PITTSBURGH:

SATURDAY MORNING.....AUGUST 19.

News of the Day.

A Temperance Mass Convention was held in Saratoga, N. Y., on the 17th inst. A number of distinguished men were in attendance.

Twenty-five deaths occurred in Cleveland on the 17th inst. Of these, seven are reported to have resulted from Cholera.

The French war steamer Chimere, which has been lying in Norfolk harbor for some weeks, has had a number of cases of yellow fever, and twelve deaths.

The anniversary of the Emperor's birthday occurred on Tuesday, and as the steamer was unable to fire a salute, the revenue cutter Penn hoisted the French flag and did the honors for her.

A man named Samuel Miller, of Addison, Oakland county, Mich., was brutally murdered in Cleveland on Wednesday night. He was first robbed. None of the villains perpetrating it have been arrested.

Joshua R. Giddings is evidently on his "last legs." On Wednesday, the fusion convention met at Warren, Ohio, when four ballots for Congress resulted unsuccessfully. On the fifth, Old Gidd had a majority of two in eighty-five votes cast. He has generally, heretofore, been nominated without opposition.

The steamer May Queen, while taking a large party on a pic-nic to Keyport, L. I., was totally destroyed by fire on Wednesday afternoon below Clifton, Staten Island. The passengers were with the greatest exertions all saved, but had a narrow escape of perishing in the flames. The boat is a total loss.

OUR WEEKLY.

Notwithstanding the large edition of our Weekly which we struck off last week, they were all gone in a very short time. This week we have provided ourselves with a larger supply, and have endeavored to make it of unusual interest. We hope it will prove so to our readers. We have them for sale at our counting room, open or in wrappers for five cents.

The latest foreign and general news has been carefully collected and arranged in this number. The political and commercial intelligence is of interest. It contains also a popular tale, and every variety of good reading matter. Call and get one.

RAILROAD COMPETITION.

The four great East and West lines of railroad, it seems, are getting tired of their wholesome competition that has hitherto existed between them, and are now proposing to try the effect of combination. The several companies have sent representatives to a convention at New York to consider and adopt some uniform plan of action in the management of their several roads. The arrangements proposed at the first meeting were:—

1st. A reduction of speed of about seven per cent.

2nd. An increase of charges of about ten per cent.

3rd. A reduction of service of about twenty per cent.

4th. A material reduction of "dead heads," or free tickets.

5th. An entire disuse of runners and agents, which has heretofore been very expensive.

These arrangements will add nearly two hours to the time between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, and about one dollar to the price of a ticket.

Now, so far as the Pennsylvania railroad is concerned, this new arrangement and combination can hardly be profitable, and was unnecessary. The road was doing a profitable business. It is the shortest and best route between the West and the great markets of the East. It possessed advantages over the other routes that secured its success against all competitors; and it has no occasion to trammel its operations by rules that may be found useful to the other lines.

With the speed reduced, and the charges increased 10 per cent., the travel will probably be reduced 10 per cent. People will hardly be convinced that a road whose receipts have lately shown a very prosperous business has any occasion to combine with other less favorable routes to increase its charges. These combinations when commenced may be carried to any extent, and the community be subjected to charges wholly unjust. The people distrust all such combinations, and with good reason. They are at war with the salutary principle of free competition, which is the "life of trade," and the protection of the community against extortion. But a few years ago our canal transporters combined to regulate rates of freights, and although they reduced some of the charges, they were indicted for conspiracy, and convicted. The different lines of railroads are now combining to regulate prices and operations, and to adopt a uniform system, and they begin with an increase of charges, and a reduction of accommodations.

Were our Central road losing money no one would object to an increase of charges. But the returns, monthly and quarterly, indicate a very prosperous and constantly increasing business, and a steady gain on the business of the rival lines. At least such appeared to be its condition from all that was known to the public. With the Pittsburgh and Steubenville, and Steubenville and Indiana roads completed, it may defy competition, adopt its own rates of charges and of speed; and, with its advantages over the other lines it could hardly be damaged by their rivalry.

Mayor Conrad Making Money.

