TO THOSE INDEBTED.

☞ Those indebted to this office for Advertising, Job-work, and Subscriptions to the Daily and Weekly Post, will please take notice that all my Books and Accounts have been placed in the hands of CHAS. E. LOOMIS & R. P. McDOWELL, for settlement and collection. There is a large sum of money outstanding on my old books, and I earnestly hope that all those who are indebted will be prepared to settle promptly when called upon. My individual accounts run from July, 1846, to April, 1851, or 4 years and 9 months, and those who have been taking the paper during that period, by referring to their receipts, can in a moment tell how much they are in arrears.—Mr. LOOMIS is authorized to settle the business of the firm of Harper & Layton, which runs from April 1, 1851, to November 1, 1851, (a period of 7 months,) and also the accounts of Harper & Phillips to the present time. The receipt of Messrs. LOOMIS & McDOWELL will be binding on the office. L. HARPER.

General Scott's Declaration of What He Would Do, if He had the Power.

There are some questions besides soup, on which Gen. Scott has fixed opinions, and, until he fell into the hands of Seward & Co., never hesitated to express them. A short time since, he issued a general circular, in reply to various questions propounded to him, in which he makes the following positive declaration of principles:

"LEADING MEASURES OF THE LATE EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS.—If I had had the honor of a vote on the occasion, it would have been given in favor of the Land Distribution bill, the Bankrupt bill, and the second bill for creating a Fiscal Corporation—having long been under a conviction that, in peace as in war, something efficient, in the nature of a Bank of the United States, is not only "necessary and proper," but indispensable to the successful operations of the treasury, as well as to many of the wants of our commerce and currency.

WESTERN SCRIP.—Every man knows the strenuous efforts made by the Whigs at the extra session referred to, (1840,) to carry through the infamous measures which Gen. Scott, as late as last October, regretted that he had not an opportunity to vote for. The people are intimately acquainted with the plundering motives that induced the Whigs to propose these plundering measures, and on all proper occasions they never failed to express their detestation of them, and the party that endeavored to fix them upon the country. But they have been abandoned by the men who first advocated them, and are denounced as obsolete ideas. But Gen. Scott is not willing to "give it up so." He still clings to them as three of the cardinal principles of the Whig party, and desires an opportunity to vote for them.

Will Gen. Scott's keepers permit him to write another letter, and explain to the people whether he is still in favor of these obnoxious measures? He was their advocate last October, and, although he is generally in "haste" in all he does and says, we do not suppose that he has yet had time to change his mind on such important subjects as those alluded to. If the papers in this city that advocate his election, can give the people any light on the subject, the honest portion of them will be much gratified.

PUBLIC LECTURE.—We are informed that Mr. JOHN GREGORY will deliver an address this evening, at the Fourth Ward School House, on subjects of much interest to the community, and especially so to parents and school directors. We understand that Mr. G. is known as a gentleman of much ability, and his address cannot fail to be interesting to all who may attend. All who have a taste for such intellectual entertainments are invited to be present on this occasion.

THE WHIG NOMINEES.

We are apprehensive that before the Presidential election passes over, Gen. Scott will receive several severe "fires in the rear" from his own party. They were after him before the nomination, but there was nothing very dangerous in the ammunition with which their guns were charged; but since that event, the fire from the quarter mentioned has become more serious and dangerous. The Baltimore Sun of the 22d says that the following dispatch was received from the office of the Wilmington (N. C.) Journal, the evening before:

WILMINGTON, June 21.

The nomination of General Scott makes North Carolina sure for Pierce, and will secure the election of Reid, the democratic candidate for Governor, and a democratic Legislature. Mark the prediction."

This looks bad for the hopes of "fuss and feathers," especially when it comes from the State of tar and turpentine that has furnished the Whig party with a candidate for the Vice Presidency. We have never supposed that the General had the slightest chance in North Carolina, or any other southern State, since he sold himself to the blue-bellied abolitionists of the North. His defeat before the people has long been a foregone conclusion, and the bait that Seward threw to the South, in the nomination of Graham for Vice President, will not get even a nibble in that quarter. The trickery of the leaders and the subserviency of the candidates are too transparent to deceive any one, and only increase the disgust with which the people view the vile schemes of those who labor to deceive the honest portion of the voters into the support of men who at the beck of their managers will betray those who confide in them.

