PITTSBURGH:
SATURDAY MORNING.....AUGUST 12

MONTHLY POST FOR OFFICE.

We would call the attention of MERCHANTS AND BUSINESS MEN to the fact that we have just received from Philadelphia a number of fonts of new Job Type, and are now prepared to fill orders for Cards, Circulars, Bill Heads, Paper Books, Pamphlets, and Programmes for exhibitions. All orders promptly filled.

The Democratic County Committee of Correspondence will meet at the ST. CHARLES HOTEL, Pittsburgh, on WEDNESDAY EVENING next, at 7½ o'clock, P. M.

DAVID CAMPBELL, Chairman.
JOHN [illegible], Jr., Secretary. [aul1:3tw1t

There were seventeen deaths in Detroit on the 8th inst. Four of which were from Cholera. In Cleveland, on the 9th inst., eighteen deaths on the 10th inst., four of which were from Cholera.

By an advertisement at the circles published by the City Register, it appears there were three hundred and six deaths in St. Louis for the week ending on the last, five of which were from Cholera.

Judge Shepherd F. Norris, the Democratic candidate for Supreme Judge in that State, has decided that a slave brought to Ohio by or with the consent of the owner, and afterwards escaping from that State, is free, and cannot be remanded to slavery.

The Cincinnati Gazette of Thursday says it is supposed that from fifteen to twenty lives were lost by the sinking of the steamer Cape May, near Mount Vernon, Indiana. At last accounts five dead bodies had been taken from the wreck.

Another trotting fast race took place at the Hippodrome, New York, on Wednesday evening. A man named Parlow won the first prize ($60), by running the circle in eleven minutes and forty-three seconds—the best time made for years.

The Independent Whig, of Lancaster, Pa., is out for Franklin Pierce, of Boston for President, and Robert T. Conrad (the poet and mayor) for Vice President, and opposes all national conventions. Since the result of the St. Louis election, Old Bullion will be very safe in any office. His constituents, it appears, have little inclined to stand in the way—but it does look as if the Whigs were hard up for a candidate, when they take a man who called out anything like a majority for Congress in his own district.

St. Louis was visited by another destructive fire last Monday morning. It broke out on Front street, and, it is said, in St. Johne's shop of Mr. John Stephenson, which, before it was subdued, consumed property to the amount of $150,000 value. Among the sufferers were Mr. Stephenson, where it originated, the shop of Mr. John Pipe, and the extensive lumber yard of Messrs. Carr & Rodgers to the north, and to the south reaching the large warehouses, the one occupied by Messrs. P. M. Engell & Co., and the other owned by Mrs. Octavia Boyce. By the efforts of the firemen the progress of the flames was here stayed. Total insurance, $137,400. Loss over insurance, $20,000 to $30,000.

FROM GREYTOWN'S CASE.

The British press continue administration are endeavoring to persuade the English to consider the punishment of the Greytown rogues as a personal affront to themselves. The doubt James Gordon Bennett, of the Herald, himself a Scotchman, and the Whig and abolition editors, would be willing to involve this country in difficulty with England, if political capital could be made out of it. The Herald announces that the commander of the British vessel at Greytown has planted that town, and Point Arenas also, under shotted guns. The Washington Star says that, up to the time the steamer Star of the West left Greytown, no such thing had happened. The Herald can have no later news.

Any story coming from the Herald must be doubted, until confirmed by more reliable journals.

The question of English protectorates and colonies in Central America, must be settled sometime, and probably a better time can never be found than the present. England has plenty of occupation for her fleets and armies now, in Europe, and will hardly venture upon a war with this country for the absurd claim to the right to build up negro and Indian villages on the routes of our California travel and trade. Greytown was designed to command and embarass the Nicaragua route, which is our best California highway. No sensible man, and no honest American will admit such a right.

