DEMOCRATIC County Committee of Correspondence.

The following gentlemen constitute the Democratic County Committee of Correspondence for the ensuing year:

David Campbell,	A. R. McMahon,	James Blackmore,
James A. Dunlevy,	H'y McCullough,	D. W. Bose,
John H. Phillips,	John Layton,	John C. Dunn,
Thos. J. Keenan,	T. S. Bowley,	Geo. K. Gilmore,
R. H. Kerr,	D. A. Williams,	John A. Parkinson,
William Bennett,	John S. Kennedy,	John Barnes,
Alex. Black,	John Birmingham,	Wm. J. Anderson,
James A. Irwin,	Geo. Hartje,	John Roth.

The Committee are requested to meet at the St. CHARLES HOTEL, on WEDNESDAY, 21st inst., at 11 o'clock, A. M.

TO THE LEGAL PROFESSION.

We would remind our friends "learned in the law," that there is no office in Pittsburgh better prepared to print Paper Books, or any other legal documents, than the Post. We have an accomplished corps of job printers, and we invite the patronage of all who have such work to do.

STATE FAIR.

The list of "entries" to the State Fair is very large, we understand; and it bids fair to be the best thing of the kind that has yet taken place in our State. A very large number of strangers has already arrived; and, should the weather continue fine, our city will probably be more crowded than it has ever been before. The Hotels will be full to overflowing, before half the people from abroad are provided with lodgings. The hospitality of our citizens will be put to the test, and we presume our city will lose no credit in that respect.

We did our best to induce the City Fathers and Street Commissioners to make a little effort to clean the streets—some of the principal ones at least. But there is no public spirit to which to appeal in a matter of that kind. Our streets are very dirty, and the character of Pittsburgh as a dirty city is likely to be well sustained on this occasion. We do not believe there is another city in the Union where an effort would not have been made to improve appearances for such an occasion. Dry goods boxes, crates, barrels, &c., will be abundant on the pavements; in violation of law and public convenience; and our Mayor will reserve himself for the mighty task of "smashing" the beer shops in the vicinity of the exhibition. That is all very well, Mr. Mayor; but why did you not say a word about the dry goods boxes in your very appropriate proclamation?

THE GAZETTE.

Well, the Gazette backs out of the controversy, with an angry snarl at his shameful defeat. We would have let him off a little easier had he shown a decent regard for truth. But a deliberate falsehood we detest; and we are glad we have induced the Gazette to admit his guilt, even though he tells another at the same time. Nothing of the kind alleged has appeared in our editorial columns, and the Gazette while alleging it, knows it is false. We will let him off this time, however. We have better employment for the present than exposing harmless falsehoods. We presume the Gazette will be in no hurry to attack us again.

"Let the galled jade wince, our withers are unwrung."

And now for the State Fair, the political campaign, the news and all matters of public interest; until knaves assail us again with falsehood.

THE STATE FAIR.

We have made arrangements to have a full corps of reporters during the Fair, and all matters of interest will be noticed in detail. We will spare neither money or labor in making our reports as full as possible, and we invite citizens and strangers to call at our office every morning and get the "news." Our reports cannot fail to be interesting, and all who feel an interest in the Fair, should have a copy of the Post every morning.

Our business men are preparing to accommodate all who visit the Fair with a choice selection of Goods. The most popular Houses will be found advertised in the Morning Post. We will vouch for all of them, and we can assure strangers and the public in general that they will get good bargains at their stores.

We have no doubt that our merchants will act liberally with our visiters on this occasion and sustain the good name they have always enjoyed.

HON. LINN BOYD.—We tender our thanks to the above named gentleman, late Speaker of the House of Representatives, for valuable public documents; one a large bound volume, being a communication from the Secretary of the Treasury to the House, transmitting therewith "Andrews' Report on Colonial and Lake Trade for 1852," showing the extent of the trade of the British North American Colonies, and the value of the Commerce on our northern Lakes. The other is the Obituary Adresses on the occasion of the death of Henry Clay, published by order of the Senate and House of Representatives, with a lithographed likeness of the great Kentucky Statesman.

