"I am glad to hear from you again, and t learn: that you are all well, and that your teams, sequences of his frauds, but the prompt correc and tools are ready for spring's work, whenever the weather will allow you to begin. I some times real books on farming; and I remember that a very sensible old author advises farmers to plow naked and to sow naked. By this he means that there is no use in beginning spring's a part of the truth. vork till the weather is warm, that a farm throw aside his winter clothes and roll up his sleeves. Yet he says we ought to begin as early in the year as possible. He wrat pretty verses on this subject, which, as far as remember, run thus:

Muther, run thus: ""While yet the spring is young, while earth unbinds The frozen tosom to the western winds; While mountain snows dissolve against the sun. And streams, yet new, from precipies run— Fron in this surly dawning of the year, Produce the plow, and yoke the starty steer And goal him till he whole beneath his toll. And the bright share is builed in the soil."

John Taylor, when you read these lines, d you not see the snow melting, and the little streams beginning to ran down the southern slopes of your Punch-brook pasture, and the new grass starting and growing in the trickling water, all green, bright and beautiful I and do you not see your Darham oxen smoking from heat and perspiration as they draw along your great breaking up plough, cutting and turning over the tough sward in your meadow in the great field? Buys: THE FRAUDS. If the Dispatch and the Ohrmick suppose that we incline, despite our words " to wink at election frands," they mis-take. We confess to being taken by surprise, by the arrests, and the alloged distionary and discoveries. But with the development: that there has been a regular complexey, econdrols employed as sheal pievons, to culice some boy or easy adult White, into offering them illegal maturalizations papers, and then turn informers to berroy their confidentia, our exercision of the entime is very considerably diluted.-And we repeat that the attempt to fasten upon the White party these errors of individuals, is folish and unwarrant-able. It is worth while too, to inquire how its these dirty coundrols, who after tempiding to crims, betray their con-federated, have some within this reach of law, as participa-tors in the procurement of false papers, or voters in fraud of the naturalization have. We would have no howels far such follows, whilst we would offer no defence for deliberate infractions of the laws relative to cleations.
