Daily Morning Post.

TUESDAY MORNING.....APRIL 6.

River Intelligence, &c.

The River—We had heavy rains all day yesterday. There were twelve feet water in the channel, and rising. From the rains that we have had, we judge that there will be a flood.

The Winchester leaves for Wheeling this morning. She is a first rate boat, has a first rate captain and good accommodations.

The Allegheny leaves for Cincinnati this morning, and offers a chance to persons wishing a safe and speedy transit to Portkopolis.

Business on the wharf, yesterday, despite the rain, was very active.

COURT OF QUARTER SESSIONS.

MONDAY, April 5.

On the Bench—Hon. Wm. B. M'Clure, President Judge; and Wm. Boggs, Esq., Associate Judge.

Commonwealth vs. John Smith—Surety of the Peace, on oath of Wm. Bleaky. The prosecutor was sentenced to pay the costs.

Commonwealth vs. Thos. Riley. Indictment, Larceny. The Jury returned a verdict of guilty, and the prisoner was sentenced to be imprisoned in the county jail for two months.

Commonwealth vs. Willis Jones. Indictment, Larceny. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and the prisoner was sentenced to two month's imprisonment in the county jail.

Commonwealth vs John White. Indictment, keeping tippling house. The prisoner was sentenced on two indictments for this offence, to pay a fine of $20, and costs.

Commonwealth vs John Johnson. Indictment, Larceny. The jury returned the prisoner not guilty, and he was discharged.

A Family Poisoned—Two Children Dead.—Coroner Arthurs was called on yesterday to hold an inquest on the bodies of two children, sons of Mr. James Cutbert, residing on First street, below Ferry, who died from the effects of poison, yesterday morning. From what we learn, the persons who lived in the house, before Mr. Cutbert, had left bottles of medicine and packages of powders, in a closet. Mrs. C. found some laudanum, and powders—which she thought was saleratus—in the cupboard; the powder was tied in a package, and placed on a shelf above a crock of sugar. The rats destroyed the package, and scattered the powder over the shelf, and it appeared that part fell through an aperture, in the shelf, into the sugar. Mrs. Cutbert testified to using the sugar in the tea, on Sunday night, by putting a cup of sugar in the tea before it was made.

Mr. Cutbert testified that when he went to supper, the children had taken a sup or two of tea, and complained of its being bitter, and they could not drink it; he told Mrs. C. to sweeten it; and then he tasted it, and said it must be poisonous; he said the children vomited, and what he drank gave him a pain in the head; he went after Dr. McCook, who declined going to see them, but told him to give them strong coffee, which he did, and sweetened it with the same sugar, which had the effect of making them much worse.

Mr. Wilcox testified that the poison was not arsenic; and he had no idea what it was.

Michael Clansey testified that Mr. and Mrs. Cutbert lived amicably together; he had known them for five or six years.

Dr. McCook stated that Cutbert came to his father's office, on Sunday evening; and when he came to the house one of the boys was dead; he prescribed, and went to consult Dr. Morgan; when he came back the other boy was fast sinking, and he supposed that the poison had become mixed with the system; he walked away again, and on his return found the pulse scarcely perceptible, and said he could not live; the countenance was remarkably natural, for such an entire prostration of the system. Dr. M'C. stated that he presumed they were poisoned by arsenic; it acted too powerfully for an ordinary dose of zinc or copper; it was neither oxolic acid nor corrosive sublimate, neither was it antimony. In its first symptoms arsenic produces vomiting, excessive purging, &c., and in some cases the countenance remains undisturbed; excessive thirst is another evidence of poison by arsenic, and pain in the bowels another. Each of the children had slight convulsions, and suffered a great deal of pain, and towards death they became stupid, showing an inclination to sleep; but do not know whether they were stupid or not when they died. It would be difficult to tell which of the metallic poisons they died from.

Various other witnesses were examined, but nothing new was elicited.

The jury returned a verdict of accidental poisoning.

Teachers' Meeting.—The quarterly meeting of the Association of Teachers and Friends of Education was held on Friday, 26th ult., in the session room of the First Presbyterian Church.

The principal subject of discussion, during the whole session, was the best mode of teaching English Grammar.

The gem of the session was an oration, delivered in the evening, by the Hon. Jasper E. Brady. In the course of his remarks, he stated that the question, "Is Education advantageous to man?" has been settled in the affirmative; that Education embraced a just conception of moral and religious principles; any other than this he did not wish to go before the people. The orator alluded to the prevalence of Infidelity in many parts of Europe, and gave as a reason for it, that their Literati had not received a moral training. He spoke much of the common school and its advantages; of the Teacher, his necessary qualifications and requirements; for the Speaker asserted, with much animation, that the Educator in our common schools was an officer of Government; and in point of true dignity was superior to any other Government official; for no other was specifically required to be moral in his daily walk and conversation; and closed with the wish, that people generally would see these things in their proper light; for no class in community had so great an opportunity of doing good. Mr. Brady was listened to with marked attention; and at the close was invited to address the Association and Friends of Education, on the evening of the 3d Monday of April, at the 4th Ward School House on Penn street, when we hope that Directors, Teachers and Parents will fill the room; for it has rarely fallen to our lot to listen to a more interesting speaker.