It appears that Maryland is also determined not to submit to the fraud that has been practiced. The Sun, of the same date, has the following:

SCOTT'S NOMINATION IN WESTERN MARYLAND.—We received the following despatch from Cumberland last evening:

CUMBERLAND, June 21.—The nomination of Scott is far from satisfactory. Many Whigs say they will not vote for him. There is a great deal of political feeling in regard to it. J. M. P.

This will fully endorse the statement of our cotemporary of the Gazette, that the Scott men were not treated with over politeness by the people of Maryland. We are apprehensive, however, that there will be more grievous causes of complaint in that quarter before the election is over. In a few weeks, Maryland and many other Whig States will open up in full against this ridiculous nomination, and our Whig cotemporaries will be kept busy in explaining the impoliteness of the Whig States that will refuse to go for Scott. We have heard from two already, and we will chronicle the others as they come in, if they do not come too fast.

☞ Scarcely twenty-four hours had elapsed from the nomination of our county ticket, before some very cunning whigs discovered that the party was dissatisfied with the candidates. They are the only persons that have the news, and it was certainly news to us when we heard it, for we have yet to meet the democrat who would think of refusing the ticket a hearty support.—As we said yesterday, it is a good ticket—one on which the party can rally without asking a why or wherefore, for they are all known to the voters, and deemed worthy of the support of the whole party. Moreover, they were all honestly nominated. Nothing was effected by bargain and sale in the Democratic Convention. There were no delegates or aspirants taken by the button and conveyed behind a distant pillar in the rotunda to listen to a favorable proposition.—Can the whigs say as much for the manner in which the prominent candidates on the whig ticket obtained their nominations? They dare not, for they know that if they would attempt it, the proof is ready to overwhelm them. Nor did the democratic aspirants resort to the base means used by some of those who succeeded in their nominations in the whig convention, to destroy not only the chances, but the private character of their competitors for the nomination. With our party all was open and fair; there were no bargains made, no promises of reward to induce persons to sell themselves, as was practiced in the whig convention. All its proceedings were conducted with open honesty; and, although many felt grieved that their favorite did not succeed, yet all are satisfied that we have a good ticket, and one to the support of which the whole party will rally, with a consciousness that it was honestly nominated.

The whigs had better attend to their own household, and not bother themselves about ours. Our domestic arrangements are in perfect order, and there is not the slightest doubt but that we will, throughout the campaign, act with the harmony that should characterize the intercourse of a band of brothers.

On our county nominations we are all united; on our national candidates there is not a dissenting voice raised in the party from one extreme of the Union to the other. We work together with the cheerful spirit of those who feel confident of victory, and with such a feeling we have no fear of failure in the struggle. We would again advise the Whigs to take care of their own household, (for it is sadly out of order,) and the first thing for them to do, is to explain and soften down a number of sanctimonious frauds and falsehoods, by which some of their candidates secured their nomination. If they do this honestly, the hope of many of them, who anticipate good fat offices after the October election, will never be realized.

SHOCKING MURDERS.

On Saturday night last, in Hollidaysburg, a man named Keast, stabbed Joseph Meloy in the heart, killing him instantly. The body of Meloy was removed to a house, after which an officer, accompanied by a number of men, went to Keast's house and arrested him. He was found in bed, the clothes besmeared with blood, and the bloody knife lying beside him. He was lodged in jail. The affair resulted from a previous misunderstanding.

