Baptist Missionary Union. The Board met yesterday morning, (Wednesday day,) at 9 o'clock, the Rev. Elisha Tucker

the chairman pro tem presiding. The meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. J. N. Brown, of Pa. The Recording Secretary, Mr. Rees, read the minutes of the preceeding Sessions, which were on motion, approved by the Board. The reports of the committees not being read the Board united in singing, and impressive prayers by Rev. Dr. JETER, of St. Louis, and by Rev. Mr. CHENY, of Columbus, Ohio, were delivered.

The Committee on publication presented a re port, through their Chairman, Mr. STEVENS .-The report maintained the necessity of arguments, appeals, and essays in the missionary cause, and urged to the utility of tracts, magazines, and periodicals, particularly the Missionary Magazine and the Macedonian. It also suggested that the best talent should be employed on them, and pastors and laymen should use their influence in circulating them throughout the land. The Committee suggested that an inquiry, whether the cause did not rethat every effort should be used to give it an ex- the young men of Greece. press as a coadjutor in the cause of missions. After which, the Rev. S. ILLEBY, of New York, made some remarks, and urged the utility of publications and maps, for use in Sabbath Schools. He maintained the great necessity of instructing the rising generation in this cause, at the Sab bath Schools, by the use of maps and missionary publications—they could instruct young men in the work, while their elder brethren would not move from their old stand. The Rev. J. N. BROWN, of Pa., also coincided with the last gentleman in his remarks. It was from the want of training from early youth to riper age, that a coldness had arisen in the hearts of the brethren in relation to the Mission cause If the right course was pursued in the circulation of the Missionary papers and magazines, th coming generation would enter the field of active life, deeply impressed with the importance of the Rev. S. M. Oscood, of Wyoming, N. Y., followed in an address, in which he earnestly recommended the circulation of the magazines and papers, as a great aid to the cause of Missionaries. Wherever they could secure the circulation of the smaller periodicals, the larger ones would follow-the one only served as an entering wedge for the other.

Rev. EDWARD BRIGHT, Corresponding Secresions, also bore testimony to the manner in effects they produced wherever they were circulated. The Missionary Magazine had reached the circulation of 4,000 copies, and the Macedonian had, at the present time a circulation of 35,000 copies, with a constantly increasing edition. He hoped that efforts would be made to give these publications a wider circulation; and also, that great endeavors should be used in the

Rev. Mr. Haswall, a returned missionary from the Maulmain Burman mission, gave an interesting account of his travels in this country, and the effect produced on the different sections where he visited, by the circulation of missionary publications. Where these publications were found, the inhabitants had a knowledge of the missions-he-had found these magazines and and publications circulated among the pioneers of the great West, and they quickly felt an interest in the cause, and acted promptly in aid of it. He urged the pastors and ministers of the different congregations to use every endeavor to circulate missionary intelligence among their flocks. If it had not been for the Missionary Magazine he would not stand before them a returned missionary. The speaker related several interesting incidents of the effect produced upon the minds of young persons by the missionary publications. He stated that he made it as his parting request, "Circulate the magazine and papers; scatter them broadcast throughout the

The Committee on Obituaries reported, through their Chairman, Rev. S. F. Smirii. The report communicated the intelligence of the death of several ministers and missionaries in foreign lands. In the Arracan Mission, Mrs. E. R. K. Knapp, died on the 23d of May last, of a disease of the heart. Mrs. K. had been at her station but a short time, and was beloved by all who knew her. Rev. H. M. CAMPBEL, of the Burman Mission, died on the 26th of February last; Mr. C. had acquired a knowledge of the Burman language, and was much beloved for his good actions. The next, was Lucketia Brown Stillson, who died during 1851; Mrs. S. had been con nected with the Maulmain Burman Mission, since the year 1838, and was very active in her labors in the Missionary cause. After a prayer, by Rev. A. B. Mason, the report of the Finance Committee was called for and read by the Chairman, Mr. Robinson. The report stated that the expenditures of the year amounted to $125,000, which had been fully met, with the exception of a small sum; the liabilities of the Executive Committee, had been also met and cancelled. The report recommended an additional appropriation of $10,000 for the Burnam Mission.

Accounts from Russia state that the authorities had set themselves in opposition to the missionary cause. This was main ly owing to the revolutionary disturbance which had agitated Europe for some time past, and which had influenced the government against the Bantist Missionaries. It was expected, however, that a memorial on this subject would be presented to the King of Prussia by the diplomatic agent of our country, at Berlin. Messrs. Sanson, of Mass., Fish, of New Jersey, and Brown, of Philadelphia, made some remarks in relation to the missionary labors in Europe.

to injure them. Rev. Dr. PECE, Foreign Secretary of the Board, made some interesting statements in relation to this mission. Several missionaries, he stated, were about embarking for that country, to be employed in the Bassa Mission. He concluded by recommending the subject to the close

The demand for Maryland has improved this week, and the sales comprise nearly all the receipts. Prices have undergone little or no change, the netive inquiry causing perhaps a shade of improvement on desirable lots. The receipt continue light, owing, we understand, to the prevalence of much dry weather, which prevented the planters from packing their crops. The back wardness of the season, also, compels prompt attention to other farming operations, and causes further delay in the receipts. The inspections thus far, this season, show a considerable falling off, and there must either be a large quantity of Maryland get ocomet to market, or the crop will fall considerably short of that of isat year. Prices will, no doubt, be well austained for some time to come. The sales comprise about 350 hids.
