PITTSBURGH:

THURSDAY MORNING.....JANUARY 16.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES:

JAMES BUCHANAN,

OF PENNSYLVANIA;

Subject to decision of the Democratic General Convention.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT:

WILLIAM R. KING,

OF ALABAMA;

Subject to the same decision.

☞ We received yesterday New York papers of Monday morning, Jan. 5th—only nine days old! This is the kind of reform introduced by whiggery.

☞ We are indebted to the Hon. JOSEPH LANE of Oregon, for a copy of his speech in reference to the settlement, soil and climate of Oregon Territory.

Kossuth Meeting in Cleveland.

By a private despatch from Cleveland, Ohio, we learn that there was a glorious Kossuth meeting held in that city on Tuesday night. The utmost enthusiasm prevailed. A committee was appointed to meet the illustrious Magyar in Pittsburgh, and invite him to visit the Queen City of the Lakes.

THE MAYOR'S ELECTION

Is over, and JOHN B. GUTHRIE is again elected. Although the successful candidate is a uniform Democrat, we do not claim the result as a Democratic triumph. It has been achieved by the will of the honest, moderate, and peaceful citizens of the city, who prefer a competent municipal chief magistrate to a mere party man. We have never been in favor of making the office to which Mr. Guthrie has been re-elected, a party contest.—The duties to be performed have nothing to do with party matters. They relate only to the peace and good order of the city, and the safety of every citizen, without stopping to enquire to which party they may belong. In this spirit Mr. Guthrie has discharged the duties of the office for the past year, without undue respect to persons or parties, and his re-election is conclusive evidence that the citizens approve of the wise and impartial course he has pursued, and we are confident that in this spirit his administration will continue.

We cannot but congratulate our fellow citizens for their prudence in choosing him for a second term, and knowing him as well as we do, we are certain that he will never do an intentional wrong to any member of our community.

WHAT THE WHIG PAPERS SAY.

We presume our readers will be anxious to know what the whig papers say concerning the election of Capt. GUTHRIE. On the morning of the election, the Commercial Journal broke forth in the following truly alarming style, which was certainly calculated to shock the nerves of all the old ladies in town:

THE MAYORALTY.—We earnestly hope our Whig friends will take into consideration the importance of the contest for Mayor. The columns of the Morning Post show us that the Democracy of Greensburg, Bedford, Washington, Philadelphia, every where in the State, are looking to the result of this day's struggle with excited interest. They expect the election of Guthrie, and are anxious to record its as another victory of the unterrified Democracy, over the combined forces of "federal Whiggery" and protection, in that hot-bed of federalism, Pittsburgh!

While this city is sunk in the depths of distress, threatened with accumulated disaster, from the effects of the Democratic British Tariff of 1846, we are asked to strengthen the hands of the party that has cursed us with this anti-American law. Mr. Guthrie is one of the staunchest friends of the British Tariff. Re-elect him and will not that fact mostly strengthen the Free Trade party? You may talk as you will of city elections having nothing to do with politics. When politicians are the candidates, we all know that they make their offices tell in favor of their party. Think of this.

On the day after election, finding that all his gas about the "British Democratic Tariff of 1846," "anti-American law," "Free Trade party," &c., was unheeded by the Whigs, the editor of the Journal turned dictator, and talked in this wise:

THE RESULT.—We are called upon this year, as last, to deplore the election of a Democratic Mayor in this Whig City. Mr. Guthrie is elected by a trifling majority; sufficient, however, to disgust and dishearten those steadfast Whigs who, adhering to the party through good and evil report, are compelled to witness, year after year, the sacrifice of our nominees to the whims of lukewarm members of the party. If our organization is worth preserving, it must be pursued, and not held to day to be relaxed to-morrow.

We utter no complaints of the past, but a word of warning is now proper. This abandonment of Whig nominees, by known Whigs, must stop here, or the party falls utterly, for all good ends.

We fear mischief has already resulted from the defeat of Sawyer. But we must set ourselves about repairing the wrong.

That's plain enough talk, surely. "This abandonment of Whig nominees, by known Whigs, MUST stop here," says Mr. BIDDLE. Whigs, you all hear the imperial ukase, and act according.

