Daily Morning Post.

PITTSBURGH:

SATURDAY MORNING.....FEBRUARY 7, 1852.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES:

JAMES BUCHANAN,

Subject to the decision of the Democratic Convention

FOR VICE PRESIDENT:

WILLIAM R. KING,

OF ALABAMA;

Subject to the same decision.

We publish a very pretty sketch in to-day's paper, entitled, "Oh, the Death of Little Children," by our far-correspondent Mrs. Ann S. Stephens, which will find a ready response in the heart of every mother who reads it. Mrs. Stephens has the rare faculty of painting domestic duties, still finds time to give to the world many productions which for their correctness as well as beauty of style are worthy of universal perusal.

Call for a Meeting in Relation to the Louisville Canal.

We publish below a call for a citizens' meeting, to be held on the 9th inst., at Philo Hall, for the purpose of adopting some efficient measures, with the view of freeing the Ohio river from the obstructions which at present exist at the Falls. This is a very important matter, and every canal trader, is deeply interested in it. The navigation of the Ohio has too long been obstructed by the Canal at Louisville. The work should be doubled in capacity, and placed under the charge of the general government. Let there be a general meeting urging upon the attention of Congress the importance of the work, and the necessity of its being placed under their special care and protection, the Canal at Louisville

APPEAL TO THE LADIES.

There will be found in our columns to-day, a most truly patriotic and stirring appeal to the women of the West, and of our country generally, in behalf of the "Ladies' Association of the Washington Monument," for Pittsburgh, Allegheny, and the surrounding country. They draw upon the experience of the past, for material with which to work in the present, and appeal to the noble descendants of our forefathers, to emulate the deeds and the virtues of their sires. They draw upon the sympathies of our own kind, and benevolent, and devoted sex, in entering upon this great field for philanthropy; and nobly call upon the fair daughters of the West, to come up to their aid. Let every one in carrying back to appreciate the sacrifices of the past, and the virtues of the present, appeal to the future, and to posterity, which is limited in its duration, and which will be found wanting in its appreciation of the present, unless we do something to perpetuate the memory of the past, and the virtues of the present.

Let the ladies of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, and the surrounding country, come up to the work, and they will find that it is a labor of love, and that it will be a source of pleasure to them, to look back upon it, when they shall have passed away from the stage of action. Let them remember that the eyes of the world are upon them, and that posterity will judge them by their acts
