I was led to believe that they were accustomed to regard the notes of specie paying banks as equivalent to the precious metals; and yet I am asked whether I paid the interest in gold and silver. To this I answer, as in my former let-ter, that I paid it in the notes of specie paying banks, and a small proportion in that currency which Gov. Johnston saddled on the Common In answer to another inquiry, I state with great pleasure, that in 1849 the Common-wealth had so far got rid of the relief notes, and the revenue under the act of the 29th April 1844, was so effective (for no new revenues had been created) that the interest was paid in the been created) that the interest was paid in the notes of specie paying banks, without being obliged to resort to the ragged relief notes.— This happy event occurred during the time that Mr. Ball was State Treasurer, and I was glad to
