The Presidential Election will take place on the Second day of November. A GLORIOUS VICTORY.

The Demogracy of Pennsylvania have good reason to feel proud of the glorious victory they pend the returns issued yesterday afternoon, in have just achieved over Galphin Whiggery-a victory that is altogether without a parallel in political warfare. The Whigs left not a stone customed activity—they poured out their money like water; but it was all of no avail. They made desperate efforts to defeat Woodward and Horares, the Democratic candidates for Judge and Canal Commissioner, so as to produce an effeet upon the Presidential election. The most villainous slanders were fabricated, and industriously directated against Judge Woodward: and even the sanctity of his domestic hearth was invaded by the hyenes of an unscrupulous party, to defeat his election. That political mounteban and reckless renegade, W. F. Johnston, belched forth his venomous abuse against Judge Wood-WARD; but the result clearly shows that he only injured the Whig cause. His libels were so gross -his abuse so scandalous-his falsehoods so transparent, that they re-noted with terrible efthat if Jounston had stumped the whole State, am the Democratic majority would have been from SICK COONS. We never in our lives saw so many sick coon as were crawling round the city on Tuesday night and yesterday morning. The eight was really distressing! Many of them looked as i they were searching for that Hospital which The Democracy dosed the animals effectually on Tuesday, but we shall give them double doses at the Presidential election! FOR WHAT DETAINED US .- As we left Carrolton, a heavy fog spread over the river. The far ther we advanced, the more dense it became, but Capt. We had been out, probably three quarters of an hour, when the Captain discover ed a light shead. It being extremely dangerou to proceed any further, he determined to lay to.

As the boat approached the shore, the wharf

"Carrolton," was the reply, and sure enough, in the total darkness of the fog our boat had turned her nose the other way, and was going in the wrong direction. As aggravating as the delay must have been to those who were here waiting Scott's arrival, they certainly could not expect our "bully boat with a bully crew," to run through that fog.
