THE RAILBOAD MURDER. To the exclusion of much other interesting matter, we yield our columns to-day to the publication of a full account of the heartrending catastrophe on the New Haven Bailroad. No person can read the details of this terrible slaughter of human life, without being shocked at the cruel, heartless and criminal neglect of the engineers and conductors on the train. Will these things have an end? That is a question for the public to settle. . We are rejoiced to notice that the Legislature of Connecticut, on Saturday, appointed a special committee to investigate the causes of this disaster. The committee consists of Senator Hyatt, Dr. Beckwith, Mr. Bissell and Mr. Halsoy. They are instructed to repair at once to the scene of disaster, to collect facts, and report officially. A bill was also introduced, imposing a fine of
