From the above it will be seen that the HON. JEREMIAH S. BLACK, of Somerset; JAMES CAMPBELL, of Philadelphia; ELLIS LEWIS, of Lancaster; John B. Gibson, of Cumberland;

" WALTER H. LOWRIE, of Allegheny compose the Democratic Judicial State Ticket having been nominated on the first ballot. We unhesitatingly say that this is an admirable ticket, and is fully entitled to the confidence and support of every Democrat in Pennsylvania. Had we been asked to select a ticket from our personal choice. They are all gentlemen of high moral and intellectual worth; are "learned in the law." and have had great experience as

Of the election of the Judicial nominees by a triumphant majority, we do not entertain a single doubt: and when that event takes place. we can with truth say that Pennsylvania has the a number of five franc pieces from the company best Supreme Bench in the Union.

THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS. The harmony and unanimity that marked the proceedings of the Reading Convention, gave a pleasing assurance to every Democrat of the tion of that body would be met by the people at large. Every mail now brings to us fresh evidences of the perfect concurrence of the People in the action of the Convention; and, whether they were more partial to other candidates, o whether among the earliest supporters of Col. This harmonious action of the Democrats of Pennsylvania will insure their candidate a majority of from 15,000 to 20,000." Our neighbors at Uniontown through their vigilant and trusty Sentinel say that they have peculiar gratification in placing the names of the nominees at the head of their paper. Of Col.
Bigler they say—"He is the first man in the history of Pennsylvania politics who has won for himself, in the meridian of life, by an unblemished reputation, the nomination of Governor by an unanimous voice. With such a candidate, the Democracy must be triumphant." The Mercer county Democrat assures the Democracy of the State, that "Mercer county will cast a larger vote for Wm. A Great Magician. From a recent Paris letter to the Philadelphia Ledger, it would seem that the celebrated Britz has a rival in Europe. We do not think, however, that any student of "the black art" can succed Blitz in the number and novelty of his performances. Written for the Morning Post. GOD'S LAW OF UNIVERSAL ORDER, THE LAW OF THE SERIES.

THE METHOD OF TRUE ORGANIZATION. "Order is Heaven's first law," is an expression often used, yet in most cases, flippantly, SETH CLOVER, is borne along with it as one in lightly, and without the most remote consciousevery way worthy of the support of those who ness of the fathomless depth of meaning hidden appreciate honest worth, sound judgment, and under it. Yes! Order is Henven's first law, for unquestionable fitness for the station to which he | without it Heaven would not be Heaven; for not even Heaven's essence, which is Love, could subsist without an orderly arrangement of its infinite varieties of affection. But what kind of Order? for this, too, is va-

Such is too often the finishing touch giv- up by fear and restraint. Which of these is en by their wire-workers to the best pictures | Heaven's order? Evidently the former. Why? Because Heaven is in perfect agreement with God, who is in Himself Infinite Love and Wisdom, and who, therefore, acts from infinite Liberty with perfect order. Hence, Angels and good connected with the new law that is to go into op- men are free, because they obey the laws of Dition the fact that the present five and ten cent stamps will be useless in the pre-payment of vine order: bad men and devils are slaves, howpostage under it. > But now what is the method of this Divine order? How does it manifest itself? Does it lie any where exposed to human observation, one may ask. Strange question this, yet naturally prompted. Well, do not God's works surround us on every side-worlds, minerals, plants, animals, men themselves? And if God is Order itself, must He not have impressed the method of his own order upon all His works? He certainly could not do otherwise.

But let us stop here a moment to realise ourselves the great stride that must have been taken by the mind that could arrive at the mere conception of a great unitary law of order .-Was it not a grand idea, this thought, or hare suspicion, at first, that there might exist such a universal law governing all things, both visible Egypt; and who has studied more, and perhaps and invisible, animate and inanimate, things spiritual and things material-yonder grouping suns and planets into clusters of solar systems; here gathering the atoms of air, earth and wat- The same may be said of human cultery—the "last polnterest to us. Who has not wondered at the stolidity of the distilland excitator, who could stand discoveries. Who has not wondered at the stolidity of the civilized ancients, who could stamp their letter seals, yet never thought of Printing! From the birth of the human race, what a staring fact was it, that the heads of no two persons were alike in shape, yet how dumb it remained, until it flashed light into the mind of Gall, and forthwith Phrenology was born. Had no one seen a pot lid raise by steam before the Marques of Worcester? Yes, hundred, but the deep significance of the fact escaped them, if we except an unlucky wight of a Frenchman, who sometime earlier, it is said, was sent to a madhouse, where he died, for pestering the Parisians by their letter seals, yet never thought of Printing!

