Gazette on Saturday last. We were frightened as we read it. We thought "the British were coming." But as we read on, lo, and behold! it was only an assault on Dr. M'Clintock, our democratic Senator at Harrisburg. And it illustrates either the ignorance or malice of the Gazette. Its editor may take which 22d. horn of the dilemma suits him best. Now for the

Dr. M'Clintock, as chairman of the committee on education, has reported to the Senate a bill to amend and improve the common school law of our Commonwealth. The Gazette admits that many of the features of the new bill are improvements on the existing school laws. It has long been known that some amendments were necessary. Dr. M'Clintook has taken hold of has got up a bill that, so far as we have examined it, seems likely to meet with general approba-

But the editor of the Gazette has made a wonderful discovery. He has pointed out and published. In Saturday's issue, two sections, 28th and 29th, of the new bill, and denonneed them in unmeasured terms, as "another assault on freedom." Quite an excitement was created on Saturday, among the readers of the Gazette, by this startling announcement. The two sections read

"That, if any common school is or shall hereafter be co-dowed by bequest or otherwise, the board of directors or controllers of the district in which such schools may be situated, are hereby authorized to allow said school to re-main under the immediate direction of the regularly ap-pointed trustees of the same, and to appropriate so much of the district fund to said school as they may think just and reasonable. Provided, That such school shall be open to the visits of the directors or controllers of the district, and and catched in conformity with the common school system. mity with the common school system district, shall be maintained under the care and direction of any religious seciety, it shall be lawful for the director controllers of such district to cause to be paid to the preper person-or persons, for the support of such school, at portion of the school funds of the district which they me ion of the school funds of the district which any mey m just and rasonable, not exceeding the rateable share the inhabitants whose children, wards or apprentices, if he taught in such school. Provided, That such allows ora or controllers shall be satisfied that such payment of injurious to the common schools of such district, and t such reschools shall be opened to the visits of the schools or controllers, and conducted in conformity with

"While the astonishment occasioned by the audacious attempt to repeal the Missouri Compromise still occupies the public mind, we are called upon to record another attack upon the ritide of freedom, by Dr. Jonas R McCimtock, a Senator to the State Legislature from this county. This attack comes in so scoret and insidious a form that it has nearly escaped detection. The assault is upon the Common School system, by legalizing the sectorian division of the funds, as claimed by Bishop O'Connor and the Catholic Herarchy generally. The obnexious pravisions, granting this dangerous power, are contained in a new school oils Herarchy generally. The obnoxious pravisions, gran-ing this diagerous power, are contained in a new school bill reported to the Senate by Dr. McClintock, on the 20th of January. We have not seen the bill—the author was careful not to send it to us."

Now, what will be the astonishment of our citizens to learn that these same two sections, so furiously assailed, are a part of the school lawof our State .- word for word a part of the law as it has existed on our statute book for several vears. They are merely re-ensated to make the new bill perfect in itself; and simplify the school code. This "assault on freedom" then turns out and praised for many years.

We said it was, word for word, the old law. We will be exact. The two words " or controllers" are inserted in the sections in the new bill, merely for the purpose of meeting a proposed alteration in the management of the public schools in Pittsburgh.

If any of our readers doubt the correctness of our statement, let them furn to the pamphlet containing the school laws, pages 5th and 6th, sections 20 and 21, and compare them with the sections published above, and they will be satisfied that the Gazette has assailed a faithful representative without a particle of cause; and bas grossly deceived the public. If it was through guorance, let him admit it; and admit, at the same time, that he has done gross injustice. "We will conclude with two remarks."

If such is the course of the Gazette on this subject, what confidence can be placed in his statements and representations in regard to the Nebraska Bill.

What cares the Gazette for the Missouri Compromise, except to make it an excuse for assailing the Democracy; as in this school case he

MONEY IN NEW YORK.

"Money is much easier, though the demand is quick incipally, however, on railroad account; mercantile pr is comparatively light on the market."—N. Y. Por When such is the state of the money market of New York there is seldom a scarcity of money to complain of in any part of the country. And it is believed that at no time, in this country, has so full a supply of money for all business purposes been so abundant as at the present time. Yet, from the present aspect of the foreign demand for breadstuffs, a large amount of money must come to this country from Europe. The receipts from California will also be large, and by June next the supply of money will be greatly increased. Should a general war occur in Europe, there is another source from which a large amount of money will be drawn to this country. American stocks and securities will, in that event, be in demand, doubtless to a large amount, for European capitalisis. In the event of such a war, American securities will be the best investments that European capitalists can find.

We are told by eastern papers that agents of capitalists of Germany and Holland are now in the United States, inquiring into the condition and safety of various railroad and municipal honds and securities, with a view to investments There are but few of our railroad bonds and securities that are not worth far more than Austrian, Turkish, or even French government bonds.
