NUMBER VII. We will now try to ascertain the point to which this brief survey of nature's operations tends to carry us. The candid reader, we think, will be borne irresistibly to the conclusion that as it has been seen.

First. That the works of Nature in all her de partments, viz: the planetary, mineral, vegetable and animal kingdoms, are arranged into groups and series; and as,
Secondly, All the sciences which investigate and study these kingdoms, are also themselves of necessity grouped and divided and subdivided in a perfectly analogous and parallel manner.

and as Thirdly, The faculties of the human mind it self mount up and multiply from the primitive trunk of its life, obedient to the same great law of order-and,

Finally, as all human labors and occupations have, and can have for their only subjects of action these same orderly grouped and connected kingdoms and sub-kingdoms of nature, and therefore, are, as we have seen, arranged per force into series and groups likewise, as the sciences are that treat of them, and the natural kingdoms, through this orderly grouping of laby reason that the laborers are so scattered and distonnected in the present orderless modes of in_ the meeting. dustry, therefore, from all this, we conclude: (who can help it?) that the laborers themselves must be brought, in an enlightened and intelli-gent manner, under the operation of the great Serial Law. That is, the Serial Law must be allowed to bring to each work its proper and self-appointed worker. Thus it will form groups of workers at a common branch of labor—then series of such groups-all naturally thus united by the nature of their work—(consisting of operations closely connected,)—united in their inte-

member working at a chosen work freely, and ot from compulsion or necessity. Human work and human workers must be organized by the Serial Law through man's agen-cy, just as God has organized his own work by of 4 and 7 o'clock. it. The suffering in the busy workshops of Christendom is the natural result of the disregard and violation of this law; and as one of its peculiar features is, that it produces a greater degree of beauty, harmony, and happiness in proportion to the number of parts, or elements, or human beings which collectively obey it (just as the music of 6 octaves is much better than that of one-or the harmony of an orchestra grander than that of a single instrument) therefore the more urgent the work—and the busier and more crowded the workers, the more painful and stringent will be the inverse operation of this law, until it will, if not otherwise heeded, force men, through very agony, to drop their tools, and implore Heaven's mercy on their When they look thus upward and to God, they will see this law. IF Hints to Parents. - One great source of disease in children is the unhealthiness of parents! It would be just as reasonable to expect a rich crop from a barren soil, as that strong and healthy children should be born of parents whose constitutions have been worn be born of parents whose constitutions have been worn out with intemperance and disease. A sickly frame nity be originally induced by hardships, accidents, or intemperance, but chiefly by the latter. It is impossible that a course of vice or imprudence should not spoil the best constitution; and did the evil terminate here, it would be a just punishment for the folly of the transgressor: But not so For when once a disease is contracted, and through neglect in applying the proper means it becomes rivited in the habit, it is then entailed upon posterity.—Female constitutions are as capable of improvement as family estates—and ve who would wish to improve her ed through neglect or imprudence, lose, no time in purifying the blood and cleansing the system. Married persons, and those about to be married, should not fail to purify their blood, for how many diseases, are transmitted to posterity. How often do we see Scalds. Scirothla and a thousand other afflictions, transmitted to the rising generation, that might have been prevented by this timely precaution?—To accomplish which, there is nothing before the public, or the whole world, so effectual as Dr. BULL'S LATEST IMPROVED FLUIL EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA, combining vellow book and Burdock; with the pure and genuine Honduras Sarsaparilla. For general debility during this warm weather, it acts like a charm, restoring clasticity of nuscle and vigor, with sprightliness of intellect.

The professional merits of JAMES S. CRAFT, Eng. have pointed out such general attention to his name as the candidate most certain to be successful in the election to the Presidency of the Common Pleas—that it has been hitherto deemed unnecessary to present his name through the Press for nomination by the Democratic Convention. As a practical man of business he has no superior in the State, as may be known by his measures in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, in the disastrous winters of 1829, 30 and 31. His experience as a mercanite and manufacturing lawyer, insurance agent, and auditor and muster in clausery, and familiar acquaintance write legal practice and a evolution to study, and auditor and master in chancery, and familiar acquaintance with legal practice and evention to study, gave him in 1846 the almost unanimous recommendation of the Pattsburgh Bar for the Supreme Court, and eminently qualify him for the office in question, which require his peculiar working abilities to dil.