He procured cheap but good board and lodgings; spent none of his earnings in saloons or low places; attended church on the Sabbath; educated himself evenings; laid up money, and at the end of five years bought a lot in the city, and built a pretty cottage. In one year more he found a good wife, and used the cottage before rented out. For these six years he had steadily carried the hod. He was a noted worker, an acknowledged scholar, and a nohele pattern of a man. On the opening of the eighth year his talents and integrity were called to a more profitable account. A NEW AND BEAUTIFUL POEM.

WHY DO I LOVE HER SO.

The following is a poem of singular beauty. The very flow of the rythm answers Millon's description of music. The "Little Friend," whoever she may be, is to be envied her privilege of being a ministering angel to one of the best of hearts and most gifted of minds, and she will not lose her reward; for, as Miss Landon remarks, "A poet's love is immortality?" and a poem like this is of itself sufficient to insure it to the subject that inspired it.—Hame Journal.

A weary life is mise, at best—
Few pleasures mine that others share—
And oft by lonely thoughts opprest,
It seems that I might well despair;
But when my "Little Friend" I see,
A pleasant thing is life to me.
To know that she is at my side,
To hold her little hand in mine,
To watch her eyes that fondly shire,
Her cherrob face, that brightens up
With love's intelligence divine.
With this my soul is satisfied,
And drains a pare, refreshing cup
Of calm and quie; happiness:
In sweet content I then repose
From sorrow's plangs; and passion's throcs,
Without a wish, save not to siir
From one whose very look can bless!
Some wonder what I find in her
My heart so sitengly to impress—
A clever child, they must confess,
But nothing more, for all they see,
Than other, children of her age,
Who scarce one thought of mine engage.
Who scarce one thought of mine engage.
Whence cometh, then, the witchery
That sways me in her sweet control?
They know her not—and none of earth,
Save I, may ever know her worth;
For we have spoken soul to soul,
And mer in spiri face to face,
When all her mind's immorial grace,
Unove, truth and goodness, soone revealed
In beauty from the world canceled.
Twas tin an hour of biter pain,
When lie long agony of years
Was crowled lig a momen'd space—
When friends singmed false, and love was vain—
And the wring self-th and burning brain
Could only had relief in tears—
For I derparged of earthly good—
She came—I searce know whence or how—
A light and glory round her brow.
Sablimely beautiful she stood;
For all of earth had left her face,
And all of haven; I there might irace.
Her look santsfull my heart, and cheered;
Then did we soul with soul combine—
So, I am hers, and she is mine—
Forth in the world i see ber go,

A NEW INSTRUMENT OF DESTRUCTION .- A rifle the time of loading, was shown to us a day or or two since, as an important improvement in fire arms. Under the barrel in the place of the ordinary ramrod, is an iron tube containing the 25 balls, and by cocking thd gun a ball is brought up in the barrel and the same operation also brings up from the breech a "pill" of priming. The charge of powder is contained in the ball, which is not round, but oblong and having an pening which is corked, shut after the powder has been introduced. The quantity of powder is only 28 grains, and drives the ball with greater force than the large charge in an ordinary gun. This is a new invention, and the manu-facturing is now beginning at Williamsburg, and we learn that a large order has been received at the foundery of Gardner, Harrison & Co., of this city, for casting breeches, &c., for it. The day of its exhibition to ourselves, the owner and part nventor had been down on the mendows with ten men having ordinary muskets. a barren soil, as that strong and healthy children, should be born of parents whose constitutions have been worn out with intemperance and disease. A sickly frame may be originally induced by hardships, accidents, or intemperance, but chiefly by the latter. It is impossible that a course of vice or imprudence should not spoil the best constitution; and did the evil terminate here; it would be a just punishment for the folly of the transgressor. But not so. For when once a disease is contracted, and through neglect in applying the proper means it becomes a just punishment for the folly of the transgressor. But not so. For when once a disease is contracted, and through neglect in applying the proper means it becomes rivited in the habit, it is then entailed upon posterity. Female constitutions are as capable of improvement as family estates—and ye with would wish to improve, not only your own health, but that of your own offspring, by eradicating the many distressing diseases that are entailed through neglect or improdence, loss no time in purifying the blood and cleansing the system. Married persons, and those about to be married, should not fall to purify their blood, for how many discuses are transmitted to posterity. How often do we see Scalds, Serofula and a thousand other afflictions, transmitted to the rising generation, that might have been prevented by this time-ly precaution? To accomplish which, there is nothing before the public, or the whole world, so effectical as Dr. BULL'S LATEST IMPROVED FLUID EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA, combining Yellow Dock and Burdock, with the pure and genuine Honduras Sarsaparilla. For general debility during this warm weather, it nots like a charm, restoring elasticity of imuscle and vigor, with sprighiness of intellect.