The Gazette thus speaks of Mr. Guthrie's election:

THE ELECTION.—By the returns in the column of home matters, our readers will discover that Mr. Guthrie has been re-elected Mayor, by a small majority. This result has originated from various causes. The carelessness and indifference of Whig voters we think will be found the principal reason; another is the large vote received by Barker, which came chiefly from persons who usually vote with the Whigs; and another reason is, that many Whigs alarmed at the reports that Barker stood some chance, and being induced to believe that Guthrie was a stronger candidate than Sawyer, threw their votes for him to defeat Barker. We regret the result, on Mr. Sawyer's account, as he had a right to expect the support of the Whigs who had nominated him, and who have a handsome majority in this City.

There is some consolation, however, to be drawn from this defeat. Barker has several hundred votes less than last year, and falls greatly behind his competitors. Although we feel mortified that he could have received as many votes as he did, yet we rejoice that the strange infatuation which has possessed a portion of our population in regard to that person is dying out.

Mr. Guthrie has made a good officer, and no doubt owes his election to this fact, in addition to the cause mentioned above.

We wish our readers to notice an important admission in this article from the Gazette. It is this: "the large vote received by Barker, which came chiefly from persons who usually vote with the Whigs." We are pleased to announce that the Deacon has changed his opinion concerning Barker. He says: "we feel mortified that he [Barker] could have received as many votes as he did." When Barker was elected Mayor two years ago, the Deacon proclaimed to the world that he was "a strong Whig and an original friend of Gen. Taylor."

A HUNGARIAN NEWS-VENDER.—A few days ago, says the Perth Naplo, a vender of engravings made his appearance in the capital of Hungary, and peddled his wares through the streets with very little success. Among his stock was the representation of a steam-vessel anchored in a quiet cove, and discouraged with his indifferent custom, the dealer boldly named the picture "The Steamer Mississippi, in the harbor of Spezzia." In a hour or two the whole batch was gone, at prices ranging from one to three florins!

☞ The editor of the American is decidedly displeased with the result of the Mayor's election. He does not know, exactly, who to blame for the defeat of his candidate; but as he must have a victim, he has lit upon Mr. BOYLES, one of the county Commissioners, and he puts him through without mercy. Now, what Mr. Boyles, as Commissioner, had to do with the election of Mayor, or how he played the "Judas Iscariot" on an occasion most interesting to the people of Pittsburgh, is beyond our comprehension: but we suppose the editor of the American knows all about it and will explain hereafter.

We may remark, that we have no personal acquaintance with Mr. BOYLES, or any member of the board, except Mr. KING—a gentleman whom we have known from boyhood;—but we consider this attack upon him unjust, and, coming from an organ of his own party, basely unjust. It is a reproach upon the voters of the county who put Mr. Boyles into office. If he is the kind of a man Biddle describes him to be, they have done a great injury to their fellow citizens, by putting him into office; if he is the kind of a man we believe him to be—honest, upright and impartial—(we form this opinion of him from the fact that the American abuses him,) the editor of the journal referred to, slandered him most grossly, and should apologise forthwith.

Lake Superior Matters.

The Lake Superior Journal estimates the loss of capital to Lake Superior from the lack of a ship canal at the Saut on last year's business at $133,000, and is no doubt within the mark.—About 10,000 persons passed the Saut during the last season.

The Journal has December 1st dates from the mining regions, and the accounts from the mines continue flattering as ever. The mines in the Ontonagon section are doing well, and also at the Cliff, Eagle River, &c. The Marquette Iron Works had worked up all the ore on hand, but would soon get a supply from the iron mountain. They expect to have a large amount of blooms for shipment in the spring.

A road has been cut out and opened from Carp River to Bay de Noquet, 60 miles, over a comparatively level country and good soil for a road. It forms a feasible connexion between Lake Superior and Green Bay, and is a favorable route for a railroad.

The winter came on suddenly in the Lake Superior region, without the usual Indian Summer. As early as Dec. 1st; the fall of snow was equal to three feet in depth. The water in the Lake is higher than ever before known, and at the mouth of the Ontonagon it is sweeping over all its ancient land-marks and tearing up trees of 20 or 30 years growth, and threatens to undermine some of the buildings. Ontonagon is rapidly improving, several large dwellings, a public house, &c., are being finished, and the steam saw mill is not able to supply the demand for lumber.

Good News from Old Lancaster.