The Whig Know-Nothing Mayor of Philadelphia has an eye to business in the midst of his poetry, and protestant Native Americanism. It appears that a few nights since some of the poorer sort of folks got up a ball at a dancing house, and were enjoying themselves probably quite as well as wealthy people do at fashionable balls. The Mayor sent a posse of officials and had fifty-four of them arrested and brought before him. He heard their cases and fined them, charging, among the costs, eighty-eight cents each as his own fees. That made about $47,50 as his share of the speculation for a short evening's work. It is now said that he was not entitled to over twenty cents in each case, instead of eighty-eight; and it is proposed to prosecute him for taking illegal fees. The fine for such a misdemeanor in office is, we believe, $50 in each case, and together, for the fifty-four cases, would amount to twenty-seven hundred dollars. We wonder if the dancers that he fined were of foreign birth.

A SERIOUS OBJECTION.—It is thought by some that Fred. Douglas will be elected to Congress from some district in New York. We agree with the strict-constructionists that the thing is likely to lead to a serious evil. There would be no great objection to having Fred represent New York, during the short sessions; but in the long ones—when they become protracted into the hot months of July and August—Congress would be compelled, in self defence, to make an appropriation for Cologne water, and smelling bottles, for which it will be difficult to find a precedent in the Constitution. Such appropriations must always be dangerous, and will only bring dark results.

What Travelers say of Pittsburgh.

A gentleman who has lately been traveling from New York through Pennsylvania and some of the western States, writes a letter which is published in the Philadelphia Merchant, in which he makes the following remarks about Pittsburgh and the Central railroad:—"Heavy freights between Philadelphia and be enough for all the river routes. Pittsburgh, quicker than by any rival route. But there will the Mississippi valley can be carried cheaper and with her smoke and dinginess, is prospering beyond any of the great and growing cities of the west. Her Iron and Glass manufactories all appeared busy, and numerous steamers were on the stocks—being built preparatory to the fall trade. Many steamers are built there for the southern rivers. As they have the best of all kinds of material for building right at hand, they can take a boat from her keelson up, quicker and cheaper than at any point on any of the western rivers."

HORRIBLE TRAGEDY.—FIVE MEN KILLED AND HANGED.—We take the following from the Parkville (Clay county, Mo.) Luminary of the 8th:—Just as we were getting ready for press, the particulars of a most shocking affray and hanging have been narrated to us. The occurrence was at Smithville, Clay county, on Monday afternoon. One man, John W. Douglas, was killed; Wm. Ross and 'Squire John Ross, father and son, were dangerously stabbed—not expected to recover; also, Ira Tritt, badly stabbed. The perpetrators, Sam. Shackleford, Wm. Shackleford and John W. Callaway, were subsequently hanged by the enraged citizens.

It is reported when the election took place on Monday, these men were still hanging upon a tree in full view of the people. Callaway confessed that he belonged to the gang, and that he had stole mules, and his brother Bill had ran them off to St. Joseph. Callaway was a mere boy, and the two Shackelford's were quite young men.

KEEL-BOATING.—The Allegheny keel-boats have formed a line to do business between this city and Wheeling, during the continuance of the present low stage of water. They will do a good business. Large amounts of freights are waiting for transportation both ways, and millers are anxious to get wheat up the river. Success to the craft. But we cannot help hoping for a rousing rain, though it might damage their business.

BOURGICAULT'S NEW PLAY.—Chester, of the Buffalo Express, thinks the despatch announcing the complete failure of Dion Bourgicault's new play was rather premature. He says it was produced with but two rehearsals, both of which were hurried and imperfect; and, as an evidence, he states that the third representation was infinitely superior. The piece was entitled "Janet Pride," and was written for a London theatre originally.

LOVE AND SUICIDE.—A German named Thomas Laforce, belonging to the band of the 2d Infantry at Carlisle barracks, was discovered dead in a cornfield on Sunday last. A couple of letters which he left behind explained the matter. He had seen and loved a young lady—a Miss E——F——, whom he could not hope to win, and therefore resolved to blow his brains out with a horse-pistol. "Oh, woman, woman!"

☞ Complaints of severe drought come from all quarters. They say that we shall have no fat cattle next fall, and a short hog crop. Then the fisheries yield less than usual this year, as will be seen by a short extract in another column.