By the Clayton treaty this country has secured the right to construct a line of railroads, or canal across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec. It will shorten the distance to California some hundreds of miles. Suppose that, after a company is formed for the purpose, and the roads or canals constructed, the English government should seize a tract of land on the coast on both sides of the canal or road, and found a town to be peopled with negroes and Indians, whose whole living was to be made by plundering our travel and commerce by that route: would it be the duty of our government to submit to such an insult and wrong? If the people of the town plundered our commerce, wronged our citizens and insulted our ambassadors, it would be not only its right, but the duty of our government to chastise the people, and, if necessary, destroy the town.

Yet such is the case at Greytown. Before the Tehuantepec right of way was obtained, the Nicaragua was the shortest route to California. The privilege of navigating the San Juan river and Lake Nicaragua was obtained from the State of Nicaragua, and companies formed, and the route soon became a favorite one.

The jealousy of England, and her constant efforts to embarass our commerce, are well known. Under the pretence of a protectorate of an Indian King, the position at the mouth of the San Juan was seized, and a village formed of Jamaica negroes and native Indians. This rabble of scamps was to command and destroy this route for our California trade. The travelers plundered, the company robbed, and our minister insulted and imprisoned, tell how well that nest of thieves did the work of England. Our government, after long delay, sends down a ship to punish them. They are allowed to escape destroyed chastisement if they will make apology and reparation. Both are refused; and the town is destroyed. Our verdict is, "Served them right, after too long a delay." But Scotch, Whig and Abolition editors thunder forth their denunciations, and fairly invite England to make it a cause of war. Is this treason? Let England trust the matter as she pleases. Our Democratic Administration will not be alarmed; and will not neglect the interests and honor of the country. It is time to settle the question of England's right to interfere with our routes of travel and trade, and with the rights and safety of our citizens. And we hope it will now be settled, even at the cost of war, if necessary.

We would call attention to the advertisement of 15th and 16th for sale in and near Birmingham. Great bargains can be had, as will be seen by the terms proposed in the advertisement.

OUR WEEKLY

Is for sale at our counting room—open, or in wrappers. We invite attention to it, and think it will be found worth the money. It contains an unusual amount of interesting news and reading matter. The large amount for its circulation has induced us to strike off a large number this week. Price only three cents.

BEAUTIES OF THE TELEGRAPH.—If any one wishes to see a telegraphic beauty—by no means rare—he can find it in a despatch from St. Louis, giving an account of the riot that occurred there on the day of the election, and which will be found in full from the St. Louis papers in another column! The papers containing it, were received twenty-four hours in advance of the despatch! There is a screw loose somewhere, which we hope Mr. Reed will see to. Formerly, when he was superintendent, complaints were seldom heard, and we have no doubt he will again apply the remedy.

EDITORIAL CHANGE.—Messrs. J. and F. S. Cable have sold the Sandusky (O.) Mirror to A. G. Dimmock, a sterling Democrat, who will make that paper what it has not been for a long time—an organ of the Erie county Democracy. We hope the Mirror will no longer advocate the Anti-Nebraska heresy that seems to have been so unfortunate, both politically and pecuniarly for the former proprietors.

WM. C. TOBEY.—The Catholic Herald of this week announces that the late Wm. C. Tobey (St. John of York") died in the Catholic faith. It says that in his last illness he was visited by several Protestant ministers, who, however, failed to afford the consolation desired; he then sent for the Rev. Mr. Maher, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Harrisburg, who received his professions and admitted him into the Catholic feld.

DEGREES CONFERRED.—Harvard College recently conferred the degree of L. L. D. upon Abbott Lawrence, the greatest American snob that ever visited England in an official capacity. It is now proposed to honor Phineas T. Barnum in like manner. A wag proposes to add the title of F. W. H.—Fellow of the Wooly Horse.

GOOD, IF TRUE.—While Edmund Burke was declaiming with great animation in his famous speech against Warren Hastings, he was interrupted by little Major Scott. It is said he indignantly exclaimed: "Am I to be teased by the barking of this jackal, while I am attacking the royal tiger of Bengal?"

