The town of Saut Ste. Marie has improved very much within a few years, and must gray commanding importance as the emporium of the Northwest. Government has too long neglected the construction of a Ship Canal a this point, by which vessels and steamers from lower Lakes could enter with their cargoes upon the great inland sea, without the slow, and expensive process of a land journey over the Portage; for it should be remembered that every ship-keel upon Superior has been thus transported by private energy and enter-prise. A Railroad across, also the result of pri-rate enterprise under the direction of S. Mo-KNIGHT, Esq., has done much to facilitate the Rooms of the Board of Trade, corner of Wood transhipment of merchandize, machinery, &c., and Third streets.

The best interests of the Republic, with its extended frontier of the Northwest, as well as equal in distance to half the width of the Atlantic, demand a free Ship Canal of the General Government without delay.

The quantity is inexhaustible, and ere long Lake Superior iron will be common and stand number one in the Copper Harbor is again looking up, the mines

The Cliff Mine is justly the marvel of the world. It is now worked at the depth of 357 feet, and the deeper the shaft is sunk the richer the vein. Immense masses of weigh from four to five thousand pounds. Large it is not improbable but in time the work will be extended under the bed of the Lake as the mines of Cornwall are beneath the Ocean. The bids fair to be equally as productive to its enter-prising owners. The country in the vicinity of these mines is quite favorable for farming

The river has some six feet of water on the bar and a good harbor can be made by running out piers. Inside the river is broad and deep for ome twelve miles to the rapids. An appropriation should be made by the next Congress. It is the important point on the Lake, and will be the commercial port of a large mining and farming section of the Upper Peninsula. The Copper Mines cach side of the Ontongon are already numerous, and a year hence will see some forty or more opened or commenced. The mines now worked are yielding beyond anticipation, and there is scarce a doubt, but the Ontona con minerals on the American shore.

The valley of the river and country adjacent to the mines is favorable for farming, the soi rich and well timbered, and the climate milder than at any other point on Lake Superior. Potatoes, and vegetables generally yield largely. Oats and grass do well, and corn and spring and winter wheat so far as tested. The mines will fail to grow rich there. The snow falls before the ground freezes, lies steadily during the winter to the depth of two feet or over, and the mo ment it melts in the spring vegetation starts to life vigorously. The Hon. TRUMAN SMITH, who has spent sometime in exploring the Lake Superior country this season, pronounces much of i decidedly better for agricultural purposes than large portions of New England, including the northern part of Connecticut. The Ontonagon will be a central point of emigration for years to come, and the village at the mouth is now rapidly improving.

Lapointe is one of the ancient trading posts of feat. the Northwest, and is beautifully located near the head of the lake. The scenery and water views are unsurpassed. A Ride on the Locomotive,

BY J. W. GRAY, EPITOR OF THE CLEVELAND PLAINDEALE Reader, was you ever there? If not, it will do you good to try it from one station to another. That will be long enough if you are not in apprentice of old Vulcan, and used to casting thunder bolts for Jupiter. In our late trip to Columbus, we had the curiosity to try Brows-ter's accommodations, the famous Engineer bn one of the Express Trains, and mounted his minutes, or so long as you could sit on the fire-man's seat, but when you found yourself of the saddle, and over the other side of the furnance, sading and over the other side of the furnance, holding on to one of the stanchions with a desperate, but doubtful grasp, it was not so interesting. The Locomotive went like mad and when it seemed to us that it was running away, and would soon tear itself to pieces, and make and would soon tear, its pieces, and make jerked meat of the whole of us, we looked around and saw the fireman quietly poking wood into its blazing jaws, like turning liquor into a mad man's mouth. We cast our eyes, towards Brewster, to see if he noticed the fireman, and found him smoking the stub end of a cigar, with a grin in the other corner of his mouth ir, tended for us. We happened to be standing hich was nailed to the side of the fire-deck, and dissovered a counte-nance somewhat familiar to us but not exactly ourself, as it was several shades whiter than we der the new law there is so material a change usually lay claims to. We were not scared, made, that we think hit letters, as an act o of course not,—but the first thing we did when simple justice to our correspondents, should be the Locomotive stopped, was to get off. We had been miles in about twe we minutes. Not prepaid. Under the old law, you were required fast at all—this Brewster assured us all the to pay no more, if a letter came to you unpaid

On arriving at Columbus, we learned that the Locomotive "Springfield," on the accommodation train, had that morning run nine miles in ten home and that was the Locomofive we were dotermined to try if the boys, would let, us. THE NEXT ELECTION

In the first place, we are to look at the next election in relation to the effect that is to be produced by it upon the affairs of our Union. We Democratic State officers; but supposing any other contingency possible, we should regard the event as one fraught with the highest danger to the Union. This we should look upon as inevitable; because of the direct and positive sanction that would thus be given to all the vile mines are three miles and a half back from the disgraced the country for several years past. We believe there is too much from the Cliff, is yielding richly in copper, and sound, sterling patriotism and good sense yet left in the State, to permit such a result. But notwithstanding this -as we know he has been

THE BALTIMORE PLATFORM. We give to our readers, to-day, the celebr solutions adopted by our political friends in the General Convention at Baltimore, in 1844. They have all, no doubt, read them before; ut such wholesome political doctrines as are there given cannot be too frequently made the subject of contemplation; and in a time like the resent, they may be profitably referred to as positive contradistinction to the avowals of entiment made by our opponents. Had the spirit of these resolutions prevailed in 1848, a deathblow would have at once been given to those vile heresies that have since wrought so much mischief; and every thing that could be the government would be in the full process of

Resolved, That we can see no compari to the advantages of the road itself, and to the interests of Pittsburgh, between the benefits to be produced by opening a new channel through the heart of one of the richest agricultural and mineral regions of the West, now almost shut out from a market; and those which would result from laying a railroad track on the margin of the Ohio river to compete with its trade, to divide what already exists there, and which, moreover, could only enjoy a share of the local trade on one side of the river. The latter track as compared with the former road would be comparatively of infinitely less importance, in all respects.

Resolved, That this part of Washington coun-, which is within thirty miles of Pittsburgh is practically more remote and inaccessibly, than if located on a railroad line, at the distance of one hundred and fifty miles from that city. Resolved, That the wealth of this section of the rich county of Washington is ample for the construction of so much of the Pittsburgh and Steubenville Road as may be considered its proper share of the work, and that this meetin pledges its best efforts to make it available for this purpose.

Resolved, That as farmers we put our hands to the plough and will not look back, but will move steadily on until we make this straight furrow across this neck of land: and "we don' ve in going all round a farm to get at the

Hints to Parents. -- One great source of disease in children is the uniscalthiness of parents! It would be just as reasonable to expect a rich crop from a barron soil, as that strong and healthy children should ed through neglect or imprudence, lose no time in puri-tying the blood and cleanising the system. Married per-sons, and those about to be married; should not fail to purify their blood, for how many diseases are transmit-ted to posterity. How often do we see Sealds. Scrofula and a thousand other afflictions, transmitted to the rising generation; that might have been prevented by this time-ly precaution? To necomplish which, there is nothing before the public, or the whole world, so effectual as Dr. BULL'S. LATEST IMPROVED PLUID. EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA, combining Vellow.