☞ The money of the Indians Banks is received again as heretofore by the Cincinnati Banks. How much did the Cincinnati Brokers make out of the false alarm they raised?

WHY AUSTRIA FALTERS.—A letter from Hungary to a German paper in New York, generally well informed on European politics, dated Debrocsin, July 22d, says:

"If you should read in the papers that the common council of this town has subscribed one million florins to the new Austrian loan, you must not take it for any mark of sympathy towards the military government of Austria. The loan is subscribed to by the people for the purpose of assisting in carrying on a war against some one that we are longing for, no matter whether against, English, Turks or Russians. It makes but little difference with us against whom. We Hungarians are living in the firm conviction that war is the best occasion for an outbreak that can offer. Whoever is the opponent, the true sons of Hungary enlisted in the Austrian army would go over to the enemy to fight with their own greatest enemy, the Austrians. This you may take as the real cause why the council has signed money for the Austrian war expenditures.

"The same fact shows itself in the present enlistment of eighty thousand Hungarians.—They have voluntarily done this, to get hold of arms!"

The Express is inclined to believe that there is something more than idle assertion in this, and that there can be little doubt that it is a conviction of this kind that induces Austria to falter and hesitate as to which side she ought to join, the allies or the Czar.

LATER FROM TEXAS.—Advices from Galveston, to the 7th instant, have been received. A few days after the Indians were repulsed from Van Buren, says the Nueces Valley, of the 2d instant, another party, of the same tribe, visited Major Durst's rancho, on the Presenas, and murdered five men, three Mexicans and two Americans, and killed and injured some of his stock.

There is a very strong movement in Texas in favor of the proposed "no fence" law.

The forthcoming State elections occupy a considerable portion of the Texas press.

Texas will raise this year probably 100 per cent. more wheat than last year. The corn crop also promises a large yield, notwithstanding some complaints of drought.

Persons engaged in driving cattle from El Paso to California, are severe losers by Indian depredations. Mr. Oliver had lost 200 head, and McRea & Rankin, 125 head.

SHAMEFUL TREATMENT OF IMMIGRANTS.—It is said to have long been the practice of ship captains, on arriving at the port of New York with German emigrants to enter into an arrangement with some one or more of the swarms of runners that infest the docks on every new arrival, whereby the poor, friendless strangers are fleeced out of considerable sums of money by the runners and the landlords that employ them. Some of the captains, by this arrangement, it is said, make $600 or more out of a single cargo of the Germans, and this is the inducement for the arrangement. An instance of the kind was brought before the authorities on Monday. A ship with a large number of Germans arrived on Sunday, and on Monday because one of them attempted to go ashore he was beaten unmercifully by the mate, for whose arrest a warrant has been issued.

BAD NEWS FROM THE FISHERIES.—The Gloucester (Mass.) Telegraph reports the arrival of the schooner Queen of Clippers, Capt. Andrew Parker, jr., from the Bay of St. Lawrence, bearing the first vessel from that quarter this season. She came from the fishing grounds on Saturday, August 5th. The news is very discouraging. Mackerel were very scarce, and the vessels were doing almost nothing. Two of the Gloucester vessels had obtained 100 bbls each, while the rest of the fleet ranged from 10 to 60 bbls each. Capt. Parker informed the editor of the Telegraph that there was an armed brig stationed at Gaspe, a cutter in the Bay of Chaleur, and another cutter elsewhere. He had received no trouble from them. There had been no fish in shore, and consequently there had been no occasion for extra vigilance on their part.

THE CROPS IN MICHIGAN.—Among the many paragraphs going the rounds of the press deploring the state of the crops, it is refreshing to have evidence that "all is not lost that's in danger." The Detroit Tribune says:

"Accounts from all parts of the State that reach us through private channels and our exchanges, unite in saying that the present harvest is one of the best ever known in the State. Wheat in some localities, may not quite come up to the mark, but in others it will, while corn and oats never looked better."

THE KILLING OF ANTONIO.