A friend writes to the Washington Star that difficulties had occurred between Madame Sontag and her husband, before their departure for Mexico, in consequence of a supposed intimacy between the former and Pozzolini. This may account for the dark insinuations relative to Madame S. and others being poisoned.

GOVERNOR BIGLER is on the stump. He has spoken already in one or two places.

What will the Gazette say now? Where is Pollock? Is he to be heard from? Turn out your best nag, brother Whigs. Your opponent was never yet beaten in a race.

COMMISSIONAL NOMINATION.—Jacob Broom, Esq., late Native American candidate for President, has been nominated by that party for Congress at present by Mr. Witte. Jacob is a broom that grows in the Fourth district—the one represented don't sweep clean.

Our readers will find in the account we publish to-day of the riot in St. Louis, a beautiful specimen of the fruits of Know Nothingism.

Lady Haley, an English lady of rank, who was in Boston about the time the Charles River bridge was finished, offered to pay the sum of 500 guineas to be allowed to cross the bridge in her carriage before the ceremony of its dedication to public travel. With the usually regard for the ladies of those times, the request was refused. A few days after, when the bridge was done, the lady might drive over, with the rest of the public for a sixpence when the bridge was done—500 guineas could not give her the privilege earlier.

There, now! Will any one hereafter say that a Yankee worships the almighty dollar?

Hon. Wm. Allen, of Ohio, refuses to be a candidate for Congress.

The salary of the Mayor of St. Louis has been increased to $2,750, and the city engineer to the same amount.

Waterbury's patent car ventilator for the exclusion of dust is to be introduced on the New York and New Haven road.

During the week, ending on Saturday last, there were only eleven deaths in the city of Charleston, S. C.

The Democrats of Taylor county, Va., have recommended the Hon. Henry A. Wise for Governor.

Burlington, Iowa, by a census just taken, has 7,806 inhabitants—1,380 of them voters; 434 aliens.

Jeffards, the young man who offered the indignity to the President, has left Washington for Charleston.

Thomas Johnson died a horrible death from hydrophobia, in Boston, on Friday. He had to be handcuffed before he died.

The Daily National Era, the organ of the Abolitionists, at Washington, has suspended. Cause—it didn't pay expenses. This does not look as if abolitionism was flourishing.

Constable & Co., of Edinburgh, are about to inaugurate a new Miscellany—one of foreign Literature—with a volume of Hungarian Sketches.

The longest railroad in the world is said to be the Illinois Central, extending a distance of seven hundred and thirty-one miles, and is now rapidly approaching completion.

In some parts of Montgomery county, Md., no rain, to do good, has fallen since corn-planting time, and in no portion has there been rain enough to ensure half a corn crop.

Mr. De Garis, foreman of the Cincinnati Gazette office, has just fallen heir to $15,000 by the death of an uncle in Louisville. We congratulate Mr. De Garis on the "fat take" which he has received.

English papers received by the Canada, mention with regret "that there is a necessity for seeking subscriptions to relieve the low estate of a living celebrity—the benevolent Father Matthew."

A day or two since, a poor woman died on the sidewalk of one of the streets in Philadelphia, in the morning, and the body was permitted to remain until night, when a coroner was found to attend to the case.

Grasshoppers are committing great ravages in some parts of New England. Near St. Johnsburg, Vermont, they have so entirely destroyed many of the pastures, as to leave the ground in some places "as free from vegetation as a traveled road!"

The Doylestown (Pa.) Democrat, speaks in glowing terms of the agricultural prospects of "Old Bucks." For instance: "30 or 40 acres of corn looking like an extensive young forest!" "a bunch of twenty onions which weighed fourteen pounds!" "corn ten feet three inches long!" also, timothy of a similar growth, &c. Truly, Bucks is "a great country."

The case of Capt Gibson, whose property was confiscated and himself imprisoned by the Dutch authorities at Batavia, has not yet been acted upon. The last news from our charge at the Hague, Mr. Belmont, stated that the Holland government had offered to refund the value of the schooner "Flirt," but this Capt. G. peremptorily declined.