☞ The Chronicle refuses to translate its Irish Hebrew. If the editor would condescend to put it into English, he would be awarded a premium as being the best Jakey in the country. Give us a translation of those two words of Irish Hebrew, and we have no doubt but somebody will endeavor to get you a premium at the Fair for "chaste language."

GRAHAM'S MAGAZINE.—We have received the October number of this excellent magazine, now one of the best published in this country. "The Rhine and its Scenery," "The Valleys and great Levels of the Earth," are the titles of two interesting articles in this number. The illustrations are fine.

For sale at the Literary Depots.

☞ Hon. JOSEPH BAILEY, late Senator from Cumberland and Perry counties, arrived in our city yesterday; and is stopping at the St. Charles Hotel. The General is one of those reliable democrats that the people of this State will yet delight to honor.

THE CANAL COMMISSIONERS.

In the last Harrisburgh Union we find an able article in relation to the charges lately made against the Canal Commissioners, on account of the lettings of contracts on the Portage Railroad. We regret that its length is too great for our space at present. We will publish it entire in a few days. It is signed by Thomas L. Wilson, Secretary of the Board of Canal Commissioners, and gives facts and figures, showing conclusively that the charges which have been made against those public officers have no foundation in truth.

Mr. Merriman, of Crawford county, is the author of these charges; and is an old and experienced contractor on such works. He bid on fourteen sections, and of course exercised his best judgment as to the value of the work on those sections. His lowest bids amounted to $46,655 above the prices at which these sections were let.

The State then has saved over forty six thousand dollars by rejecting his bids; and hence his wrath, and attempted vengeance on the Canal Commissioners.

Before the lettings, able and experienced engineers furnished estimates of the value of all the work to be done. It is known that the cost of such work generally exceeds the estimates of the engineers. Yet, in this instance, the whole work has been let at an aggregate of about seventy-thousand dollars less than the estimate of the engineers. All the work has been let at lower prices than the work on the Central road, which runs parallel with the Portage; and is of course managed by a private corporation having its own interest in view.

The work is not always let to the lowest bidder. It is let to the lowest real and good bidder, who has experience and means to carry on the work. If a bid is made for a section, which is known to be far below the actual value of the work, and is accepted, the contractor soon finds out his mistake, and abandons his contract. It has then to be re-let at far higher rates; thus costing the State far more money than if a reasonable bid had been taken at first.

The contractors give no bonds; and there are no available ways of recovering damages for abandoning contracts.

That the Canal Commissioners exercised their discretionary power in such cases in a way to serve the public interests, and in good faith, is attested by the following extract from the report of the investigating committee of the last legislature.

The committee say:

That they have given to the charges which implicated the official conduct of the Board of Canal Commissioners of the allotment of the work on said road all the consideration to which their importance demanded. The result of the investigation has convinced your committee that the conduct of these officers has been governed by a proper sense of their public duties, and that the charge of corruption so freely urged against them before the appointment of the committee, is without even the shadow of a foundation. Every fact that was given to those who made the charge to prove its truth, but they utterly failed to produce any evidence which, in the most remote degree, reflected on the integrity of the Canal Board.

In the allotment of large quantities of work, many individuals must of necessity be disappointed, and, as is too often the case, are very much disposed to give vent to that disappointment in attempts to criminate the officers who have had the dispensation of the patronage.

These crimination are publicly thrown out for the mere purpose of abusing the public mind, and to bring unjust odium on agents who have faithfully performed their duties to the people. That this has been the case in many instances, the records of the Legislature will afford abundant proof; and it appears to your committee that the cause which produced the present investigation is another evidence of that fact.

This report was signed by a majority of the committee. Mr. Merriman was a member of the committee, and, being the author of the charges, of course refused to sign the report.

The public may rest assured that these charges, after having been fully investigated, and pronounced false, are only reiterated now for a political purpose. The whigs are now driven to extremeties, or they would not resort to such tricks.