The affair at Greytown has given rise to a good deal of discussion, and much contradictory testimony has been published in relation to it. It is alleged that the shooting of the colored man, Antonio, by the Captain of the steamer gave rise to the difficulty, and that the Captain committed murder. Below we publish a statement which comes from two eye witnesses, one a lady, and the other a known man, and, from his position, we should suppose a reliable man.

We find the statement in the Washington Star:

"It seems that Capt. Smith, of the American steamer Routh, navigating the San Juan river, some months since dismissed one of his native pilots named Antonio, a ferocious fellow, who subsequently threatened to take his life on the first favorable occasion. On the down trip of the Routh, when Mr. Borland was a passenger on her, coming home, she lost most of her rudder by an accident, and was for the most part steered with setting poles. When about eight miles from San Juan she became unmanageable in a narrow channel of deep and rapid water. To save her from 'grounding,' Capt. Smith ordered her to be made fast to a 'bungo,' (native boat,) lying near at hand, which proved to be the boat of Antonio. The latter had the rope of the steamer cut or cast loose, and seizing a double barreled gun, leveled it to shoot Captain Smith, who was standing with the steamer's wheel in his hand. A woman on board the bungo, however, jerked the gun from his hand, and, ere he could recover it, the steamer, being loosened from the bungo, was swept violently away by the current, grounding on the other side of the river. In their efforts to prevent this catastrophe, the hands lost two of their setting poles near the bungo, and as soon as possible the steamer headed so as to recover them. On her second approach towards the bungo for that purpose, the ex-pilot again seized his gun and ordered Capt. Smith not to approach nearer or he would shoot him. He made his threat, and prepared to carry it into execution, though he saw that Captain S was at the wheel, surrounded by male and female passengers, and the boat was almost wholly unmanageable. Smith, finding it impossible to stop her headway, and fearing that he would shoot into the crowd of passengers, stepped out of the wheel-house instantly, when the ruffian squatted down and raised his double-barrelled gun to shoot. But S. was too quick for him, as he seized his rifle and shot him as he was on the point of pulling the trigger. These are the facts of the shooting affair, as testified to by Dr. Smith, of San Francisco, Adams & Co.'s express messenger, and a lady passenger, who, as well as the Hon. Mr. Borland, were in the wheel-house at the time."

There were 12 deaths in Buffalo, last week—58 of which resulted from Cholera.

Bishop Doane, of New Jersey, is lying seriously ill.

On Saturday last the steamboat Alabanian was destroyed by fire at the wharf at Louisville.

Ex Governor Morton, of Massachusetts, is said to be hopelessly ill with dropsy.

An ice house, near Boston, was destroyed by fire on Monday, and 1600 tons of ice melted.

Last week $93,000 was paid out for work done on the Northwestern R. Railroad.

The New Orleans Delta, of the 7th, complains of the general stagnation of business in that city.

Hon. James Cooper, U. S. Senator from Pennsylvania, is said to be lying ill at Pottsville.

Mr. Dobbin, the Secretary of the Navy, left Washington on Saturday evening, on a visit to his home in North Carolina.

Threats have been made to tear up the rails of the Hudson River Railroad in the upper part of the city of New York, by parties opposed to the running of locomotives in that vicinity.

Near Paris, Illinois, five or six months ago, George Hodge committed suicide by cutting his throat. A few days since, Sophia Hodge, his widow, killed herself by taking arsenic.

The extraordinary number of four thousand four hundred immigrants landed at the port of New York, on Thursday last. A very large proportion were Germans, shipped from the ports of Bremen and Hamburg.

A single family in Sangamon county, Ill., have 17,000 sheep, all of good blood. Sheep raising is a fine business in Illinois. It is said that every farmer who has tried the business has amassed a fortune.

Gen. Lane, of Oregon, has been lying ill at the President's House since the adjournment of Congress, but is now convalescent. It is said the President, on hearing of his indisposition left his boarding house, sent for him and made him a guest at the Executive Mansion during his sickness.

In Havana they have a story that Capt. Hollins, of the Cyane, seeing the steamer Dee approaching, suspended the bombardment of Greytown for over an hour, believing her to be a British ship of war. The story is just absurd enough to find credit with the gobemouches of Cuba.

