THE WHIG CONVENTION. This convention of all the "talent, decency and intelligence" of Allegheny county, met a the Court House yesterday, and went through the motions of making a nomination. The Convention was full of delegates, and the candidates were full of anxiety for their fate. The Convention was organized by the appointment of Mr. Josian King, as chairman, who endeavored to conduct the business of the assemblage in a parliamentary manner, but during the process of marking, he could not induce the members to keep their seats and quietly await the result of faw would still persist in peeping over the shoulders of the Secretaries, notwithstanding the cross looks of the President. The first and most exciting nomination was that of a candidate for the office of Sheriff. The prominent candidates were Messrs. Jones and Magill, with Mr. Irvin, who comes into the game not a leading hand, but a "blind," that might be picked up by any one who would choose to pay for it. It appears that Mr. Magill picked up the odd deal, and it also appears that it "tricked" him into a nomination, and tricked Mr. Jones out of it. From what we know and what we have heard this nomination of Sheriff by the Whigs is one of the most corrupt proceedings that has ever been perpetrated in Allegheny county. When the lelegates assembled yesterday morning, there was a clear majority for Mr. Jones. Every one acquainted with the fresh feelings of the members of the convention when they arrived in the city, had no doubt of the nomination of Mr. J. on the first ballot. But time was allowed for his canning competitor to tamper with the wavering. and by promises, win the weak, and he succeeded in staying off the nomination on the first ballot. He then had the game in his own hand. inasmuch as he held all the force of the alter nate aspirant in the palm of his hand, used the proper means to induce four others to violate their instructions, and, on the third ballot man aged to cheat the Whig party into the folly of giving him a nomination. A more outrageous fraud we never saw perpetrated, and if the honorable portion of the Whig party are willing to endure it, they have more christain forbearance than we ever gave them credit for. It was a harefaced swindle-no other term can characterize the base treachery and violation of plighted faith that some of the delegates practiced. So far as we are concerned, we are please with the nomination of Mr. Magill. He is just the kind of a man we would desire to see the Whige have for a candidate, and he has got his nomination by means worthy of the man whom the people will scorn and repudiate at the October election. Had Jones been the nominee, we might have felt some alarm, for notwithstanding his implacable whiggery, he has a straight-forward honesty about him which wins a kindly feeling for him with all who know him .-He would be a dangerous customer for us, and although we like him as a fellow citizen, we entertain a negative pleasure at his defeat in the convention, for we feel confident that we can "lay out" his successful competitor much easier than we could himself, and not half try-Mr. Campbell was nominated for Prothonots ry. A worthy citizen and gentleman, in every respect qualified for the office, but not half as old a citizen as Mr. John Caldwell, who was also before the Convention for a nomination.

The ticket for the Legislature is as good a selection as the Whigs could make. Mr. Darsie, for Senate, is an old stager in the legislative halls, and, spart from his ridiculous Whig notions. he has always been an industrious representitive of his constituents. The gentlemen nominated for the House are all nice young men. They are, individually and ollectively, decent and well behaved-at least.

we were so informed by one of themselves, and, of course, it must be true, or he would not have said so, inasmuch as he is one of the "most deanxious to hear themselves chirp in the capitol at Harrisburgh. They all feel happy now, but after the Democratic Convention meets, they will find their wings clipped in an essential manner. Mr Richie received the nomination for Congress, but we understand that fraud was practised in this nomination as well as many others. We do not suppose that Mr. R. was a party to on the occasion of his inauguration as Professor any fraud on the occasion. His name was scarcely mentioned in the convention before some of the whigs commenced making inquiries into his "religious opinions," and desired to know if he was a "strictly pious man." This is a qualification that, we presume, Mr. Richie never supposed would be required for a member of Congress in the Whig party, and it is very probable that he is not posted up in his prayers at present. The Symptoms of Dyspessia are: loss of appetile, nausea, heart-burn, fatulency, acid, fexid or inodorous eructations, a gnawing sensation in the stomach when empty, great costiveness, chiliness, polacons of the countenance, langour, lassitude, unwillingness to move about, lowness of spirits, papitations of the heart, and disturbed sleep. These symptoms vary in different individuals and constitutions and in many cases bring on kidney disease, dropsy, liver complaint, and a debilitated condition of the whole body and a shattered state of the pervous system, that renders life burdensome.

Dr. Raddiffe's Alkaline Digestive Situra are peculiarly adapted to the deranged condition of the stomach above proposed to the deranged condition of the stomach above. adapted to the deranged condition of the stomach above adapted to the deranged condition of the stomach above alluded to, and if taken perseveringly, will restore is to a healthy condition. These Bitters are made of some of the most valuable mate inits of the Materia Medica, and are prepared in a peculiar manner, known only to the proprietor. They do not contain any particle of alleton, and are perfectly safe in their operation on the cohol, and are perfectly safe in their operation on the thoman system. The most inactive and depraved condition of the stomach is often relieved by one bottle—all sourcess, wind, pain, and depression of spirits, are entirely removed. How can a man be in health when that great reservoir is diseased? Correct the morbid state of the somach by taking these Bitters, and Dyspepsia, with all its grim horrors, will dy from you.
