Baily Worning Post THURSDAY MORNING:

A Rich Scene. Quite a dramatic scene can off at the Mayor's office, yesterday afternoon It was occasioned by John Nugent, a shoemaker of this city, being arrested for surety of the posed to have been taken by a party of beggars peace and refusing to maintain his wife, both charges being made by that lady. John personated the "noble Roman" to perfection, and set Convention, which meets in this city on the 11th himself as a mark for the shafts of malice which of August, is to be held in Masonic Hall. were aimed at him by his better half, and which he repelled with burning eloquence; the proseoutrix looked like and personated the "lone and unprotected female" to admiration. The dialogue between these persons, however, was frequently broken by a perfect Judy O'Trot, who had ensconsed herself in one corner, and whose tongue, in its movements, approximated very near to perpetual motion. The husband was near to perpetual motion. The husband was night at ten o'clock, reaching New York at eight notent to make up the difficulty by paying his this moraing. She brings sixty passengers.
