eastern terminus of the Philadelphis and Columbia Railroad. It was this feature of the bill that received the disapprebation of the Executive, and consequently resolved him to veto it.

The precedent attempted to have been established by this railroad corporation, was at once dangerous to individual industry, and prejudicial to the interests of the Commenwealth. Had this bill been permitted to become a law, the power it designed to invest in the Peansylvania Railroad would have given them the control of all lands bounding the eastern depot, and consequently, the right to trammel the State and injure the usofalnoss of the public improvements.

Governor Biglen has expressed these objections in a message of profound and powerful arguments. He has anticipated, by his veto, the general desire of the business community in this city. The privileges of corporations cannot be too carefully guarded, and the policy of the Democratic Executive, the people can alone rely for protection from the invesion of enormons monied bodies. They have before attempted to grasp the controlling legal power, but as now, they have been defeated by the firmness and patriotism of Governor Biglen have browen.

"I had been afflicted several years with a soremeas of both eyes, which continued to increase until last September, (1850), the inflammation at that time having involved the whole libing membrane of both eyes, and ended in the deposite of a thick fifth, which wholly destroyed my sight. I had an operation performed, and the thickening removed, which soon returned and left me in as had a condition as before. At this stage of the complaint I made application to several of the most eminent medical men, who informed me that "my eyes would never get well." At this time I coold not distinguish any object. By the advice of some friends commenced the use of the Petroleum, both internally and locally, under which my eyes have improved daily until the present time, and I have recovered my sight entirely. My general health was very much improved by the Petroleum, and I attribute the restoration of my sight to its use. I reside at No. 102 Second street, in this city, on will be happy to give any information in relation to my case.
