THE SHADOW-LIFE. We have forgot what we have been, And what we are we little know; We fancy how events begin, But all has happened long ago.

Through many a verse life's poem flows, But still, though seldom marked by mer At times returns the constant close, Still the old chorus comes again.

The childish grief—the boyish fear— The hope in manhood's breast that burns; The doubl—the transport and the tear— Each mood, each impulse oft returns.

Before mine infant eyes had hailed The new born glory of the day, When the first wondrous morn unveiled The breathing world that round me lay;

The same strange darkness o'er my brain Folded its close, mysterions wings, The ignorance of joy or pain, That each recurring midnight brings.

Foll off my feelings make me start, Like foot-privits on some desert shore, As if the chambers of my heart Had heard their shadowy steps before.

THE JEWELED WATCH. Among the many officers who, at the close the Peninsular war, retired on half-pay, was Capt. Dutton of th regiment. He had lately Capit, Duton of a regiment for an law y married the pretty, portionless daughter of a deceased brother officer; and filled with roman-tic visions of rural bliss and "love in a cottage," the pair, who were equally unskilled in the prac-tical details of housekeeping, fancied they could live in affluence, and enjoy all the luxuries of life, on the half-pay which formed their sole in-

They took up their abode near a pleasant town in the south of England, and for a time got on pretty well; but when, at the end of the first year a sweet little boy made his appearance; and the end of the second an equally sweet little girl; they found that nursemaids, baby-linen, doctors, and all the excerns a ppertaining to the introduction and support of these baby-visi-ters, formed a serious item in their yearly ex-

Harper, Charles Kent, John Coyle, D Lynck, into debt; but at length their giddy feet slipped into that vortex which has engulfed so many and their affairs began to assume a very gloor aspect. About this time, an adventurer named Smith, with whom Capt. Dutton became casual-ly acquainted, and whose plausible manners and appearance completely imposed on the frank, un-suspecting soldier, proposed to him a plan for insuring, as he represented, a large and rapid fortune. This was to be effected by embarking considerable capital in the manufacture of some new kind of spirit-lamps, which Smith assured the captain would, when once known, supersede the use of candles and oil-lamps throughout the To hear him descant on the marvelous virtue. What is American Democracy,-the Democracy

> A QUEER SUIT .- The Waukesha Démocrat gives the particulars of a suit brought by a physician of that place against two persons, who took possession of a human body under the pro-cess of anatomical preparation. An inquest was held, and the remains were committed to the grave. The plaintiff brought an action against the inquest for damages; and in the prosecution of the suit, there appearing no evidence that the plaintiff was unlawfully possessed of the subject, that the defendants acted under due authority, and the Court deciding that a human skeleton prepared for anatomical purposes, possessed value, and should be regarded as property, the jury, upon the evidence before them, returned a verdict of fifty dollars damages for the plaintiff. From the evidence offered, it appears that a body is worth $10, and a perfect skeleton $50.

THE CROPS.

Within the last few days we have passed through the best grain growing regions of Allegheny county, and are gratified in being able to state that the prospects of the farmer are truly encouraging. The crops of wheat, rye, barev and cats, look very well, and show every indication of an abundant harvest. The corn also looks healthy, and, bids fair to yield a handsome return for the labor of the husbandman.

In Westmoreland county the prospects are equally flattering. The Republic of Friday says: THE CROPS .- During the last week or two we have had ample opportunities of seeing the grain crops, in Westmorland county, and from present ppearances we will have a very large one-the rospects were never more flattering. There is a very large amount of grain out this year-and as a matter of course the yield will be something

INTOLERABLE OPPRESSION .--- A number of girls vorking in the factories at Lowell, were induced under promises of high wages and excellent treat-ment, togo to Columbus, Georgia, to work in a cot-ton mill. They have written home complaining with more than feminine volubility of the numberless disappointments and oppressions to which they have been subjected. Their wages are not so high, their fare is not so good as they had been led to expect, and the price of board is men. We merely mention this matter so as to set the Herald right. -and, last and worst, there is not a looking glass in the whole factory! What Yankee girl would stand all these wrongs, and not have the consolation of looking at her own pretty face in the mirror! A rebellion was the consequence, and it soon led to an improvement in the condition of things, and the girls agreed to stav till October. If the gallant Georgians have half as much sense as we give them credit for, they will offer the fair Yankees better inducements than factory wa-ges to remain in their Southern houses.—Provience Journal.