We learn from a gentleman who left Lancaster on Saturday evening, that the friends of Mr. BUCHANAN have carried that county by an overwhelming majority. In the City the Buchanan delegates received 997 votes, and the Cass delegates 220 votes. Twenty-nine townships out of forty-three in the county, had been heard from, 27 of which elected Buchanan delegates, and 2 elected Cass delegates. This result clearly shows that all the ridiculous statements made by the Cameronian press of the State in relation to Mr. Buchanan's popularity at home, were totally devoid of truth. The Middletown Bank cannot control the honest Democracy of Pennsylvania.

A Monster.

A drunkard in Dearborn county, Ia., near Harrison, a short time ago drove his wife from home in a cold night, as reported to us by the Brookville Democrat. She took with her a young child and started to a neighbors. After being out a while, he started a little girl, of six years, after the mother. The child was thinly clad, and started on her errand. Reaching a small stream, she couldn't get over it and turned towards home. The Democrat says she had almost reached home in safety, but in attempting to climb the fence around the house, a rail slipped from its place throwing her to the earth and falling across her neck. In this position she was found by her father the next morning, dead, and cold as the snow-drifts around her. Without lifting the rail or removing the corpse into his house, the brute started for an officer to hold an inquest over the body!

Philadelphia City and County.

Certain unprincipled politicians are asserting that the friends of Mr. Buchanan did not carry the City and County of Philadelphia at the recent contest for delegates. The following from the Philadelphia Argus, a paper that has heretofore preserved a neutral position on the Presidency, conclusively shows that James Buchanan is the choice of the Democracy of Philadelphia City and County:

THE DELEGATE ELECTION.—Upon a careful summing up of the figures in connection with the last Delegate Election in the city and county, we re-affirm what we stated on the morning of the election, that the friends of Mr. Buchanan here carried both the city and county by a decided majority, all rumors and statements gotten up for the occasion to the contrary notwithstanding. There can be no doubt of the facts as we stated them. In this city Mr. Buchanan's friends have carried 13 out of 17 Wards; and in the county his majority will reach 120 at least. There can be no good result from the contradiction of this fact, and upon this statement our friends may rely.

THE MORNING SIGNET.—This is the name of a new daily paper that has reached us from St. Louis. It is a model of beautiful newspaper typography; and in editorial and selected matter, one of the most interesting papers we have received. We know some of the proprietors, and we can safely endorse them as worthy of a liberal patronage. We wish them all the success that good printers and worthy gentlemen should receive.

THE MAGYAR FEATHER.—The tremendous slaughter of turkeys, geese, and other fowl, about the holidays, have created a plentiful supply of Magyar feathers, for the caps and hats of the "flash" boys, and other patriotic folk of our city. The Newark Advertiser says he noticed in our streets one fellow sporting in this way a couple of entire goose wings, so naturally disposed, that, to look at him, one would not have known that anything had happened to th epoor bird.—They fitted him exactly, and the spectators seemed puzzled to find out whether one goose had lost his wings, or another one had found a pair.

THE RESULT IN VIRGINIA.—The Richmond Enquirer says:—"In correcting our table, we make out Col. Joseph Johnston's majority for Governor, in the whole State, 6996, or within four votes of 7000. The exact vote cannot be known until the Legislature shall count the official returns, in the first week after their assembling. The Senate will consist of 34 democrats and 16 whigs; the House 87 democrats and 65 whigs. The democratic majority on joint ballot, FORTY!"

☞ CRAMMER MCKIBBIN, Esq., formerly Postmaster in this city and at present proprietor of the Merchants' Hotel in Philadelphia, is on a visit to his friends here. He looks remarkably well, and is as much attached to the principles of Democracy as ever.

☞ We are pleased that our excellent Democratic friend A. P. WHITAKER, Esq., of the Venango Spectator, has obtained a Clerkship in one of the Departments at Harrisburg, and will pass the winter at the Capitol.

Correspondence of the Morning Post.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 10.

My Dear Post:—The Senate to-day elected all their officers, and they are all whigs but the Sergeant-at-Arms and the Doorkeeper, who are Natives—all children of Whig and Native amalgamation.

Gen. Packer this morning introduced a bill to repeal the 4th and 6th section of the Kidnapping Law, and of course it will pass without any difficulty.

