The following is from the Cincinnati Commercial or one 28th inst: CLissification of Steamboat Engineers.—The steamboat In-spectors of this port, have changed the classification of En-gineers (from July 16th) to the following : Steamboats to be divided into two classes—the first class-composed of all boats on 6 200 tons and over, and the second class of all boats under 200 tons. The Chief Engineer, or First Rugineer, acts as first engi-neer on any boat. The First Assistant Engineer can act as first engineer on second class boats, and as second engineer on any boat. The Second Engineer can only act as second engineer on any boat, and the Second Assistant Engineer can only act as second engineer on second class boats. The Inspection on this classification, remark as follows:

The Inspectors on this class fication, remark as follows The Inspectors on this class floation, remark as follows: . We thus get free grades of engineers in the two classes. In the first class, the destination is only in mane, and de-signed to be filled by that class of mom only, who are cruti-ted to it by long experience, goneral intelligence, and mo-chanical skill. The three grades in the second class are are tually to meet the various differences existing in what I ow termed the second engineer. The necessity for this change exists in the fact, that we, as Inspectors, we often in doubt as to the justifier of arsigning the applicant the place of first engineer." Allegheny City 6s...
