FRIDAY MOBNING River Intelligence, &c.

By Navigation hence to Cairo, there are fall six feet on the principal bars. The Missouri is low and difficult of navigation, with about 33 feet from Weston down: The upper Mississippi affords 33 feet on the lower rapids, and the Illi-nois is low and falling. St. Louis Union, 11th. DEATH BY EXPOSURE. -- Coroner Arthurs was called on yesterday to hold an inquest on the body of Ann Pexuignot, a native of France, who died in one of the wagons of the Pennsylvania Central Bailroad Company, near Perchment's tavern; at Turtle Creek. . From the evidence it appears that the deceased, who was a married woman, although she suffered from sea sickness in crossing the ocean. was in good health when her husband, in company with a large number of German and French emigrants, engaged passage from New York to Cincinnati at the office of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in New York, who engaged to put them through to Cincinnati in five or six leghenies on the Railroad, where they were put on a section canal boat, at a time when the canal transportation companies refused to receipt for goods. They were frozen in above Lockport, and remained for many hours in the boat, without fire, and without sufficient room to admit of their sitting comfortably. When the boat was frozen in, the passengers took their baggage to the top of a hill in the vicinity near the railroad, there being at the time three inches snow upon the ground, and in the midst of a snow storm. There they remained for nearly twenty-four hours exposed to the inclemency of the weather, and it was only one hour before they were taken to the station of the railroad, that a fire was kindled for them by the hands of the canal boat. The cars were comfortably warmed, and they were in a short time convey ed to the station house, where they were put in a large room, heated by only one stove .---

All complained of the cold in this room, notwithstanding, as it appeared from the evidence, a good fire was maintained-the number of the emigrants being so great, that the most of them could not get near it. The next day, the deceased, in company with a portion of emigrants, was placed in a five horse wagon, and driven towards Pittsburgh. When the wagon arrived at the foot of the hill near Turtle Creek, Mrs. Pexuignot ernired

Doctor McCracken made a post mortem examination of her remains, and testified that although she was laboring under a disease of the lungs, which would ultimately have proven fatal, as well as a dropsical affection; her death was immediately caused by the exposure to the weather,
