Gen. Scorr's prospects are becoming "small by degrees and beautifully less," every day .--There never was a candidate who was so generally repudiated by his own party as Scott. Some of the most influential Whig presses in the Union oppose him, and many of them render him only a lukewarm support. The Boston Daily Advertiser, one of the leading Whig papers in New England, closes a long district. article carnestly appealing to the Whigs to support Gen. Scott with the following remarkable eclaration :----"We do not conceive the force of this reason-