Some three or four months ago, a shoemaker from New York, named John Robeson, located on M'Avoy's section of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at Kittanning Point, about five miles west of Hollidaysburg. Two weeks ago his wife died, and he immediately set about making preparations to go back to New York; but on Sunday night last, he was found brutally murdered in his bed. His little son also fell a victim. A man named Tracy, to whom Robeson had sold his shanties, and who was lodging in the house with him, was arrested on suspicion. It is supposed that Robeson was murdered for money, as he had about $400 in his possession. A strong train of circumstantial evidence tends to criminate Tracy as the murderer.

☞ The Ohio State Journal relates the following singular case:

A most singular case was detailed to us yesterday, of a man who had been suffering under a long fit of sickness, and who was at the time partially deranged, visiting a gambling house and winning some $205. It seems he went to bed at an early hour, and sometime during the night got up and went to a place where "faro" was being dealt. He bet $5 on a card, and then let it lay until he had won the above amount, when he took it up and returned to the hotel.—A friend called on him the next day to congratulate him upon his "luck," when he was informed by the person that he had no money—that he had visited no gambling house. He was told he had, and a search was immediately made for the money, which was afterwards found secreted in a centre table, which stood in the parlor, where the person no doubt had unconsciously placed it. He would not believe it, when he was told the money belonged to him, as he had not the remotest recollection of ever having it in his possession. The above is related as detailed to us, and if it is not correct, it is no fault of ours.

Great Men and a Great State.

We find the following in the National Intelligencer:

"The nomination of Gen. PIERCE, says the Boston Journal, has put into circulation some erroneous statements in regard to the birth place of some of our first men. As we have also fallen into an error in relation to this matter, we have taken some pains to ascertain the following facts: Gen. Lewis Cass was born in the town of Exeter, New Hampshire. Daniel Webster was born in the town now called Franklin, formerly Salisbury, in Merrimack county, New Hampshire. D. S. Dickinson, of New York, was born in Merrimack county, as well as John A. Dix.—Gen. Franklin Pierce is a native of Hillsboro', Hillsboro' county, and is a lineal descendant of the family of Percy's and the Duke of Northumberland, the title being now extinct. Judge Stephen A. Douglas, of Illinois, was also born in New Hampshire, but shortly after his birth his father removed to Vermont, where, as is well known, the representative of "Young America" learned a cabinet-maker's trade.

"New Hampshire is a great State to emigrate from; it will be a great State to live in when a more liberal policy is adopted in the administration of its affairs."

Water Drinking.

Prof. Silliman closed a recent Smithsonian lecture in Washington by giving the following sensible advice to a young man:

"If therefore you wish for a clear mind, strong muscles, and quiet nerves, and long life and power prolonged in old age, permit me to say, although I am not giving a temperance lecture, avoid all drinks but water, and mild infusions of that fluid; shun tobacco and opium, and everything else that disturbs the normal state of the system; rely upon nutritious food and mild diluted drinks of which water is the basis, and you will need nothing beyond these things except rest, and due moral regulation of all your powers, to give you long, happy and useful lives, and a serene evening at the close."

A LADY FRIGHTENED TO DEATH.—The Buckingham (Va.) Register states that Mrs. Dietrick, wife of Mr. Jacob Dietrick, residing near Mt. Crawford, in that county, was frightened to death a few weeks since. Her little daughter, for sport, threw a tree frog upon her lap, which commenced jumping up towards her face, and so frightened her that she died in two or three days.

No Family Should be without Them.

☞ We speak of M'Lane's Liver Pills, which have become an indispensable Family Medicine. The fruitful symptoms which arise from a diseased Liver, manifest themselves, more or less, in every family; dyspepsia, sick headache, obstruction of the menses, ague and fever, pains in the side, with dry, hacking cough, are all the results of hepatic derangement—and for these, Dr. M'Lane's Pills are a sovereign remedy. They have never been known to fail, and they should be kept at all times by families.

DIRECTIONS—Take two or three going to bed every second or third night. If they do not purge two or three times by next morning, take one or two more. A slight breakfast should invariably follow their use.

The Liver Pill may also be used where purging simply is necessary. As an anti-bilious purgative they are inferior to none. And, in doses of two or three, they give astonishing relief to sick headache; also, in slight derangements of the stomach.