THE NEWS.

The amount of the school fund of the State of Wisconsin, and the value of the land appropriated to schools and colleges is estimated at a little less than ten million dollars. The interest of this entire fund is to be forever applied to educational purposes.

There are now 264 white convicts in the Virginia Penitentiary, and not one white female.

Good mechanics in different branches of business are wanted at Memphis, particularly brick masons. Work already contracted for is not progressing for want of bricklayers.

The Boston Traveler states there never was a time when artizans had such full employment, and at such good wages as at the present time in that city.

Bancroft will publish the 6th volume of his history of the United States in October.

More Mexican troops are daily arriving on the Rio Grande. The American troops in Texas are rapidly concentrating on the same point.

Hon. Edward Everett, late Secretary of State, has published a long and very able letter in reply to the late letter of Lord John Russell in relation to the Island of Cuba. He shows very clearly that the United States have far more interest in the ownership of the island of Cuba than England or any other European nation except Spain, and that if it can be purchased from Spain by the United States, England has no right to object.

Last year the House of Representatives of Vermont stood, Whigs 100; Democrats 58, Free Soilers 30. This year, Whigs 92, Democrats 92 Free Soilers 20. Senate 15 whigs, 13 democrats and free soil, one tie and one doubtful. Last year 20 whigs and 10 democrats.

Hon. John Y. Mason, it is said, has been, or will be appointed Minister to France.

The gold region on the Candiere river in Canada is said to be producing from $10 to $12 per day for every digger.

A Cincinnati paper advises the police to look out for pick-pockets at the State Fair. We would advise our police to look to the same matter; and our citizens and strangers too.

It is thought that the newly elected legislature of Vermont will be opposed to the Maine liquor law.

It is said that Santa Anna has organized an army of 50,000 men; the best army that Mexico has ever had. It is thought that wealthy Spaniards have assisted materially in supplying the means. Our readers will see from the accounts we publish in regard to Mexico, that very little reliable information can be obtained from that country. The reports are conflicting, and the movements of Santa Anna uncertain. His unfriendly feelings towards this country are well known; but his incapacity for serious mischief is equally certain. "Manifest destiny" will be fulfilled. Santa Anna's policy cannot retard, but may hasten it.

The receipts of the Pennsylvania Railroad from January to August inclusive, show an increase over last of six hundred thousand dollars.

The fever is abating at Mobile.

Another lot of counterfeiters have been arrested in Ohio, and the gang broken up.

The employers are yielding to the demands of the operatives, and the price of labor has risen all over England. The people have learned their power and rights, and "starvation wages" will no longer do.

HON. THOS. M. HOWE.—We are indebted to this gentleman for the Report of the Secretary of the Treasury on Commerce and Navigation for 1852.

OUR TICKET.

We feel proud of our Ticket. It is one of which the people are proud. There is not a man upon it, who is not well known to and highly esteemed by the honest voters. It is the ticket that will be elected, and we are confident that the welfare of the people will be subserved by its triumph. There is not a man upon it, who is not worthy of the full confidence of the people, and will not discharge the duties of his office faithfully and honestly. We point to every man of them, and defy a comparison.

But look to the whig ticket. Who are in favor of it? We cannot tell. Even the organs of the party are silent as to its merits. The street corners are made vocal by the denunciations uttered against the whig ticket by its party friends, and yet the Journal, Gazette and American are silent on the subject, and will not breathe a word in defence of the men they have duped into a nomination!

What is the whig party coming to? We would not be surprised if all their candidates would resign before the election.

Items of News and Miscellany.

The Hungarians in New York have addressed a letter to Capt Ingrabam, thanking him for the energy, magnanimity, and heroism evinced in his defence of the rights of Martin Kosta at Smyrna.

Seventy-five of the unlicensed rum sellers of the sixth ward, in New York, were arrested on Wednesday on warrants from the Court of General Sessions. The prisoners pleaded guilty, and were summoned to appear again in court to-day, to receive sentence. One hundred and sixty-one yet remain to be arrested in the same ward.

