It is until the strength of individual otherwise there could be no right of individual judgment or opinion concerning that instrument but there can be but one opinion as to the intent and meaning of that clause of the Constitution relating to the return of fugitives from labor. Its meaning is na plain as words can make it; Its meaning is na plain as words can make it; and Mr. Summer's explanation is but a subterfuge to palliate the baseness of his avowal. Expusion from the Senate would be a just retribution upon him; yet he will doubtless be permit ted to rémain as a memorial of the strength and beauty of our institutions, which not even the treason of a Senator can endanger.

In connection with a passage between Mr. Petiti and Mr. Summer in the Senate, and the personalities in the House a few days since between Mr. Churchwell and Mr. Cullom, I wish to make a remark or two concerning the mar in which the proceedings of Congress are reported. After debate it is customary, indeed it is regarded as a right, for members to correct the reports of what they themselves to wa said. These regarded as a right, for members to correct reports of what they themselves have said. These corrections frequently go much farther than this, and extend to a complete remodeling of what was said. Some things are out out and others inserted. When personalities are indulged in. inserted. When personalities are induged in these corrections are almost sure to lead to diffi culties and misunderstandings. Perhaps half dozen have occurred during the present session of the present sessions are cohes has grown es has grow into a great abuse, and represents the pro into a great abuse, and represents the probectings of Congress to the public in a light very different from their real occurrence. The reports should be verbatim, the only object of the ters being to present precisely what occur say, and how they do and say it. The practice revising speeches, in connection with the rule in the House, has made the member nour rule in the House, as made the members a body of essayists, whose productions are in-screed in the proceedings of Congress as if deliv-ered in the shape of speeches. Many of these essays are of course written for home consumpinstead of consuming the time in their delivery, and adding to the al ts of Congress, the pub members would communicate with their con stituents through printed circulars, rather than through the medium of a Congressional essay. Many of the members are already in favor the verbatim reports, and I hope that the people will soon demand the proceedings of Congress to notoriety by a perpetual agitation of the subject? e furnished in that shape and ne bring the same information concerning the warmothing decisive, no vigorous movements on ITEMS FOR DEMOCRATS. The whigs must have a rallying cry. Repeat of the Nebraska bill is now that cry; and with it they hope to seduce some dissatified democrats from our ranks, and thus gain political power again. It is an old trick of our enemies. They know the repeal can never be effected. It is humbug.

After the passage of the tariff act of 1846, After the passage of the fails and such the force was Repeal. They gained political power in 1848. Yet from that day to this they have never attempted the repeal of that act. Even in their national conventions they have never since passed a resolution against that tariff. But their ory of repeal deluded some democrats. Will the democrats be again deceived. The Nebraska bill is in its nature irrepealable. Rights will be acquired under the act, in a few months, that can only be divested by the popular vote.

The whigs urge that the Nebraska act was unclaided for at this time. Yet thousands of people are preparing to migrate to the new territories. Is not that proof sufficient that territories.