The Boston Settlement in Kansas is located on the right bank of the Kansas river, about forty miles from its mouth, and some seven miles beyond the Wakarus river. Here the pioneer company has halted and proceeded to enter claims upon the land, it being understood that the Ald Company in Massachusetts will make that spot the base of their future operation, and will forthwith, or as soon as possible, send men and money to carry effectually forward their grand enterprise.

M. Stoebl, Russian minister at Washington, who is now in New York, at the Metropolitan Hotel, on Friday evening entertained a select company of gentlemen of the various legations, over a superb dinner, got up expressly for the purpose by the Messrs. Leland. Among the guests were M. Sologus, Belgian minister; Sir Edwin Corbett, of the British embassy; Count de Grabon, Spanish legation; and W. Bodisco, Russian legation. Previous to the dinner, the whole party visited the opera at Castle Garden.

The prevalent tendency to baldness has caused much discussion. The London Quarterly Review attributes it to the common silk hat, which is impervious to the air, and thus keeps the head at a high temperature. In support of this theory it is mentioned that soldiers in helmetted regiments are often bald than the rest of the army, for the reason that their helmets are more impenetrable to the air than the hats of other soldiers, the principle being the same as in the case of the silk hat.

The Cincinnati Commercial, an Anti-Nebraska paper says: "The telegraphic despatch, sent from this city to the portions of the United States, regarding the Carthage convention, is not a fair statement of the case. The reporter evidently went off half cocked. The statement that the convention broke up in a row without passing any resolutions, is untrue. An important resolution denouncing the Know Nothings in severe terms, was passed by a vote on which the yeas and nays were called. And the statement that the United States Senator elect of this State was chief of the Miami Tribe, is incorrect." Who is this reporter that goes off half-cocked when politics is concerned; but when bona fide news matter is to be telegraphed don't go off at all?

A terrible tragedy occurred recently at Cold Spring Cemetery, Cincinnati, in which James M'Dermott was killed. It appears from the testimony that the Glenn family were at the cemetery for the purpose of burying a child. M'Dermott was there at the same time in his capacity of hack-driver. An altercation ensued as to the right of way, in the course of which an attack was made upon M'Dermott by James Glenn, who struck him with a slung-shot, and was, in return, felled to the ground by M'Dermott. Rising, he grappled M'Dermott, and while they were struggling, Peter, brother of James Glenn, came up with a loaded pistol and fired the fatal shot. Peter then made his escape, and a few days subsequently James was arrested as a party in the murder. The examination lasted four hours, at the expiration of which the Judge held the prisoner to answer the charge of manslaughter, at the next term of the criminal court.

[From the Boston Post of the 16th instant.]

Severe Penalty and Appeal.

Mr. Z. B. Porter, of the Cambridge Market Hotel, was examined on Friday before Justice Ladd, of the police court in that city, on a charge of selling eighteen gills of intoxicating liquor to eighteen different individuals. The charges were sustained by the testimony of Charles H. Morse, who saw it done. The court considered that the complaint was fully sustained by the evidence, and sentenced the defendant as follows:—On the first count to pay a fine of $10 and costs (amounting to $17,02) and give bonds in the sum of $1,000 not to violate the law again for one year; on the second $20 and costs; and on the third and the remaining fifteen counts to pay a fine of $20, and also to be imprisoned in the common jail on conviction on each count for the term of three months. Thus the amount of fines is $850, and the term of imprisonment four years. From this judgment Mr. Porter appealed, and gave bonds in the sum of $500 to appear and prosecute his appeal at the criminal term of the court of common pleas, to be holden in Lowell on the 3d day of October.

A Glance at the Allied Camp.

