Much wit has been expended ridiculing the marriage of Jenny Lind to Goldsohmidt, but the New York Musical World gives a statement which places the whole matter in a new light.— It says. Otto Goldschmidt's marriage with Jenny Lind was, after all, a very natural affair. The world had imagined it to be celestial, from the divine character of Jenny, most likely. He married Jenny and Jenny most likely. He married Janny and Jenny most likely and concomi-tants of contracts—it had the consideration at all events, of a Last Will and Testament—natu-ral affection. On her part it was a return for obligations conferred by Otto and Otto's father, hesides sundry other causes "moving her there unto; and, on his side, he seems to have made a kind of draft on his godmother, which was ac-and and and in a parties to have made a kind of draft on his godmother, which was ac-ieto unto; and, on his side, he seems to have made a kind of draft on his godmother, which was no cepted and paid in promises of love, honor and obedience. Thousands of persons have commit-ted matrimony and passed along the world; as the lawyers say, " under bonds," and we do not see that Otto Goldschmidt and Jenny have made out a different case at all.