Mr. Sanderson also read in place a bill providing for the immediate completion of the North Branch Canal, and the very favorable disposition of the Legislature, as heretofore expressed towards this branch of the public works, speaks well for the success of this bill.

It is now certain that Kossuth will be here on Tuesday next. The Secretary of State has returned, and gives this positive assurance. A letter from Kossuth himself has also been received to the same effect.

A committee consisting of five members of each house has been appointed to determine what action the Legislature will take on the occasion of this visit. There, no doubt, will be formality, feasting and eloquence.

No business of the least public interest was done in the House to-day. Several private bills of an unimportant character were read in place. No petitions have yet been presented, the Standing Committee not having been announced. As was hinted yesterday, this will not be done till Monday. FRANKLIN.

Female Physicians.

We are gratified to learn as we do, by a correspondent, that there are nine Ladies attending Lectures at the Homœopathic College in this city, instead of two as mentioned by us on Saturday. The more the better. The subject of Female Education is attracting the attention of some of the best minds in the country, and the Rt. Rev. Bishop Potter, of Pennsylvania, in a letter to Mrs. Sarah J. Hale, speaks as follows:—"The importance of securing for women a larger sphere of usefulness, and the especial propriety of qualifying them for the practice of the healing art among children and those of their own sex, will be admitted, I should hope, by all persons. If there are those, however, who think otherwise, I certainly am not of the number; and I should rejoice heartily in the success of every effort which is calculated to promote such object."

Our correspondent writes:

"Two of these, Miss Cooke of N. Y. city, and Mrs. Brown of Cleveland, attending last winter, and notwithstanding the novelty of their position, commanded the respect and won the esteem of their teachers, and fellow students, and should any attempt be made to exclude them or other ladies from the privileges of the school, there would be both 'storm and rebellion'" in good earnest. "Both their intellectual attainments I need say nothing—both are highly accomplished and educated, and possess the first order of talent and literary acquirements." Miss Cooke is a regular graduate of the literary institution at Oberlin. She will take the degree of M. D. at the close of the session, and designs to establish herself in N. Y. city as a regular practitioner her attainments as a medical student are unquestionable, and as she never does anything by halves, we have no doubt but that her patients will find themselves in safe hands and under able treatment.

Were it not for being tedious, we would say more of the high qualifications and lady-like deportment of Mrs. Brown, Mrs. and Miss Clapp. Mrs. Blanchard, Mrs. Rawson and others, but wishing merely to make a correction, we are not willing to inflict upon you a long article."

Cineas, the Epirote.

The allusion of M. KOSSUTH, in his speech of Wednesday evening, to CINEAS, the Epirote, required some of his hearers to turn to their classical dictionaries. There they learn that Cineas was a Thessalian, the friend and minister of Pyrrhus, King of Epeirus. He was the most eloquent man of his day, and reminded his hearers of Demosthenes, whom he had heard speak in his youth. Pyrrhus was wont to say that "the words of Cineas had won him more cities than his own arms." That the battle of Heraclea, he was sent on an embassy to Rome with proposals of peace from Pyrrhus; and such was his wonderful memory, that (we are told) on the day after his arrival he was able to address all the senators and knights by name. The terms he offered were, that all the Greeks in Italy should be left free, and that the Italian nations, from Samnium downwards, should receive back all they had forfeited to Rome. Hard as were these conditions, such were the necessities of Rome and the persuasiveness of Cineas that the Senate would probably have yielded, if the scale had not been turned by the dying eloquence of old Appius Claudius. The ambassador returned and told the king that there was no people like the Romans—that their city was a temple, their Senate an assembly of kings.

The felicity of the orator's allusion is not impaired by the direct and unintended compliment to himself: for we do not believe that Cineas, with all his persuasiveness, argued his cause more eloquently before the Roman Senate than M. Kossuth before the American Congress.—Republic

NEW PRINTING PRESS.—Mr. Montague, editor and publisher of the Pittsfield "Eagle," has invented a power-press, on which he now prints his paper. We understand it will print 2,000 sheets the hour, the forms being fastened in an upright position, and the impression given by a cylinder. It may be worked by steam or hand-power, and can be made at a cost of $650 for single cylinders, and $750 for double cylinders.

