S. May we be crowned with glory when the world ELOPERENET.—The N. Y. Evening Post states that On Saturday afternoon a gertieman named William Bachelder, manufactures of bronze goods, in Broad-way, arrived in Boston, in pursuit of his wife and child, who had absconded with a fancy painter, nas-med Charles McGell. The missing two were found at a boarding house on Third street, Eeast Came bridge, and were taken into cubledy on a charge of bridge and were taken into cubledy on a charge of sparkles as freshly in his rays, as when thousands of worshippers thronged its lofty colonades. It may be that London will share the fite of Babys lon, and nothing be left to mark its site, save mounds of crumbling brick work. The Thames will continue to flow as it does now. And if any work of art should still rise, over the deep ocean of time, we may will believe thet it will be path
