We would write a longer appeal, but in reading it you might be kept away from the field of action .-Now, go right straight to the polls, and return not to your homes until the triumphant shouts of the victorous Democracy make every street and alley of the city vocal with heart-thrilling melody! RISHMEN BEWARE OF THE TRICK OF THE WHIGS TO-DAY. Yesterday we had handed to us a handbi which the whige are circulating in Cambria and ther counties, with a head in large letters, "To the Irish naturalized voters of Pennsylvania." The scoundrels who got up the bill, then go on to charge the democratic party with an intention to restrict their present privileges, and to debar them of every "pestige of political rights, if not even to exterpate you from the blessed soil of America, which you have so long claimed as your own." They go on to say that the demogratic candidate has always voted IN FAVOR OF DISABILITIES ON ONE RELIGIOUS SECT of our countrymen on the other a gallant general, known to be favorable to our religion, and to the utmost facility in the admission to citizenship. The Meeting on Saturday Night. Probably the largest political meeting held in our city this seas on Saturday evening, to hear Col. S. W. BLACK, and Col. Snowner. The latter gentleman had often addressed the Democracy of Eric, but this was the first time Col. BLACK had been appounced to speak here, and hence, as his fame as ar . 3796 3615 3676 3740 3915 4042 orator and a brave and gallant soldier had pre-1999 794 1974 813 2182 1040 coded him, there was a general anxiety to see and hear the leader of the gallant 2nd at Cerro Gordo and Puebla. When the Colonel took the stand, therefore, he was greeted with the enthusinstic welcome the Democracy of Erie know so sinstic welcome the Democracy of Eric know so well how to give—and right eloquently. did he respond to the greeting. We had heard the Col. on the stump before, but his speech on Saturday on the stump before, but his speech on Saturday alight was far superior to any of his previous of the Saturday forts. We will not try to repeat which we will say that from the opening to the close, while he awarded to General Scott all the praise and gratical warded to General Scott all the praise and gratical warded to General Scott all the praise and gratical warded to General Scott all the praise and gratical warded to General Scott all the praise and gratical warded to General Scott all the praise and gratical warded to General Scott all the praise and gratical warded to General Scott all the praise and gratical warded to General Scott all the praise and gratical warded to General Scott all the praise and gratical warded to General Scott all the praise and Scott M. J. at the office of the Treasurer, No. 92 in the Scott of the Sco while he treated our opponents with that courtesy always to be observed between citizens and oracy and their candidates from the foul asmorracy and their candidates from the four aspectations of the political scavengers—the "vermin," as he indignantly called them—who, to the disgraces of the respectable portion of the Whig party, continue to assail the private and wing party, continue to accept Being himself military character of Gen. Pierce! Being himself n soldier, one who, like Pierce, volu his country's call, and nobly vindicated his athis country's call, and nobly vindicated his ac-tachment and his courage upon the well-fought fields of Mexico, he could appreciate the injus-tice these men—if they may be called so—had done to Gen. Pierce, hence while he was eloquent in his vindications of the man of the people, he was withering, cutting and severe in his denun-ciation. From the documents and from history -documents and history, too, written by Gen. Scott and his biographer—he proved and pasted upon the foreheads of the Walker's and the Kelupon the foreheads of the Walker's and the Kelso's of the Whig party their falsehoods and their calumnies. We know Walker has attempted since to break the force of the Colonel's thunder by garbling the records, but as was well remarked by a Whig, after hearing him, he must have thought his hearers fools, or he is a fool himself—for every one could see the transparent humburg of his whole effort. When the Colonel concluded, the meeting adjourned with three cheers.
