various articles of food, and of effecting a kind of artherial digestion of them in no wise different from the natural digestion of them in no wise different from the natural digestion of them in no wise different from the natural digestion of them in no wise different from the natural digestion of them in no wise different from the natural digestion of them in no wise different from the natural digestion of them in no wise different from the natural digestion of them in no wise different from the constitution of the cons Silver Forks, Spoons, &c.

Philosophy of Brandreth's Vegetable Philosophy of Brandreth's Vegetable Wilsophy of Control of the history of the circulation of the blood was established, the secret springs of vitality were then partially exposed to view. We saw and anderstood that the food we cat, was converted into blood, which repaired the waste of the animal machine; the food is fact, which keeps at a life heat the internal fires that warm and invigorate our inner man. The blood is an electric fluid which carries this heat to every ramification of the body, even to the extremities of the histir and horny, pail. While the blood is thus the seat of life, it is also the sent of disease. Food gives the body strength; Brandreth's pills give blood the necessary power to throw out from itsolf all imputities, thus rendering the stream of life pure and healthy. If inen were more sincere, there would be fewer religious creeds and if they kepf close to nature's laws in the management of their biddies, they would require little medicine. As men grow intelliligent they will become wise and happier; even now, their wisdom is proved by the fact that, when sickness assails them, they use Brandreth's Vegetable Universal Pills, which soon restore them to health. They are peculiarly adapted to the climate, and require noextra care when they are used, in either diet or clothing. They should be always in the house, so that upon the first indication of sickness they may be used. Dr. Sinor's great work, the "Chemistry of Man," (Lea & Blanchard, Phila., 1516, pp 381-2) says: "The discovery of PEPSIN forms a new er ain the chemical history of Digestion. From recent experiments we know that food is dissolved as rapidly in an artificial digestive fluid, prepared from Pepsin, as it is in the natural Gastric Juice itself."

Professor Dunolison, of the Jefferson College, Philadelphia, in his great work on Human Physiology, devotes more than fifty pages to an examination of this subject. His experiments with Dr. Beaumont, on the Gastric Juice, obtained from the living human stomach and from animals, are well known.
