THE NEW MAYOR ted into office yesterday. His speech was a neat one, and such as would please his friends. In the language of a legal friend, who appears on the stage occasionally, "we have no hesitation in saying," that he is a whig Mayor, elected under many difficulties, and worthy of the office, considering the party from which he

His nomination was opposed by the editors of the American and the Gazette. He had to go it alone, and he beat both of them. After the acmination, he had not only to encounter the opposition of these insidious friends, but the well organized opposition of his democratic competitor for the office. We admit that we labored hard to defeat him, but, so far as we are concerned, we are unconscious of having said any thing that could be considered personally offensive. We treated him as a politician and a political candidate, and in this character we referred to him throughout the contest. But, he was elected, and we must be satisfied with "Hobson's choice." We cannot do anything better, and we will bear the ills we have for one short year. man as his party could have brought out for the Gazette to the contrary, notwithstanding. There his Honor, Mayor Melson and the City Council were in waiting, and where the ceremonies of s formal reception took place.

After a brilliant overture had been performed by Captain Holland's Band, of Baltimore, says. the Intelligencer, his Honor Mayor Nelson, addressed to the distinguished President of the Company, Thomas Swann, Esq., bidding him and the gentlemen he represented welcome in the name and behalf of the citizens of Wheeling. He tendered his hearty congratulations on the completion of the great work, rendered a deserved tribute to the skill and energy of the President, the Directors and Engineers of the Company, and referred in eloquent terms of the great social and national blessings conferred by this and similar triumphs of art.

Mr. Swann responded in an appropriate and eloquent manner, eliciting enthusiastic cheers. Governor Johnson was then introduced to the audience, and spoke a great deal in a few words in relation to the interesting topics of the
