

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 11, 1868

WILLIAM BIGLER, JEREMIAH S. BLACK, HENRY S. MOTT

FOR CANAL COMMISSIONERS

MORNING POST JOB OFFICE

WE would call the attention of MERCHANTS AND BUSINESS MEN to the fact that we have just received from Philadelphia a number of copies of new Job Types...

A letter from our Brighton correspondent will be found on the first page.

On going to an injury received, one of our carriers was unable to deliver the paper on his route yesterday. We will make all right in a day or two, and hope most of our routes will receive their paper this morning.

The telegraph news will be found on our common letter page. The foreign news is particularly important. If the reports are true, the Russians are every where wanted; and the war will not last long as was anticipated. It is rather a "hot" affair on one side.

A despatch from Philadelphia, respecting the Democratic celebration there on the 4th, as one of the greatest gatherings that our city has ever witnessed.

Our paper some time ago, published an account of the death of a lady in North Adams, Mass., which was ascribed by Dr. Streeter, the attending physician, to the influence of chloroform.

How things look now. To any careful observer of the political movements in our State, for the last four months, it would be evident that Democrats have only to do with a view to extend to our political opponents, of every color, stripe or faction, a Waterloo defeat in October next.

For a year past, a large portion of the whigs have been endeavoring to form a coalition with the abolitionists and native Americans. They admit that without such coalition, and a new basis of organization, their party must remain a hopeless minority.

Finally, the editor comes to the conclusion that "chloroform, in the hands of a prudent and skillful, is a most valuable agent, and should be resorted to in all cases of public fever by such loose, illegal and unscientific statements as those made by Doctor Streeter, and we consider it due to ourselves, and to the satisfaction of our constituents, to state a mass of testimony capable of establishing firmly any point on earth. When these circumstances, we shall begin to believe that testimony."

THE GAZETTE.—The editor of the Gazette says there was no truth in the charge that the New Tribune was in favor of disunion. The Tribune has pursued precisely the course that would lead to disunion, and the Gazette would lead to disunion, and the Tribune has pursued precisely the course that would lead to disunion.

PERUVIANIA RAILROAD.—A new train will run on this road hereafter, leaving Pittsburgh at 11 P. M. and arriving in Philadelphia at 10 A. M. The advertisement in another column.

STANDARDS AMATEUR.—The results of the Part Second, Washington, July 10. A grand gathering was held at the site of the city, on Monday, the 30th of July, to celebrate the gallant defense of Washington, one hundred years ago.

TO THE ABOLITIONISTS.—The abolitionists are every where wanted; and the war will not last long as was anticipated. It is rather a "hot" affair on one side.

CELEBRATION OF THE FOURTH

The Fourth was very generally celebrated throughout the length and breadth of the great country, with the usual amount of powder, patriotism and bad liquor.

In New York several alarms of fire and a number of riots occurred. There was nothing, however, of a serious character. The military display was very imposing, but it is not necessary to describe it in detail.

Boston, July 5.—The national jubilee was appropriately observed here yesterday, and passed off without any accident. The weather is intensely hot here today. Some more cases of cholera have occurred.

PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—The anniversary of American independence was celebrated here with a very spirited manner, and went off free from accident or row. The military turned out in full force, making a grand display.

Such a brief history of events there. We shall keep our readers informed, from time to time, of further developments.
