Fine Pianos -- We call the attention of our read lers to the advertisement, in another column, o Mr. Kleber. He has just received a very extensive and choice lot of new Pianos from Boston and New York, containing, among others, some elegant specimens of Nunns & Clark's prize me dal Pianos, with and without Coleman's attachment, provided with patent tunable reeds, thus enabling players and amateurs to keep their Planos in tune without the aid of the tuner. We inderstand that these Pianos have stood the test of the severest climates, such as New Orleans, &c., and have been exported even to the Sandwich Islands and California. We also notice that Mr. K. has brought o some fine specimens from the celebrated make of HALLETT & ALLEN, Boston. They are indeed lovely instruments, in point of tone as well as style of furniture. The subjoined remarks on the subject we clip from the Boston Transcript: There are few Piano-Forte manufacturers in the United States who enjoy a more extensive ade, or whose names are a better guarantee fo nce of their Pianos, than the firm of Isliett & Allen (late Hallett, Cumston & Allen) hich was originally formed under the name of brown & Hallett, in 1832. In 1842, the firm Brown & Hallett, in 1882. In 1882, the firm was dissolved; since which time Mr. Hallett has been at the head of the firm, and their well-established experience and celebrity keep their wast establishment constantly busy. That there may be no mistake regarding the name of Hal-lett (it having become identified with excellence, and valuable to the interests of which it has long been a representative), we would state, for the information of the public, that there have sprung up, within a short time, two firms headed with the name of Hallett, both of which are new in he business, and that all Pianos made by the iginal firm are marked Hallett & Allen. We state this that the public may not be mis-ed into the belief that either of the Halletts of he new firms is the original Hallett. To those therefore, who are desirous of purchasing the Pianos that have been long renowned and had the name of Hallett attached to them, we distinct-declare that the original Hallett (Russell Hal lett), Mr. Allen, the original silent partner, and the original establishment, 339 Washington street. ere now designated by the name of HALLETT & ALLEN. It is important that this should be clearly understood. Possession of the same name does not always indicate possession of the same Since the commencement of this establishme s proprietors have received, at different times eight medals, for superior instruments—a fact which should not be forgotton by those who wish to purchase Pianos of real value, combinis ness and purity of tone with beauty an durability. Mr. Kleber has in his possession the most fist tering testimonials of their superiority, from som of the greatest musicians of the age, viz: Bene Mr. Kleeber is too good a player and judge of ens, to aid the sufferers by the late fire in Planos, to over be deceived in them, and purchaillicothe. We hope the meeting will be well sers may therefore rely on getting a genuine and good article from him. Fine Store.-We paid a visit, yesterday, to the store of Mr. C. YEAGER, No. 110 Market street between Fifth and Liberty. This fine warehous hos. J. B. Physicians approve of it because it is based upon cor-rect Physiological and Pathological principles. The nublic approve of it, because it is Consum.
