"ABOMINABLE DOCTRISE" Under this head the Gazette copies a para graph from this paper of Wednesday last, in relation to Cuban affairs; and declares, "We know not that we ever met with sentiments so utterly subversive of all law, order, government, and, in short; every thing that conduces to the peace and well being of society, as the above." And this wonderful flourish is made by one who is we believe, a member of a band organized for the purpose of trying to break up a company, torized to sot in accordance with the provisions of a charter granted to them by the State of Pennsylvania, and who have never yet violated their charter, but who are obnoxious to certain individuals, because they demand from all a very small sum for the use of property that could scarcely be dispensed with, and to which this company have the exclusive right. Indeed We have excellent information of the fact, that this same hypocritical ranter about "law, order," government," expressed himself lately, on the subject of the property belonging to several corporations of the kind alluded to, in such a manner as only the most reckless contemner of all

"law, order, government" would do. And what is it, on our part, that has called forth such a strain of patriotic indignation, such an avowal of love for "law, order, government?" It is simply this: We have virtually declared our belief that a citizen of the United States has a perfect right to go where he pleases, without being in the least interfered with by the governthe country requires of it, when it seeks to pre- ky City. vent "organizations" openly attempted within its jurisdiction, with a view to infringe upon the treaties and laws of the country, without going. out of its way to search for possible, or even probable, cases of the character described. The public sentiment of our country regards the right of each citizen to go where he pleases as perfect; and if one citizen possesses this right, then the same right is perfect in ten, or twenty, ten hundred or ten thousand. Our citizens have no right to organize with a view to the accomplishment of an object forbidden by the laws; but, at the same time the government has no more right to suppose that an organization has taken place, in the absence of positive evidence, in the case of a thousand men being found together, than it has citizens of the United States, who claim to be more free than was ever the boastful Roman of old,—upon a footing no more elevated than the

that such sentiments as we have expressed should e considered "Abominable Doctrine," by the hose who think with it. Indeed, we can truly throughout the Unio ay that we have no wish that it should be so.-As soon would we expect the hardened and infamous contemner of all virtue to admit the truths of the Bible-or the learned and profound phiosopher, the part of a buffoon, as to think that ingrained Federalism, like that of the Gazette to play should see any approximation to truth in the arguments of a Democrat, or find any thing to approve in his political acts. Such an anticipation would be grounded in folly most consummate or in ignorance most profound. INCREASED TAXATION.

It is well known that Gov. JOHNSTON has delared, on several occasions, that the taxes have een diminished during his administration. It is also well known that he had recommended an increase of taxation, and that, so far as some of the counties are concerned, they have paid more n the last two years than they have ever paid before. The editor of the Harrisburg Investigator has given much attention to this subject; and has furnished a detailed statement, giving the amount of taxes paid during 1846-7,-being two years of Gov. SHUNE's administration,and 1849-50, two years of the administration of Gov. Johnston;-1848 being divided between distressing the good people of that section of the the two administrations. From this statement state: it appears that the increased taxation of this former, was $50,620 52; and the entire increase of taxation for the State amounts to the very and forty-seven cents.

On the one hand we have the report of the Auditor of the State, on the other, a rather unscrupulous partizan candidate for the office of Governor, who has been for many weeks electioneering throughout the State at the expense of the Peole: or, as the Investigator well expresses it! On the one hand you have the assertion of Gov. ohnston, made when flushed with excitement. to an assemblage of his political friends, the very hour in which they resolved again to rally under his banner to overthrow the Democracy of Pennsylvania. On the other hand you have the official report of a sworn officer of the government, whose duty it is to receive and record the eturns of taxes assessed in each county, and who has given in the report from which we quote, dititaxation of the Commonwealth has been increased upon the farmers, and others in Penn-of one million of dollars for the single article of In this calculation we have not included the amount shipped from Newton Falls, in this county, which is very large. Add to this the amount of other products raised, and the wealth invested in cattle, and it may well be doubted whether any other territory of like extent in the State will exceed this in the value of its products and the wealth of its farmers. Indeed an air of thrift is observable everywhere in this region of

WHY DO ILOVE HER SO ?"

BY JAMES NACE. A weary life is mine, at best
Few plenstres mine that others shat
And oft, by fonely thoughts oppressi
It seems that I might wail despair
But witen my 'Liftle Friend' I see;
A plens and thing is life to me.
To watch her eyes that foully shine.
Her should left little hand in mine,
To watch her eyes that foully shine.
Her should left little hand in mine,
With love's infolligence divine—
With his my soul is satisfied,
And drains a pure refreshing cup
Of calm and quiet happiness:
In sweet content I then repose
From sorrow's pangs and passion's thro

om sorrow's pangs and passion's throes ithout a wise, save not to stir: Some wonder what I find in lier My heart so strangely to impress—
A clever child, they must confess,
But nothing more, for all they see,
Them other children of her age,
Who scarce one thought of mittee engage

Whence cometh, then, the witchery That sways me in her sweet control? They know her not—and none of Farth, Save I, may never know het worth; For we have snoken sout to soul. For we have spoken soul to soul, and met in spirit face to face, When all her mind's immorial grace, Love, truth and goodness shone revealed in beauty from the world concealed.

Twas in an hour of bitter pain,
When the long agony of years
Was crowded in a moment's space—
When friends seemed false, and loye as vain
And the wrung heart and burging brain,
Could only find relief in tens—
For I despaired of earthly good—
She came—I scarce knew whence or how—
A light and glory round her brow!
Sublimely heautiful she stood;
For all of earth had left her face,
And all of Heaven I there might trace.

Her look sustained my heart, and cheered,
Her words my wounded spleit healed.
The child, the mortal, disappeared,
And God's own angel stood revealed!
Then did we soul with soal combine—
So, I am hers, and she is mine—
Forever hers! forever mine!!!
Forth in the world I see her go,
A common child to common ever—

A common child to common eyes.

Dr. J.S. Houghton's Pepsin. for Dyspensio.

Prepared from Remiel. or the Stomach of the Oz.

17 On the 7th of May, 1851. Rev. M. D. Williams,
Pastor of the Fourth Picebyterian Church, in Louisville, Kentucky, was and had been for a long time confined to his room, and most of the time to his bed, with Dyspepsia and Chronic Diarrhoss, and was, to all appearance, on the very verge of the grave, and acknowledged to be so by his physician, who had tried all the ordinary means in his power, without effect, and at the above named time, the patient, with the consent of his physician, commenced the use of Dr. Houghten's "PEPSIN." and to the astonishment, surprise, and delight of all, he was much relieved the first day. The third day he left his room. The sixth day, which was excessively hot, he went on a visit to the country; and, on the thirteenth day, though not chirely restored to his natural strength;
he was so far recovered as to go alone a journey of five hundled miles, where he arrived in kafety, much improved in health, having had no daturban ce of the somach or bowels, after taking the first dates of Pepsin. These facts are not controvertible, and that this is a case which ought to convince all ekeptics that there is a power in