"Bloomers" is a name which the New York Journal of Commerce gives to the ladies' long dresses which sweep the sidewalks of the city, vs. the "Bloomers" worn by those ladies who put on short frocks and pantaloons. It is said that several fashionable ladies have undertaken to sweep the sidewalks of Broadway with the trains of expensive dresses.

In the Rhode Island legislature, now in session at Newport, a select committee has been instructed to report a bill to secure the lives of railroad passengers. Gov. Allen's resignation having been accepted, the lieutenant-governor is now acting governor.

A colored man who undertook to get a living from the land which Gerrit Smith gives away in northern New York, says the bumblebees had to go down on der knees to get at de clover.

It is stated that Messrs. E. Webb, Maxcy & Co., merchants of Louisville, in behalf of Teeters, Maxcy & Co., pork packers, have closed a contract to slaughter and pack some 100,000 or 12,000 hogs, chiefly for the English market.

The Philadelphia papers record a desperate riot on Thursday morning, between the Spring Garden Hose and Western Engine companies, which resulted in a man named John Baker being seriously, if not fatally, and Chas. Shaffer slightly wounded.

A few days ago a serious riot occurred on the Pacific Railroad, at Franklin, Mo., during which Thos. Cox, one of the rioters who were assaulting a house was shot dead on the spot, and another of the party, named Andy Nolan, was badly wounded. The rest immediately fled. Liquor was the cause of the riot.

Ohio State Fair.

A very intelligent gentleman of this vicinity, in whose judgment we repose the greatest confidence, gives us the following items about the State Fair at Dayton, of which he has been a careful and scrutinising observer:

The show of horses was very good—decidedly the best feature of the exhibition. Most of these were blooded. The display of stallions was especially fine. The entries of hogs were rather slim. Cattle very good—mainly blooded; few working or fat cattle worth noticing. Sheep hardly middling. Dairy very much behind hand—hardly surpassing our county Fair. Mechanical implements, neither numerous nor wonderful, the hall being not more than half filled. Neither fruits nor flowers worthy of praise—peaches, poor; apples, tolerable; pears and plums, very fair, but mostly from Rochester and Syracuse, New York. Array of vegetables pretty good—the most notable being from Franklin county. Poultry, reasonably good, but hardly up to the expectation. Fine arts, pitifully small—but one ameo. The best decorative work was put upon the carriages, which came out very strong.

The contributions from Cincinnati were not quite as numerous as might have been looked for, considering the facilities for transport. This unexpected slackness, one would attribute, to a feeling on the part of the Cincinnati Horticultural Society, which is very silly and reprehensible.

The arrangements of the Fair were commodious, and, on the whole, as good as the location would warrant. The accommodations for visitors were neither abundant nor liberal. The population of the city and the great size of the throng (numbering from eighty to a hundred thousand) should, however, be taken into account.

The receipts, up to the morning of the 22d, were $10,000. Those of the Cleveland Fair up to the same period were $9,300. It was thought that they would surpass those of any previous similar occasion.

The next Fair, it is thought, will be held in Zanesville or Chillicothe.

Important Financial Arrangement.

Mr. Haupt, consulting engineer of the Southern railroad, the Philadelphia American says, has effected arrangements with an influential and responsible company to dispose of bonds to the extent of one million one hundred two thousand dollars, and to grade, track, equip and put in operation the whole line of the Southern Railroad across the State of Mississippi in two years. The contract was finally executed on the 20th inst. This arrangement also secures the early completion of the link across the State of Alabama, between Montgomery and the Mississippi state line, a part of which is now under contract. East of Montgomery the chain is complete, and in operation to Charleston, Savannah and the northern cities. West of Vicksburg the extension of the road has been provided for by appropriations made by the Louisiana Legislature and by private and municipal subscriptions as far as the Texas line. Through Texas to the Rocky Mountains a grant of land has been given, sufficient to build the road, and only six hundred miles remain to be provided for to complete a continuous railroad to the Pacific ocean.—Balt. Sun.