A new sloop-of-war, called the Constellation, is to be launched at Portsmouth, Va., on the 25th inst. On her gun-deck, she has twenty-four ports, but will only mount twenty guns, sixteen of sixty-eight pounders, and four long thirty-two pounders. On her spar deck, forward and aft, she will mount two ten shell guns on pivots, carrying a ball weighing 120 pounds.

JOHNNY MORRISSEY'S WEDDING.—Morrissey came up from New York yesterday. With the exception of a slight discoloration under his right eye, he has pretty much recovered from his late pugilistic injuries and appears well and hearty. He was dressed up to order, in a bran new rig, and we learn from the Troy Times, is to be married on Thursday to Miss Susan Smith, daughter of Captain Levi Smith, of the steamer Troy. It is to be hoped that Johnny, in assuming his matrimonial relations, will also assume those of a respectable citizen and husband.

Great Mob—Intense Excitement—Several Persons Citizens Killed, and a number Wounded!

Our city, on yesterday afternoon, and up to late hour last night, was the theatre of one of the largest and most disgraceful mobs that ever conspired in the Western country. It commenced about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, at the Polls of the Fifth Ward, between a party who called themselves Americans, and a number of Irish, who had gathered around the Exciseman's House. The fight at first was a general one, which was followed by slight skirmishing all along Third street, between Vine street and Franklin avenue, serving very much to increase the excitement and draw together a large crowd.

Wherever an Irishman was seen on the street, he was pursued and most cruelly beaten. Finally pursuit of one was made down Morgan street, where the mob were met by a number of Hibernians, who gave battle by throwing stones and firing pistols, but the crowd of rioters increasing they gave way and retreated to their houses between Main and the Levee, on Morgan. Here, for a while, the mob was a scene of the wildest excitement. The Irish fired as many, perhaps, as a hundred pistol shots into the crowd who were breaking in the doors and windows of the houses by showers of stones from the street. At last the shooting was silenced and the mob proceeded down to the Levee, and along it to Locust street, assailing every coffee house or tenement supposed to contain forlingers, with a continued storm of missiles. After this the Irish made another stand on Second street, but were driven down Cherry, the mob still continuing their assault upon the houses and windows.

They then proceeded up Morgan and Green streets, above Fourth, and assailed a number of houses, completely riddling the doors and windows with stones and brickbats. During the evening a slight assault had been made on the office of the Anzeiger Des Westens, but the party were dispersed without much injury. In the meantime the military and police were out in full force, scattering the excited combatants here and there, and doing much to restore quiet to the city. About 10 o'clock at night, however, a company of the rioters, numbering perhaps 20, came marching down Third street from the scene of assault, up on Morgan with stones in hand, and shouting in the wildest manner, and upon arriving in front of the Anzeiger office, again commenced an assault upon the windows and doors of the house. At this juncture the military came charging upon the crowd again, and dispersed them. When we left, the scene was quiet seemed to be in a very fair way of being restored, the military having complete possession of the street, and seeming determined to enforce order. It is utterly impossible to estimate the number of persons wounded in the whole affair, or even to say how many have been killed. We saw at least twenty men lying bleeding, and wounded so severely that they were perfectly insensible—their faces cut most horribly and skulls mashed, and some appearing perfectly dead; and then we have learned of three men certainly killed, and of six or six more who are thought to be dead at this time, from wounds received.

The Supposed Murder of Miss Pharr by Dr. Thompson.

[From the Richmond (Va.) Enquirer, August 9.]

Our readers will recollect that some two months ago we published a statement of the peculiar and suspicious circumstances attending the death of Miss Pharr, of Covington, by which guilt was attached to Dr. Thompson, her father's family physician. In making the statement public, we did it upon what we believed to good authority, and expressed our opinion that, if innocent of the crime imputed to him by public rumor, his own character called for an examination; if guilty, justice and the laws of the State demanded it. We were called upon by Dr. Thompson for our authors and we then gave them. He returned to Covington and brought suit against several of the most respectable citizens of the place, laying his damages at a high figure; to protect themselves they demanded an investigation. A coroner's jury was summoned, the dead body exhumed and examined, when full detail of this examination we publish from the Lexington correspondent of the Richmond Despatch: it resulted in establishing the fact that she was pregnant, a fœtus about five months old being found in the womb. The stomach has been sent on to Philadelphia to be analyzed and tested, to discover, if possible, whether poison was used or not.