A correspondent of the London Times thus describes the camps of the allied armies near Aladyn:—

"There has been as great a change made in this town as in Gallipoli. Mr. Grace, of Constantinople, has sent up some supplies of hams, tongues, brandy, wine, &c., and the little Army and Navy screw steamer is busy cruising about with stores from port to port, but our soldiers have still to deal in unknown languages with French, Italians and Greeks, and numberless are the 'rows' which spring up in consequence. No pen, no painting, could give the faintest idea of the state of the streets towards evening, when between the French and English troops becomes the pickets begin their march to clear the men off to their camps. The fraternity established every day more affectionate, and individual friendships are springing up, all the closer, perhaps, for a squabble now and then, which ends in the old redintegratio amoris. A huge Highlander last Monday walked through a crowd of drunken Chasseurs, knocking them down like ninepins, because one of them had slapped his cheek, and was only just stopped in time to prevent the affair becoming serious by an officer who happened to be present. Later in the day, a gigantic Irishman, with his coatee off, his eyes starting out of his head, and an oak paling in his hand, went dancing through the principal market-place, and for some imaginary offence, commenced an attack on Turks, French and Greeks indiscriminately, whom he routed with signal discomfiture, first breaking a sword bayonet which a soldier drew to stop his vagaries; he then walked into a café, where he broke up the conversazione of the place very rudely, and finished by running a muck through a whole mob of assailants, and getting off through the gate into the fields. In a squabble last week, a Frenchman ran a Turk through the body, and killed him on the spot. He has not been discovered. While talking of these matters, I may mention that General Espinasse, to the regret of us all, had a sad misfortune the other day. The general, who is a remarkably fine looking young man, of thirty-six or seven years of age, had a favorite Arab charger, which was considered very tame and gentle. On approaching it a few mornings ago with a lump of sugar in his mouth, as he had often done before, the animal was seized by the horse, and caught by the lip and chin, and shockingly mutilated. Owing to the great care and skill of the surgeons in attendance on him, he is, however, rapidly recovering, but he will bear the mark of the wound for life."

MELANCHOLY OCCURRENCE.—Mrs. Martha E. Cubbedge, of Gillisonville, S. C., aged 64 years, died recently under very painful circumstances. It seems that for some weeks previous to her death, her residence had been repeatedly visited by thieves, and various articles had been stolen from the outbuildings. Her son, determining to detect the intruder or intruders, finally kept watch in the yard all night with a loaded gun, but the thief did not come, and the following night the family retired to bed as usual. The son, however, was soon alarmed by the cries of his sister, who was in another room with the mother. They having heard a noise in the direction that the fence was broken the night previous. He arose, and went to the door, and saw a retreating figure. He immediately returned for the gun; on reaching the door a second time, he still saw some one moving towards the place where the fence was broken. He halted four times, but received no answer. He waited until it was going out of sight behind the kitchen, some forty or fifty yards from where he was; he then fired without taking aim, (for it was too dark to do so,) when, to his utter astonishment and horror, he heard his mother say, "You have shot me!" who, not having undressed yet, had gone towards where the noise was, so soon as she knew he had opened the door, under the impression that he was the thief she had done so. Many of the shot took effect on the person of Mrs. Cubbedge, and she died on the few days afterwards from the injuries received.

☞ We see by the Court Records, that the two counterfeiters, White, of Buffalo, and Lawrence, of Epping, N. H., have been placed under ten thousand dollar bonds, each, for making and selling, imitations of ATER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. This is right. If the law should protect men from imposition at all, it should certainly protect them from being imposed upon by a worthless counterfeit of such a medicine as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. We can only complain that the punishment is not half enough. The villain, who would for paltry gain, deliberately trifle with the health of his fellow man, by taking from their lips, the cup of hope, when they are sinking, and substituting a falsehood—an utter delusion, should be punished at least as severely as he who counterfeits the coin of the country. —Green Co. Banner, Carrollton, Ill.

SOUTHERN ROUTE FOR A RAILROAD TO THE PACIFIC.—The Charleston Standard is informed that the route for a road through Sonora to the Gulf of California, for which Santa Anna has granted a charter to American enterprise, will be found very favorable. It will not only course through the richest mineral regions of Sonora, but may be made to shorten the distance to the western ocean some four hundred or five hundred miles, and secure a terminus on the gulf in a harbor of security, equal to either San Diego or San Francisco.

☞ Dr. M'Lane's Vermifuge.—ANOTHER MEDICAL WITNESS.—It is no small evidence of the intrinsic value of this great Vermifuge, when even physicians, who are generally prejudiced against patent medicines, voluntarily come forward and testify to its triumphant success in expelling worms. Read the following:—

HARMONYVILLE, Shelby co., Ky., April 2, 1849.