A GREAT BREWERY.—Barclay & Perkins, the great London brewers, have a clear annual profit of one million dollars. This brewery is the largest in the world. They manufacture about 1000 bbls. per day. England expends more money for beer than for bread: consequently the business of the brewers is larger and better than that of the bakers.

☞ In the Engineer's report to the Pittsburgh and Steubenville Railroad Company which we published yesterday, a typographical error occurs which injures the sense. In describing the route passing near Frankfort; instead of "by Mr. Biggerts' Potato Garden," it should read "by it, Biggerts, Potato Garden Run," &c.

☞ Howard, proprietor of the Irving House, on being informed that the mayor and corporation would no longer be responsible for the payment of the expenses of the Hungarian exiles, invited the majority to remain as his guests.—We like the name of Howard.

☞ The ladies of Stockbridge have held a fair for the benefit of Kossuth. Ex-Gov. Briggs wrote to them—

"The American who can listen to Kossuth's account of his own and his country's wrongs and injuries without emotion, or hear his appeals with indifference, has a philosophy which I do not covet, and a patriotism which I cannot envy."

Hogs.—Number killed up to Saturday night,.....80,278
Number killed up to same time last year, 90,162

Deficit.....9,889

Though the hogs slaughtered this year will average ten per cent more pork than those of the year before. Of the above number, White & Cunningham slaughtered 45,000; the balance by Godman & Sering and Godman & Son. The whole number killed this season will not vary much from the last. The season will close in a few days, there being but a few more to come in. The market is firm at $4,75@4,80.—Madison Courier, 7th.

☞ The gentlemanly editor of the Philadelphia News style JAMES BUCHANAN "ten cent Jimmy," with the fact staring him in the face that all the helpless poor of the city of Lancaster are supplied with WOOD and COAL out of a fund provided for their relief out of the private pocket of Mr. BUCHANAN—a fund, too, which is made PERPETUAL! What slanderer of Mr. Buchanan has exhibited charity like this?—Bedford Gazette.

☞ Cox says that proverbs are the second-hand wisdom of knaves and fools. The only man who ever cheated him, he says, was a monosimonious fellow who never uttered a sentiment that was not culled from the wisdom of Solomon or Poor Richard's Almanac.

THE OLD MAN TO HIS WIFE.

We are growing very old, Kate—
I feel it every day;
The hair upon our temples now,
Is growing thin and grey;
We are not as we were, Kate,
And yet our hearts are young.
As when we roved the sunny hills,
And fleetly dalli among.

We are growing very old, Kate:
But it is not age of heart,
Though speedily the hour comes on,
When thou and I must part;
When thou and I must part, Kate
As we have ne'er before
Beside our cottage hearth to meet,
With words of love no more.

But we're growing very old, Kate,
And the parting won't be long,
Till we meet within a better home,
Amid yon heavenly throng;
Till we sing the song together, Kate,
The angels sing above;
Where ne'er the fear of parting takes
The blessedness from love.

Scribblings and Clippings.

The Free Banking Law has passed the Tennessee House of Representatives, and will no doubt pass the Senate.

A chap was ridden on a rail and ducked at Indianapolis last week, for whipping his wife.—Good for him.

A Mrs. Bedford was accidentally burnt to death at Clarksville, Tennessee, on the night of the 8d inst.

Among the many striking things said by Kossuth in his speeches, was the following: "Religion is a necessity to every honest and thinking man."

Bills granting government lands in aid of railroads in Missouri, have been introduced in Congress the present session. It is probable that liberal grants will be made in this behalf.

The most attentive man to business we ever knew, was he who once wrote on his shop door—

"Gone to bury my wife—will return in half an hour."

The city of London stands upon 620 acres. The fixed property in houses located on this small spot is estimated at £40,000,000 sterling; and the value of moveable property in the city is considered to be worth £100,000,000.

During the month of December the contributions to the National Washington Monument Fund have amounted to $10,992. There were received during the month a block from the ladies of Lowell, Massachusetts, and one from the State of Missouri.

The strangest reports upon French events were for a time current in Turin. Of a bulletin stating that Kossuth had been made President of the French Republic, 3000 copies were immediately sold.

The republic of Chili has issued two denominations of new gold coin. One is called the Condor, and is worth $10: the other the Doblon, and is worth $5.

It is reported that our gonernment will instruct Mr. Rives to acknowledge the dictatorship in France.