On dit that suspicion of foul play was first excited by the attendants who laid her out for burial, observing signs upon her dead body indicating pregnancy, and from the fact that she died in a few hours with violent convulsions. A physician was called in when the case assumed a shortness, was found in her room after her death; and she was also seen with a large pill given her by Dr. Thompson, which she kept for some time and hesitated about taking. It is thought by some that the ergot pills were given her by Dr. Thompson to produce an abortion, but failing in the attempt, the last pill was given her with the damnable intent to destroy her life. On dit, further, that Dr. Thompson had been engaged to her for some time, but told some of his friends that he did not intend to marry her. This statement presents the case in its most unfavorable light, for like Dr. Thompson is considered. By his friends it is said that it is a base slander, originating in the jealousy of enemies and rival physicians of the place.

The Assault upon the President.

The Washington Union corrects the exaggerated rumors about the assault on the President, and gives the occurrence precisely as it transpired. It appears that Jeffards approached the carriage into which the President was entering in a respectful manner, gave his name, &c., and asked to be introduced to the latter, though he was in a state bordering upon insanity from the effects of liquor. The President replied to him politely, and as he stepped into the carriage something struck his hat, apparently coming from an upper window. The carriage was immediately driven away, and the President neither spoke nor thought of the occurrance till information was brought to him that the young man had been arrested for throwing what proved to be the remaining portion of a hard-boiled egg of which he had eaten a part, when he immediately requested that he be discharged, and the friends, if they could be found, be sent for to take care of him. The Union also learns that this unfortunate young man is, as he stated, from Charleston, and that he came within a few days with his mother to Washington to visit a sister, who is the wife of a highly respected and estimable gentleman of this district. His relatives, and has been such as to require the interposition of his friends, to prevent him from inflicting wounds upon his own person. He is in the care of kind friends, and may derive a salutary lesson from this mortifying experience.

Melancholy Accident at Coney Island.

Mr. Joseph Brelsford, an actor of Philadelphia, met with a fatal accident at Coney Island, yesterday. It appears that he, with some others, was playing an out-door game, "leap frog," or something of the kind, when one of the party jumped upon Brelsford, instead of upon the ground, and accidentally fractured his spine. Mr. B. died soon afterwards. His body was brought to this city, and then taken to Philadelphia for interment, upon a physician's certificate. His companions, and particularly those of his profession, seemed to lament the occurrence deeply. He was thirty-three years of age, and a native of Philadelphia. He had a wife, but no children.

[From the N. Y. Tribune, 9th.]

"On Monday evening, while a party of actors from this city were bathing in the surf at Coney Island, one of them, Mr. Joseph P. Brelsford, attempted to dive from the shoulders of one of his companions, and struck his head on the bottom with such force as to break his neck. Mr. B. had but lately arrived in this city, to await the opening of the new theatre on Broadway, of which he was to be the leading man. He was well known in the South and West. He leaves a wife to mourn her sad bereavement. His remains were escorted by a large body of his brother actors from the Coney Island boat yesterday, to the Camden and Amboy Depot, to be taken to Philadelphia for interment.

Orestes A. Brownson Again.

The Western Tablet, which names us, and the Pittsburgh Catholic, which does not, blame us for the terms in which we lately spoke of Dr. Brownson's somersets. We shall show in our next, (D. V.,) that we have used no harshness in speaking of him, of which he had not set us an example in speaking of higher and better men. The Catholic, after all, finds little less fault with him than we do. And, we say it more in sorrow than in anger, we share not the Catholic's hopes of the Doctor's amendment. We fear he has started too far ahead of all ecclesiastical teaching, on the school question particularly, to hear, or to heed, when recalled to his position.