Coroner's Inquest.—The Coroner held an inquest, yesterday, on the body of Mary Ann Lopar, an old lady aged 90, who resided alone in the Ninth Ward, and was found dead in her bed yesterday morning. The jury returned a verdict of "Dispensation of Providence."

Obtaining Goods under False Pretences.—Margaret Hann, of the Ninth Ward, was arrested, and brought before Alderman M'Cune, yesterday, charged, on oath of Clement Zann, with obtaining goods under false pretences.

Council Proceedings—The City Councils of Allegheny held a meeting on Thursday last, but in the proceedings of that august body, as published, we can see nothing that would interest our readers.

Commitments—There were twelve commitments to the county prison yesterday:—seven for vagrancy, and three by the court for costs, and two by sentence of court.

Overseer of the Poor.—The City Councils of Allegheny have elected John T. Logan Overseer of the Poor, in place of Alexander Cameron, resigned.

Murderous Assault—Yesterday morning between eight and nine o'clock, an affray took place in the rolling mill of Messrs. Bailey, Brown & Co., on Wayne street, between a German, named John Harmar, and an Irishman of the name of James Foley. It appears that Foley wished the German to aid him in his work; this Harmar refused, as he had work of his own to do. Some words passed, and a scuffle ensued, but they were separated, and Foley left the mill, and it was thought to be all over. But in a short time he returned, armed with an iron bar, about an inch thick and a yard long, and while Harmar was bending over his work, struck him a blow on the head, with the bar, which knocked him back on a lot of metal, and in the confusion incident to the assault, Foley made his escape.

Mr. Harmar was taken home in a very precarious condition, but last night gave signs of improvement. Nothing has been heard of Foley although officers were on the look-out yesterday, for him.

Pennsylvania Railroad.—The Pennsylvania Railroad is now avoiding inclined plane No. 1, between Johnstown and plane No. 2. This will lessen the time between this city and the east, two hours.

We learn that the road will be finished from this city, through to Greensburg, by the first of July, which will materially shorten the time between this city and the east.

Theatre—Mr. Roberts was received by a good house last evening. His performance of the difficult character of Gloster, was a masterpiece of acting, both in delivery and style of performance.

Hamlet is the play at the Theatre this evening. Mr. Roberts will support the character of the "Melancholy Dane."

Clothing.—We invite attention to the advertisement of Mr. James C. Watt, clothier, Market street. Mr. Watt has a fine stock of clothing on hand, which he will serve out to his customers on the most reasonable terms. Give him a call; the time for spring clothes and pleasant weather (?) is at hand.

☞ There will be a large lot of fine furniture and twenty feather beds sold this day, at two o'clock, at McCartney's Auction House, No. 125 Wood street.

Postponed—The Wallace Concert has been postponed on account of the weather, until this evening.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

BY THE O'REILLY LINE.

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF THE LOSS OF STEAMER REDSTONE.

CINCINNATI, March 5.

Among the killed on the Redstone, were Lewis Berry and Joseph Berry of Brownsville, and M. Smith of Petersburgh. The remainder as far as known belong to the West. The whole number killed is not yet ascertained.

The steamer Hoosier State came up two hours after the explosion, and rendered great assistance.

The Redstone had landed to take a passenger aboard, and in backing out, made but three revolutions, when her boilers exploded.

There were sixty-five passengers aboard; thirty-five of them were killed.

Mr. Soper, the first Clerk, was standing in the door of his office, and was blown one hundred feet into the air; he fell into the river and swam ashore. Near the shore he met the Captain struggling for life with one leg broken. The second Clerk was accidentally left at Madison. Both the Pilots were so badly injured, that their recovery is very doubtful.

The editor of the Lawrenceburg Register was on board, and was blown ashore, where his body was found horribly mutilated. A Mr. Scott, the passenger whom the boat stopped for, was killed in sight of his family who were still at the landing, having bid him good-bye.

The engineer and firemen were all killed. All the lady passengers escaped.

GREAT FIRE AT PADUCAH.

LOUISVILLE, April 5.

A large fire occurred at Paducah on Saturday morning. Forty buildings were destroyed, and the loss is estimated at $100,000 over the insurance.

The buildings of the Branch Bank were entirely consumed; the fate of the money, &c., in the vault, is yet unknown. The Democrat printing office is uninjured; the Journal office sustained no damage, except that caused by the hurried removal.

During the fire thieves were at work, but their depredations were soon suspended.

The town is a mass of ruins.
