BARKER AND THE GAZETTE.

It is now pretty evident that there is a secret employing his own hostler. collusion between the independent Whig candidate for the Sheriffalty and the editor of the Gasette. Brother White and his friend Barker are playing the game cunningly to defeat Mr. Magill, and to ensure it, Brother White has started on a trip to the Lakes, and left some "subordinate" to attend to the important duty of defeat ing Mr. Magill in his aspirations. The substitate is doing it beautifully, and we are of the opinion that when our neighbor comes home, he will have nothing more to do than to give another endorsement to his Whig friend Barker, and state the fact once more that he was an "original Taylorman," and a good Whig.