SALE OF ROBESPIERRE'S GUILLOTINE.—Among the items of the late French news there is one which will be highly interesting to all of our readers. Among a parcel of old government lumber recently ordered to be sold in addition to the highest bidder in Paris, was the identical guillotine of the horrible Reign of Terror, and the basket belonging to it, into which the heads of its victims—from ten to a hundred per day—dropped, under the bloody system of Robespierre, including the head of that heartless butcher himself. This terrible machine, frame-work, sliding-knife, and basket, certified by a government officer, were sold at public auction before an immense crowd of spectators, for fifty francs; and directly after the articles were committed to a bonfire, amid the cheers of the people. The guillotine of Robespierre, preserved among the relics of the first French revolution for more than half a century, and then sold at fifty francs!

REDUCTION OF THE TARIFF.—Secretary Guthrie has issued a circular in which he says that in consequence of the anticipated increase of money in circulation, the ensuing Congress will probably reduce the present tariff. He therefore asks for information of the working of the present rates of duty upon the leading branches of industry of the country, and of the effect to be expected from the proposed modification. He thinks that the reductions, if any shall be made, should be so arranged as to afford an equal participation in the benefit to every interest and to every section. Articles which enter into our manufactures and those which do not come into competition with American products are those, he says, about which there will doubtless be the least question. He also proposes to abridge the labors of the custom-house by adding to the free list articles of general consumption and articles paying little duty.—Balt. Sun.

MISSOURI TOBACCO CROP.—The Howard county Banner says:

The prevailing opinion in this part of the State is that the growing crop will be much under an average. The continued dry weather of the last four weeks precludes the possibility of a fair crop. We have taken some pains to gain correct information on this subject. The crop has been represented to us as not exceeding two thirds of the usual amount, and will not come up to that unless the season for cutting shall be such as to enable growers to secure the entire crop.

AGRICULTURAL PARAGRAPHS.

SELECTING SEED CORN.—If not too late, by the cutting up of the crop, farmers will find it greatly promotive of future crops, to go through their fields of standing corn, and select from the strongest stalks, the largest and earliest ripened ears, and if possible, where two ears are upon a stalk. These ears should be husked, leaving a portion of the husks on by which to tie them together in pairs, and then hang them up in a dry, airy place, for next year's planting. By this course, they will not only have seed that will be sure to vegetate, but that will produce the best crop, and from two to three weeks earlier than usual, thus freeing it from all danger of frost.

In our limited experience, we have observed a most unaccountable carelessness among some farmers in saving seed corn, as well as other grain for sowing; and hence have not wondered at the miserable crops frequently seen upon their premises. Good seed, fair manuring, and thorough tillage, will always insure a fruitful crop, unless the elements should be arrayed against them.

APPLES.—Select the very best and fairest fruit, picking it from the boughs by hand. Into a barrel, say a common flour barrel, pour two quarts of kiln dried, hard wood saw dust; spread it evenly over the bottom of the barrel, and by hand, place in your apples, one at a time, but not so near as to touch each other. Fill in the spaces with dust, and cover the whole layer one inch deep, with the same. Proceed in this till the barrel is filled, and head up air tight. Pulverised charcoal mixed with the saw dust, in the proportion of one bushel to one bushel of the latter, is preferable for this purpose to clean dust. Apples may be kept two years in this way, if placed in a cellar of mild and even temperature.

PEARS.—In packing eggs, place them on the little ends, on a stratum of finely pulverised charcoal, and fill in around them, in the layers with the same. Over the first layer, when packed, spread an inch of the coal dust, and then another layer of eggs. Proceed in this way till your jar or box is filled, and cover. Boxes or jars in which eggs are packed, should be made air tight. This method, if the eggs are fresh, will ensure their preservation for years, provided they be re-packed once every month, and the position of the eggs reversed.

