The Chronicle, in its issue of Saturday, kes occasion to assault the senior editor of this aper, in his absence, by a column of billingsnte, which is enough to shock the sensibilities f any man who has the slightest regard for deency or the amenities of social life. We blush for the press, when it can prostitute its columns with such vulgarity and falsehood. The course which Mr. Harper always adopted towards that Swiss sheet was to pass it by with silent indifference. We depart from that commendable course now, in order to let the public know that there are motives which prompt the Chronicle to assail our esteemed friend and partner, which it had een better for the editor, who is sponsor for its blackguardism, not to have drawn out.

Mr. Harper, as it is well known, is an appliant for the office of Post Master, of this city. n addition to the overwhelming testimonials in his favor, politically and socially, he holds a letter of recommendation addressed to the President, signed by nearly every printer in Pittsburgh, estifying to his excellent business qualities, and his uprightness as an employer, and a citizen. They know him! The extent of their influence ve will not discuss. If we mistake not, the editor of the Chronicle was touched in a tender point when he learnt that such a paper was voluntarily given to Mr. Harper. It is unnecessary to remind him that, when he, the Ohronicle editor, was an applicant for an office from the State adinistration, these same printers of Pittsburgh, monstrated against it, believing him to be unworthy to hold any public office, for they knew him well. The sequel was, a refusal of his application by the Governmen.
