The Pittsburgh Journal must imagine that it is going to do something wonderful soon. It has threatened a review of the democratic addresses for a long time, and, one would suppose from intimations given, that a terrible onslaugh was soon to be made. The most extensive preparations are advertised from day to day; old papers called for, their receipt announced; and a continued effort kept up to raise public expectation " on tiptoe."

We have waited long enough on this promised prodigy, and demand that the acouchment shall take place immediately. We wish the Empress of France and the editor of the Journal a safe of France and the editor of the Journal a safe time. But we cannot wait on our neighbor much longer. This state of alarming suspense he has been endeavoring to create is hard to bear. We have no fears for the result when it comes to light; and have no doubt it will be like the case of old; "parturisint montes et nascitur musculum."

the most remarkable empire in the world in the shortest space of time possible. It is said sometimes that a popular government is the very worst that can be devised in order to be able to deal effectually with foreigners in the event of interrupted relations. A popular government, it is said, may be admirably adapted for the administration of the internal resources of the country; but when foreign relations are concerned, then a unity, a concentration of power, are needed, which can never be obtained except country; but when foreign relations are con-cerned, then a unity, a concentration of power, are needed, which can never be obtained except in a state where the sovereign power is lodged in the hands of one or a few. It is sufficient answer to this assertion to say that the most pros perous periods of many of the most illustri states in the modern and anoient world have the sadvised of the object of his visiters, Mr. been precisely those where the people shared most directly in the sovereign power. It was no fault, moreover, of Mr. Soule, if Queen isabella was not enlightened in senson upon the true aim of the movement, at the head of which O'Donnel had placed himself. After the return of the court to Madrid, and the first engagement of Vicaivaro, represented by the injustical loansels. ministerial journals as a victory, the minister of Prussis convoked the diplomatic corps, and pro-posed to go and compliment the queen. All the Fools not the Dead.—Winston P. Noble, a young man, and son of ex-Governor Noble, of Indiana, was swindled in New York, a day or two since, out of $125 and a gold watch and chain, valued at $350, by some "patent safe" operators. It was done by the same sharp practice that has been exposed in the press hundreds of times; and against which, any one who sense, should have been on his guard.

will be superior to it in excellence of production and in the spirit of national emulation. From the London Times, August 11.1 There has been laid before the House of Commons a copy of the alterations proposed in the Book of Common Prayer, by the bishops and others appointed by the Crown to revise the book in 1689. The alterations suggested by the commissioners were no less than five hundred commissioners were no tess than uve hundred and ninety eight in number. Many, though decidedly improvements and quite unobjectionable, were merely of a verbal nature. One of the most notable of the changes proposed was to add (on the great festivals) after the Ten Commandments a recital of the eight beatitudes, and (on the great and sold of the eight beatitudes, mandments a recital of the eight beatitudes, with a suitable response from the people. So far as the alterations suggested affected doctrine, the key to them will be found in the desire to consiliate objectors and prevent the spread of dissent. The word "priest" was to be altered to "minister;" the Apochrypha was to be disused; those who scrupled kneeling at the sacrament were to be allowed to receive it in a pew, in some posture of reverence; in baptism the standing Oured.—Mr. John Longden, now living

LANCASTER.—There is much dissatisfaction among the Whigs of Lancaster County, at the command of Hiester for Congress, and Brown for Judge. The Independent Whig has little loubt that an independent ticket will be ru and a large part of the Whig ticket be defeated. The new County Committee afterwards appointed a Cemmittee to wait on Mesars. Brown and Hiester, and request them to withdraw from the ticket.