THE BEST FOR SEED.—Always endeavor to select your best seeds, vegetables and animals to propogate from. If you have a poor and unproductive kind of corn, loose no time in exchangingit for a better. The maxim that "like produces like" applies no less pertinently to the productions of the vegetable than to those of the animal kingdom. A diminutive or mal-formed individual is almost certain to produce progeny that exhibits an improvement of the parental defects;—perfect and well-formed offspring seldom, if ever, producing from diseased or deformed parents, or a vigorous, well-developed and valuable crop from imperfect seed. This is a matter of vital importance to the husbandman, and one which he should attend to with the greatest circumspection and care.

PUMPKINS.—The most effectual method of preserving pumpkins, during the winter, is to select the largest and most perfectly matured, and having deposited a stratum of dry straw on a close floor, place them thereon—not so near as to touch each other, and cover them carefully with straw, taking especial care to fill in the interstices, or space between the pumpkins, till the receptacle is filled, or till you have laid by as large a quantity as your inclinations or necessities require.

COMPOST HEAPS.—Gather materials for compost at all seasons. There is nothing that has grown or been energised by the fertilizing principle of vegetability which is not ultimately pacified in its decay and resolution, to afford nutriment to living plants. There is always, in decaying matter, some principle which may be rendered available in the reproduction of life,—some energy, which, if we avail ourselves of it, will assist in the development of vegetable life.

SHADE TREES.—Whenever and wherever an opportunity for so doing presents itself, set out a shade tree. The appearance of many mansions, and the actual value of them as summer residences, would be greatly increased by a few trees. The products of our forests are preferable, for this purpose, to foreign varieties, as they are more hardy, and equally beautiful in appearance; besides, they are much cheaper. The elm, oak, maple, silver fir, ash, and a variety of other trees are suitable for this purpose.

Important Arrests at Cincinnati.

A few days ago two men, named M'Cammon and Knight, were arrested at a house in Cincinnati, where, it is alleged, they were engaged in cutting up bank bills, some $10,000 of which were found on the premises. Subsequently they were released upon an asseveration made by McCammon that the money was genuine, and his showing a certificate of agency for the same—on the day following the Cincinnati Tribune, a consultation with several city bankers, and a reference to the various counterfeit detectors, brought to light that the money was fraudulent. McCammon is a broker, and publisher of Goodman's Counterfeit Detector, in which, it is said, the notes of the Farmers' Bank of Virginia, lately flourished in the District of Columbia are generally quoted at a mere nominal discount.—The notes said to be found in the house where they were arrested purported to be on the Lafayette Bank of Georgetown, D. C., a fraudulent concern. The parties were therefore arrested a second time, on the charge of making and publishing said notes, and held to bail, in the sum of $3,000 each, for a further hearing. The Cincinnati Commercial alleges that the cashier's signature was signed to the first batch of these notes that were issued by a youth now in England, and stamped in red ink across the face "payable at No. 43 West Third street." All money bearing the above imprint was promptly cashed at the office, and confidence in the bank was thus established. This being accomplished, another issue was made, without the stamp, and the money was invariably rejected when presented for payment. In this way the innocent holders were fleeced.

☞ The Boston Daily Advertiser, in publishing Mr. Everett's letter to Lord Russell, says:

"It will be regarded, no doubt as a pertinent to the occasion, although the writer of it is no longer in an official station. So far as the subject under discussion is strictly a diplomatic question, the reasoning of Lord John will doubtless be replied to from an official source. But as far as it relates to the propriety and mode of treating the subject under consideration, it has become in a great measure a personal question, and it naturally devolves on the author of the original letter to defend the views presented in it against the comments that have been made upon them. Such a course we conceive cannot be regarded by the secretary of state as an encroachment upon his official duties, nor will any one regard the public discussion of the particular topics of this letter, as any interference with the regular disposition of the pending public questions, by the official parties with whom they are entrusted."

