Dr. Simon's great work, the "Chemistry of Man," (Lew & Blanchard, Philia., 1816, pp. 321-2) says: "The discovery of PEPSIN forms a new era in the chemical history of Rigestions. From recent experiments we know that four is dissolved, as repidly in an artificial digestive fluid, prepared from Pepsin, as it is in the natural Gastric Juice itself."

Professor Dynalison, of the Jefferson College. Philadelphia, in his great work on Human Physiology, devotes more than 1817 pages to an examination of this subject. His experiments with Dr. Benumont, on the Gastric Juice, obtained from the living humant stomach and from animals, are well known. SCIENTIFIC EVIDENCE!

Baron Luene, in the elebrated work on Animal Chem istry, says: "An artificial Digestive Fluid, analogous to the Gastric Juice, may be readily prepared from the miscous membrane of the stomach of the calf, in which various articles of food, as miral and eggs, will be so softened, changed and digested, just in the same manner as they would be in the human stomach of the same manner as they would be in the human stomach.

Dr. Perrita, in his famous treatise on "Pood and Diet," published by Fowlers & Wells, New York, page 35, states the same great fact, and describes the method of preparation. There are, few higher authorities than Dr. Pereira.

Dr. Combe, in his valuable writings on the "Physiology of Digestion," observes that "a diminution of the duquantity of the Gastric Juice is a prominent and all-prevailing causes of Dyspepsia," and he states that "a distinguisted piricessor of medicine in London, who was severly afflicted with this complaint, fading everything else to fail, had recourse to the Gastric Juice, obtained from the stomach of living animals, which proved completely successful."

Br. Gaanka, anathor of the famous works on "Vegetable Diet," says: "It is a remarkable fact in physiology that the stomach of nimals, macerated in water, mart to the fluid the property of dissolving various articles of food, and of effecting a kind of artificial digestion of them in no wise different from the natural digestive of the "Chemistry of Man," (Les Many years experience, and great success in the business, together with an unprecedented wholesale and result patronage, has enabled him to get up Garmenis to the Dusiness habits and tastes, of every location the Union, which is of the nimes importance to wholesale and the business habits and tastes, of every location the unions importance to wholesale nuchassers. he Union, which is of the utmost importance to wholo-isle purchasers.