Icarian Association at Nauvoo—Laughing Life Away—Joe Smith's Widow.

At Nauvoo, Illinois, I saw the ruins of the temple of the Mormons, which was burnt by the Anti-Mormons, because from this fatal spot became associated therewith another specimen of fanaticism, begotten by the rottes atmosphere of the old worlds despotism, in the shape of Fanen communism, represented by M. Cabet, the chief of whom he is pleased to call the Icarian Association. I had the pleasure of conversing with the apostle of this new creed. He is an old man of about sixty-two. He has left his family in Paris, or rather they left him, since Mrs. and Misses Cabet have no sympathy with communism.

Mr. Cabet looks upon himself as a martyr who will be appreciated in time to come; but he seems too shrewd not to see that others will suspect him of being as fond of his temporal as his spiritual welfare. The admission fee is two hundred and fifty dollars, and permission of leaving the association is not granted except by forfeiting all property there, and by paying an exit or exhumation fee of one hundred and fifty dollars in the bargain. Mr. Cabet told me that he is settling a new Icarian colony on the shores of the upper Missouri, between St. Joseph and Council Bluffs.

The Nauvoo colony comprises about one hundred and fifty persons. Among them are many lovely Parisian and Marseilles girls, who shipped from Havre to New Orleans, and from New Orleans to this place, without ever coming in contact with Americans; just live on the shores of the Mississippi as they would on the shores of the Seine or Rhone, laughing life away, and generally bent on getting married before they are sixteen. They have no churches. Their religion, they say, is in their hearts. A few only speak a few broken words of English. They never employ or ask for employment, and thus, keeping aloof from the natives, they grow up in the same ignorance of America as a peasant of Burgundy, the very incarnation of egotism under the shape of Communism. Their organization is that of a large boarding-house, the boarders pledging themselves to take no interest in anything out of the walls of the boarding-house. It is scarcely necessary to add, that Mr. Cabet reserves to himself the exclusive right of controlling the financial department of the association.

Besides other curiosities, I found amongst the members the widow of a Styrian member of the Frankfort Parliament. The widow of Joe Smith, the Mormon prophet, and his youngest son, Joseph, still reside at Nauvoo. The widow is re-married to a man who keeps a public house.

A Land Graduation Bill.

The Homestead Graduation Land Bill failed in the recent Congress, but it turns out that a graduation bill of much more importance, offered by Mr. Cobb, passed both houses, and became a law. The Union gives the following synopsis of its provisions:

"All lands which have been in market for ten years or upwards shall be subject to entry at one dollar per acre; fifteen years and upwards, at seventy-five cents; twenty years and upwards, at fifty cents; twenty-five years and upwards, at twenty-five cents; and thirty years and upwards, at twelve and a half cents per acre. Upon every reduction the occupant and settler to have the right of pre-emption at such graduation prices until within thirty days preceding the next graduation, but not to interfere with any right which has heretofore accrued to actual settlers. Any person applying to enter any of the aforesaid lands is required to be head of the family, or she enters the same for his or her own use, and for the purpose of actual settlement and cultivation, or for the use of an adjoining farm owned or occupied by him or herself, and that, together with such entry, he or she has not acquired from the United States, under the provisions of this act, more than three hundred and twenty acres.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—As the lightning train was proceeding to Baltimore from Philadelphia about half past two o'clock yesterday afternoon, it ran off at the New Castle switch, which the new switch tender had misplaced, thinking it was the New Castle train. On perceiving his mistake he proceeded to put it back, but while doing so the train came on and ran off, instantly killing the fireman, William Ford, who was not the regular fireman, but was on in another's place. The brakeman and engineer were also hurt. The engine and car were damaged to a considerable extent, and the car totally destroyed. The train was delayed about two hours by the accident.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Philadelphia, 1854.—The attention of the citizens of Pittsburgh and vicinity, who wish to read a Philadelphia paper, is called to the Evening Register, a journal published every afternoon, containing a complete digest of all local matters of importance to the hour of going to press, and as particular attention is paid to this department, it will recommend itself strongly to the favor of those persons who desire to be informed in that vicinity, as it shows in a faithful epitome of the great changes occurring in their former home. To the trading and manufacturing portion of the community no better medium could be selected for advertising their wares and products, thus bringing directly before the eyes of the merchants the advantages of patronizing the factories of the "west end" of the Keystone. As a journal of liberal sentiments, advocating all the reforms of the age, we heartily recommend it to one and all, believing that all may be benefited by subscribing and supporting a paper that supports the people.—Penn. sch. and opinion.

