The writer is one of the leading men in this community, and we have every reason to believe, that his commun cation was written in good faith. The communication of "Old Evekiel" is very good, but the writer neglected to give us his name. We require this in all cases. GOOD-VERY GOOD! Whilst the speechifying was going on in the Merrick House, at New Brighton, on Wednesday, our very particular friend BIGHAN-the handsome, accomplished witty, intellectual THOMAS JEFFERSON BIGHAM-"Free Ticket Bigham," we mean-was there in all his glory, bowing and ogling at the ladies, and looking more fascinating than usual. Presently a couple of "countrymen," all unused to the rules of city life, and ignorant of the blandishments employed by such Chesterfields as the "Free Ticket" gentleman, unthinkingly walked into the presence of the "Bloomers" with huge "long nines" in their mouths, puffing away like young porpoises! This was more than BIGHAM could stand, and like a true knight, he screamed out in his unequalled masal tones, "Gentlemen, no smoking here, if you please don't you see the ladies?" Thereupon one of the fair ones (sotto voce) replied, "Smoke on, gentlemen;—the exhaustion of cigars is like the breath of Araby compared with Dimes, Half Dimes, "Smoke on, gentlemen;—the exhalation of your The Democratic Sentinel, at Uniontowr., gives many particulars of the storm of the 26th in Fayette county. It is impossible without being an eye wi chess to imagine the destruction of property or the injury sustained by the Not the least remarkable fact connected with the progress of the storm, the editor did not hear of a single loss of human life. We would remark in connection with these facts, that on our trip to Brighton the other day we saw many mournful evidences of devastation. Fields of corn literally ruined-being either totally prostrated or torn into chreds by the liail; mmense trees uprooted; orchards destroyed; and many other similar disasters. Agriculture in France. A letter writer for the Republic says: "A trip of six hundred and fifty miles, from he northern to the southern extremity of France, ustifies me in the expression of my opinion that God's sun does not shed its rays on so fair a land, or one so thoroughly cultivated. The whole country is literally a garden. Every square foot, from the mountain-top down to the lowest ravine, is made to produce something, if it be susceptible of it. Their mode of planting or sowing their crops, whether on plain or hill-side, produces the tinest effect on the appearance of the landscape; the space alloted for each crop is laid out in squares or parallelograms with mathematical precision, and, whether large or small, the best garden could not be divided with greater accuwhose proprietor would not rather have the Cholern of Yellew Fever break out among his guests than to have BENNETT! book his name for the ncy. I am sorry to add, in this connexion, that seven-eights of the agricultural labor is performed by females, while ject in carnest. "There are," she writes, "a few self-evident propositions, and it would be questioning the common sense of mankind to doubt the general belief on these points. One two or three hundred thousand stalwart men in miform are idling away their time in the bar-nocks of the cities and villages. In the absence of fences, cattle, secured by ropes, are driven to their pasturage by females; sheep are confined within the required limits by boys, assisted by a best means of preserving the health of their children; and a third point is, that female physhepherd's dog. THE LAW OF PROGRESS .- The eternal law which controls the destinies of the human race for evermore—the law of progress—still maintains its power amongst mankind; and the enlightened eye of the philosophic observer can read the developments of this grand law even of the American people," She notices particularly the movement in Boston, quotes from the Legislative Report in favor of the Institution n the convulsions of society, and the revolutions of empires. But, just as a man, standing on the sea-shore, observes after a time, that the tide is advancing, even although given wave may fall short of overtaking the Prince Albert appears to be a very accomplished man, and probably has not acquired his great popularity without strong and meritorious qualities. On many occasions, we have noticed in his sentiments and conduct more than wave immediately preceding it—so an observer of the progress of human society becomes con cious of a perpetual though slow advancement in it, even though a given age may appear to fall behind its predecessor in science, and lite usual comprehensiveness and wisdom. Life cherished from the world apart,

But broods and nestles in the heart. That name of melody recalls

Mer gentte look and winning ways
Whose portrait hangs on Memory's wall
In the fond light of other days.
In the dream-land of Poetry,
Reclining in its leafy bowers,
Her bright eyes in the stars I see,
And her sweet semblance in the flower Her artless dallinner and grace—
The joy that lighted up her brow—
The sweet expression of her face—
Her form—it stands before me now!
And I can fancy that I hear
The woodland songs she used to sing,
Which stole to my attending ear,
Like the first harbingers of spring.

The beauty of the earth was hers,
And hers the purity of heaven;
Alone, of all her worshippers.

Once kindied, it will ne'er depart.
But burn through life with all its fires. We parted—doomed no more to meet—

And years have passed in seeming glee,
But still alone of her 1964 hought (2007).

Manchester Hineral Paint.
NEW MINE OF MINERAL PAINT has rebeen discovered in the hill behind Manchest lors, surpasses any which has yet been found. An establishment has been erricted for its preparation by which our market is now supplied at a liberal price.

This article is almost entirely composed of the red and black oxid of iron and alumina, which unite chemisalty, with oil or varnish, by which, when it becomes dry, a hard, solid, incombusible substance, impervious to water, is produced. A coating of this on anything soon becomes dry, and forms a solid crust upon it which cannot be removed, and which, effectually protects it from the influence of the air, heat and mossure. It is, therefore, a fire-proof and water-proof agent.

By mixing these colors a greater variety of them may be produced, all of which are permanent. In this ways a beautiful stone color may be produced. The variety of its colors make this paint of great walte.
