A Remarkable Incident.
The New Hampshire Patriot says "there have been many striking incidents connected with the nomination of Gen. Pierce for the Presidency, and among them, none more marked than that attending the action of the Committee appointed to 'write upon Gen. Pierce and inform him of his nomination.' Without concert and merely coincidentally, the Committee waited upon the General on the seventeenth day of June—just seven years after the battle of Banker Hill, in which Gen. Pierce, the father, then a private soldier, was one of the gallant heroes. The portrait of the brave old veteran, who served in the revolution from its commencement to its close, which hangs in the room in which the Committee was received, first called attention to the fact that the official order of the high honor which had been conferred upon the son was being given on that glorious day."

Disrupting a Party.
There was much excitement in Hillsdale county, Ky., at the late election, in consequence of the doing of an organized band of outlaws. During the session of the court at Clinton, on the 7th inst., a fraud was perpetrated by a man named Watson, a respectable citizen, and Willis Weather, alleged to be one of the gang, which resulted in the latter being shot dead. Watson, who was immediately tried and acquitted, had been arrested by the outlaws, and had been held and beaten and at another time it was said he tried to induce his brother to join the outlaws. After the death of Weather his wife was attacked and murdered by some of the outlaws. Several of the outlaws were taken into custody and a company of regulars was about to be formed to punish them.

Opinions of our Great Men on General Pierce.
A good many of our most distinguished men of both political parties, who have taken part in the nomination of Gen. Pierce, have been asked to express their opinions of the high honor which has been conferred upon the son, and what they have to say in regard to the nomination of the old general as a candidate for the Presidency of the United States.

HENRY CLAY'S OPINION OF GEN. PIERCE.
Hear the words of the dying statesman which were uttered by him on the morning of his death, and you will see how highly he valued the high honor which had been conferred upon the son, and what they have to say in regard to the nomination of the old general as a candidate for the Presidency of the United States.

GEN. JACKSON'S OPINION OF GEN. PIERCE.
You have a young man growing up in your country, the young Franklin Pierce, that will, before he is twenty years of age, be a man for the Republic, without the Demagogue.

MR. CALHOUN'S OPINION OF GEN. PIERCE.
John C. Calhoun was a man whose judgment was not less sound than his courage. His opinion was justly regarded by the American people as the greatest of the great. Judge Douglas has said that the highest praise which can be given to a man is to be called a Calhoun.

JAS. K. POLK'S OPINION OF GEN. PIERCE.
Mr. Howard, of Tenn., at a great ratification meeting held in Buffalo, related an incident which he said was the greatest of his life. He said that he had been called upon by the American people to give his opinion of the high honor which had been conferred upon the son, and what they have to say in regard to the nomination of the old general as a candidate for the Presidency of the United States.

GEN. SCOTT'S OPINION OF GEN. PIERCE.
I know that such anxiety and many trials attend the nomination of a candidate for the Presidency of the United States. It is a great honor, and it is a great responsibility. It is a great honor, and it is a great responsibility.

EX-PRES. TYLER'S OPINION OF GEN. PIERCE.
I must say, without disparagement, to my country, that I have seen no man in the country who has been made in the way that I have seen. I have seen no man in the country who has been made in the way that I have seen.
