Some of the whig presses, in various parts of the country, have commenced assailing the Foreign Appointments made by the Administration of Gen. PIERCE, with their characteristic bitterness and unfairness. This was to be expected ; for although most of the whig editors professed to be pleased with the tone and sentiments of the President's Inaugural Address, yet no one supposed that they would approve of the acts of the Executive. 6 These whig editors appear to be very appre hensive that some of the recently oppointed foreign ministers will involve the United States in a war with other powers! Could snything be more absurd than this ? . No one but a madman would, unthinkingly, desire to produce difficulties with foreign powers. The Democracy have as great an interest in cultivating friendly relations with other countries as the whigs possibly can have. No man, therefore, who has received a foreign appointment from the present adminis