RICH INDEED.—The best joke of the season, says the Harrisburg Union, is the Whigs upon Mr. Brawley, the democratic candidate for Surveyor General, accusing him of intemperance, and recommending the people to vote for Judge Meyers as a temperance man! Why every body in Harrisburg knows that Judge Meyers was always as great an admirer of the ardent as any member of the Legislature, during the three sessions of his attendance here. It will not do, therefore, to attempt to play this game. The trick is too transparent: the people see through it, and are not to be humbugged in this way.—Fulton Democrat.

FROM AUSTRALIA.—Bark Elizabeth arrived at St. John, N. B., bringing Melbourne papers to June 15, a few days later. The markets at Sydney were declining, in consequence of large importations. A correspondent of the Melbourne Argus, writing from Sydney, under date of June 7th, says that the price of flour was on the decline. Fine American could be purchased at 30s per barrel, or equivalent to £13 per ton. On the 6th, 7000 barrels flour arrived, and on the following day 2000 barrels from San Francisco.

☞ Medical Testimony cannot be Controverted.—One of the most startling cases is narrated of Dr. M'Lane's Vermifuge by Dr. John Butler, of Lowell, Trumbull Co., Ohio. The case was that of a young lady who had been sick for eight years, and had consulted a number of physicians, who had treated it as one of Prolapsus Uteri. Dr. Butler was then called in, and for a time believed with his predecessors that it was a case of Prolapsus. He however, was soon forced to the conclusion that his patient was suffering from worms, and after much persuasion, prevailed upon her to take two doses of M'Lane's Vermifuge.—This medicine had the effect of removing from her a countless number of the largest size. After she passed them, her health immediately returned. She is since married, and continues to enjoy good health.

Purchasers will be careful to ask for Dr. M'Lane's celebrated Vermifuge, and take none else. All other Vermifuges, in comparison, are worthless. Dr. M'Lane's genuine Vermifuge, also his celebrated Liver Pills, can now be had at all respectable Drug Stores in the United States, and from the sole proprietors. FLEMING BROTHERS,

TRUSSES!

DR. N. W. HUBBARD'S TRUSS for the radical cure of Hernia or Rupture possesses a combination of advantages not possessed by any other Truss. It can be adapted to the shape of any person, so as to fit perfectly. The position of the pad can be changed, so as to suit the corpulent or spare. The pressure may be varied, at pleasure, to any desired extent.

The pad is applied directly over, and in the direction of the Inguinal Canal, whether the rupture has gone down and became large, or not. The pad having a size and shape in conformity with the Anatomy of the Parts, not so wide as to bear too hard upon the firm ligaments and muscles each side of Canal, or upon the Bone below. The Pad drops in a little depth, directly over the Inguinal Region, with a light pressure, because it strikes none of the hard, resisting parts surrounding. This gives it a perfect steadiness, so that if it properly applied, it will not slip from its place a hair's breadth.

The Truss possesses malleability, and sufficient weight and strength to maintain the position in which it is left, with just sufficient elasticity for its application. When it is applied with any actual pressure of any kind, it will exercise a retentive power of at least three pounds. The pressure increases so rapidly as the Pad recedes, a light pressure, a little more than sufficient to Keep the rupture up in a state of rest, is sufficient to secure the person against the most violent exertion. There is no other Truss that will retain a rupture with as little pressure, or can be worn with as much ease. The person may get into any shape or position he pleases, and the pad will not cramp or move in the least from its place.

There are no two persons precisely the same shape and requiring the same pressure, hence the importance of having a truss susceptible of the most minute variations, so as to be fitted perfectly to the shape, having any degree of pressure desired, which can be changed at pleasure.

☞ They can be sent to any part of the United States by taking the measure around the body, and stating the side affected. Price $5. Address Dr. George H. Keyser, No. 140, corner of Wood street and Virgin'alley, Pittsburg, Pa. Dr. K. gives particular attention to the fitting of trusses. Children invariably cured.

Also a large assortment of Shoulder Braces and Abdominal Supporters, wholesale or retail.
