THE MORNING POST.
SUNDAY MORNING.....JUNE 22.

WHAT YOUR TASTE IS THINKING.

The fashionable charming little poem we have published every Sunday morning in the Saturday Review, has been published in the Saturday Review, has been published in the English Opera, has been published in the Parisian Journal, has been published in the Portsmouth, (N. H.) and was originally printed in the Portsmouth Journal.

Have I some creeping, creeping every where;
By the cool crest sides,
In the sunny hill sides,
Close by the noisy brook;
In every leafy nook?

I come creeping, creeping every where.

I come creeping, smiling every where;
All round the open door,
Where at the sun and cool,
Here where the children play,
In the bright and merry May,
I come creeping, creeping every where.

Here I come creeping, creeping every where,
My pleasant face you'll meet,
Checking the shrill heart,
Calling his busy part,
Silently creeping, creeping every where.

Here I come creeping, creeping every where;
You cannot see me coming,
Nor hear my low sweet humming;
For in the starry night,
And the glad morning light,
I come quietly creeping every where.

Here I come creeping, creeping every where;
More welcome than the flowers,
In summer's pleasant hours,
Gentle as a sigh;
And the merry birds not and,
To see me coming, creeping every where.

Here I come creeping, creeping every where,
Where prone mischief, with the dark,
Id 'spite still hard shrew'd toil,
In the happy spring I'll come,
And deck your silent home,
Creeping slyly, creeping every where.

Here I come creeping, creeping every where;
My humble scope of praise
Rises modestly I own,
To kiss the brow command
A mother's fondest look,
Creeping, silently creeping every where.

DR. AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL,
FOR THE SPEEDY CURE OF
COLDS, SOLDS, BRONCHITIS, HOARSENESS, CROUP, ASTHMA, WHOOPING COUGH, INFLUENZA, AND CONSUMPTION.

WE invite the attention of the public to the certificates appended to the following, and beseak for them that candid consideration which their genuineness deserves.
Read what is said in relation as many of the voluntarily bear witness to the efficacy of Dr. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, to test it extensively in their own, or distant families, nor overstate their convictions. Judge them, whether this wonderful medicine is true; when you must have relief for the throat or lungs; judge too, whether every family ought not to have it by them, to protect against the very first symptoms of disease, which scale with fatal rapidity—upon almost every flock, and carries off a fourth of the human family.
J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.
Dr. J. C. AYER:—Sir—The CHERRY PECTORAL is much the best medicine for a cold I ever found. Its use has given it, in three of them to their own cases, and always with the happiest effects. The numerous patent medicines, of which we are constantly troubled, lead to hesitancy in regard to every new remedy; and it is only after undoubted evidence of value in any of them, that anything like a feeling of confidence can be established.
The unrivalled excellence of this combination of agents, (the Cherry Pectoral,) proves itself. It is my constant rule under their own observation, has compelled medical men to proclaim aloud its virtues. Indeed, I have found it the best family remedy we have for the Pulmonary Affections of this climate, at the same time sedative and expectorant.—a rare combination of powers.
In the hope that it will prove its value to others, as it has myself. Respectfully, your obedient servant,
J. B. MILLER, M. D.
Let gentlemen of the Jury prove your talents.
Dr. J. C. AYER:—Dear Sir—Your powerful antidote for a cold, has proved a perfect success in my own family, and in those of my friends. I have no hesitation in saying that it is the best remedy for colds, coughs, and pulmonary complaints that I have ever known, and I have known many.
Yours, truly, JOHN G. MEEK.
Dr. J. C. AYER:—Dear Sir—Your admirable compound convinces me of its virtues, and I am happy to say, by any other remedy I have for curing diseases upon the lungs.
Your obedient servant,
R. H. JONES, M. D.

What yet remains to convince the most incredulous that the Cherry Pectoral is all that it purports to be, viz: an unequalled and powerful agent for all diseases of the throat and lungs. The experience of years has proven it to be such, and we submit it to the people, believing that its virtues will fully maintain its reputation.
Prepared by J. C. AYER, Chemist, Lowell, Mass., Bowers of worthless preparations attempted to be palmed off under the similarity of name.
Sold in Pittsburgh by all Druggists, and by R. A. FAHNESTOCK & CO., wholesale and retail.
