JUSTICE IS IMMUTABLE. Although this is a truism, yet how widely different are the conclusions of men respecting the principle of Justice itself; and what a great change is wrought by time in relation to its administration. But the change in the minds of men is not greater in this respect, perhaps, than in many others. We find, for instance, that, very frequently most intolerant and bigoted, too.) who were once among the most violent opponents Crowds were gathered around the depot in Alleghtny and on Seminary Hill, when the cars started, and there was every manifestation of joy that could be expected on such an occasion. At different stopping points along the road, vast numbers of people were collected, and there was considerable cheering by the gents, and waving among reformers, those are most zealous, (and of 'kerchiefs by the ladies. Discovery in Egypt. Discovery in Egypt. A most interesting discovery has been made in Egypt. It is known that there exists in Mt. Zabarah, situated on an island in the Red Sea, a mine of emeralds, which was formerly worked by the pachas of Egypt, but abandoned in the last days of Mehemet Ali. An English compa-ny have solicited and recently obtained authori-ty to resume the working of this mine, which is believed to be still rich with precious stones. Mr. Allan, the engineer of the company, while direc-Allan, the engineer of the company, while direc ting some important excavations in this place, has discovered at a great depth traces of an an-cient gallery, which must evidently, be referred to the most somethic to the most remote antiquity. Upon removin the rubbish, they found tools and ancient uten sils, and a stone upon which is engraved a hiero-glyphic inscription now partially defaced. This circumstance proves the truth of the opinion expressed by Bezoni, on the strength of other in dications, that this mine was worked in ancien

The nature and form of the implements discovered, and the configuration of the gallery, the plan of which has been readily traced, proved most conclusively that the ancient Egyptians were skilful engineers. It seems from examination of the stone which has been discovered, that the first labors in the mine of Zabarah were commenced in the reign of Sesos-tris the Great; or Ramses Sesostris, who, accord ing to the most generally received opinion, lived about the year 1650 before Christ, and who is celebrated by his immense conquest, as well as by the innumerable monuments with which he