J. KIDD & CO.—I am a practising physician, residing permanently in this place. From the year 1845, when a resident of the State of Missouri, I became acquainted with the superior virtues of Dr. M'Lane's Vermifuge, I, at some leisure moment, I will send you the result of an experiment I made with one vial, in expelling upwards of 300 worms.

Purchasers will be careful to ask for Dr. M'Lane's Celebrated Vermifuge, and take none else. All other Vermifuges, in comparison, are worthless. Dr. M'Lane's genuine Vermifuge, also his Celebrated Liver Pills, can now be had at all the respectable Drug Stores in the United States and Canada. Also for sale by the sole proprietors, ☞ Nervous Diseases Controlled and Conquered.—Three fourths of the physical pain endured by the human race proceeds from affections of the nerves. The unutterable agony of neuralgia, rheumatism, gout, spasms, headache, and a thousand nameless pangs that dart through every portion of the system, and distract the brain, are referable directly to an unnatural condition of the nervous system. The weaker sex are a prey to a variety of agonies that may truly be called infinite. The nerves are the seat of all pain. Kill the nerve of a "raging tooth," and the pain ceases. Destroy the nerves of a limb, and it is paralyzed. Render all the nerves of the frame insensible, and you produce death. Of what immense importance, therefore, must a preparation be that will invigorate the nervous vigor, hardiness, and permanent energy into this complex arrangement of vital agents known as the nervous system Experience has proved, the faculty admit, the record shows, that DR. MORSE'S INVIGORATING ELIXIR AND CORDIAL will produce these almost miraculous effects. If all men could witness the changes it brings about in the condition of those who are "ready to perish"—for it banishes melancholy, begets strength, controls pain, builds up and fortifies the constitution, and prolongs life—it would be unnecessary to advertise it. Newspapers are merely used as media to draw attention to it. To be universally used, and unhesitatingly relied upon, it merely requires to be universally known. The aid of the press is invoked to guide the public to this living fountain; but no printed works can adequately set forth its value.

The Cordial is put up, highly concentrated, in pint bottles. Price three dollars per bottle, two for five dollars, six for twelve dollars.

Sold by Druggists throughout the United States, Canada, and the West Indies.

☞ The Great French Remedies!!—M. RALLY'S ANTIDOTE AND LOTION.—Those persons who wish for a safe, speedy, and permanent cure, should use the above celebrated and unrivalled FRENCH PREPARATIONS. They have now been in use for five years—have been thoroughly tested in thousands of the most obstinate cases, and invariably have given satisfaction. They are not composed simply of Balsam Copaiva, but are entirely different from all other preparations, both in the nature of their ingredients and the manner in which they operate upon the patient. Hence the wonderful success attending their use.

A gentleman connected with the Western Railroad says: "I have expended for other people during the last three years over $300, for remedies of this description, and have never found a single article that gave such universal satisfaction as your Antidote and Lotion does. I do not recollect of their ever failing to cure in a single instance. Many have been cured in two or three days."

Price, Antidote $1; Lotion 50 cents per bottle.

☞ Philadelphia, 1854.—The attention of the citizens of Pittsburgh and vicinity, who wish to read a Philadelphia paper, is called to the Evening Register, a journal published every day, containing a complete routine of all local matters that transpires to the hour of going to press, and as particular attention is paid to this department, it will recommend itself strongly to the favor of those persons who formerly resided in that vicinity, as it conveys a faithful epitome of the vast changes occuring in their former home. To the reading and manufacturing portion of the community no better medium could be selected for advertising their wares and products, thus bringing directly before the eyes of the merchants the advantages of patronizing the factories of the "west end" of the State. As a journal of liberal sentiments, advocating all the reforms of the age, we heartily recommend it to one and all, believing that they may be benefited by subscribing and supporting a paper that supports the people.—"now 50¢ per month."

The subscription price is $5 per year, in advance, and should be sent, pre-paid, to WILLIAM HINNEY,
N. E. corner Third and Chestnut streets,
au9:3m Philadelphia, Pa.
