OUR FRANTIC NEIGHBOR. In the statistics of insanity we find that editors are occasionally subject to that malady. We much fear that our neighbor of the Gazette is liable to such an affliction, and shall therefore an swer his harsh atrictures upon our definition of democracy in as gentle a tone as regard for truth and justice will permit. But to be gentle over so atroclous a charge as the following is very difficult.

the present is a favorable opportunity. Unless It is democracy "To profess sympathy for the common people against the vristocracy, and yet defend a southern nabob for shooting lown a poor schoolmaster in the midst of his scholars." Such is the language of the Gazette on Monday that State. The Pitteburgh Post was the first paper in this city to denounce that acquittal as an outrage upon justice. The newspaper press land, on the 30th of April last, at the age of 82 of the whole country has spoken out on the subjest in most emphatic terms of condemnation. A few papers only have gone so far as to say that the judge and jury who tried the cause were Mr. Craige of N. C., and Mr. Hunt of Louisiana better able to judge of the facts than people at a Mr. Hunt made a motion to adjourn for the purunrighteous verdict. In the face of these facts, the editor of the Gazette charges the democracy with sympathising with the wealthy felon.