The subscription price is $5 per year, in advance, and should be sent, pre-paid, to WILLIAM HARNEY,
N. E. corner Third and Chestnut streets,
au9:2m Philadelphia, Pa.

Strange Developements.—Strange doings are daily bringing to light new inventions and remarkable cures. Persons in search, persons half, or single, will be pleased to learn that science and long research combined, have brought before the public the greatest wonder of the age, in the article of EMERSON'S AMERICAN HAIR RESTORATIVE, a sure cure for Baldness and to prevent Hair from falling. See circular to be had of the agents, or she enters the same for his or her own use, and for the purpose of actual settlement and cultivation, or for the use of an adjoining farm owned or occupied by him or herself, and that, together with such entry, he or she has not acquired from the United States, under the provisions of this act, more than three hundred and twenty acres.

Also for sale by the sole proprietors,

To the Debilitated.—DR. MORSE'S INVIGORATING ELIXIR OR CORDIAL.—There was a time when people were made to believe that certain medicines had a direct influence upon the blood. The fallacy has been exploded. It is now well known that it is only through its elements, the chyle and the secretions, that the character of the vital fluid can be changed. MORSE'S INVIGORATING ELIXIR purifies the sanguiferous current, by purifying the secretions, and regulating the action of the stomach, the liver, and the bowels. It is an alterative and invigorant, and the grand secret of its almost miraculous cures consists in its giving tone to the stomach, bringing the functions of every disordered organ up to the standard of healthful action, imparting to the enfeebled nervous system a self-sustaining power, and rendering it capable of withstanding the external influences which had heretofore enervated or prostrated it. Hence, it is a sovereign, unfailing remedy for dyspepsia in all its forms and consequences for torpor or undue activity of the secretive organs; and for all the fluctuations, suspensions, and excitements which constitute the symptoms of nervous disease. When the constitution seems broken down, the appetite inert, the digestion feeble, the nerves unstrung, the mind clouded, and the whole system crushed by physical pain and mental despondency, it will revive and restore both the animal strength and the mental energies with a degree of rapidity that in superstitious times would have been attributed to enchantment.

The Cordial is put up, highly concentrated, in pint bottles. Price three dollars per bottle, two for five dollars, six for twelve dollars.

192 Broadway, New York.

Sold by Druggists throughout the United States, Canada, and the West Indies.

Ague and Fever of Three Years Standing Cured.—Mr. John Longden, now living at Beaver Dam, Hanover county, near Richmond, had Ague and Fever for three years, most of the time he had chills twice a day, and rarely less than once; he was parched with fevers as soon as the chill left him; and after trying physicians, quinine, most of the Tonics advertised, and everything recommended to him, was about to give up in despair, when Carter's Spanish Mixture was spoken of; he got two bottles, but before he had used more than a single one, he was perfectly cured, and has not had a chill or fever since.

Mr. Longden is only one out of thousands who have been benefitted by this great tonic, alterative and blood purifier.

 See advertisement.

Pantaloons.—The well-known superiority of GRISBLE'S fit in the Garment, needs no comment on his part; it has been acknowledged by all who have favored him with their orders, that they have never been fitted with the same ease and style as by him. He begs to inform his patrons and the public, that his stock is now replete with the newest styles for coats, vests and pants, suitable for the present season.
