

PITTSBURGH: FRIDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 20.

MORNING POST JOB OFFICE. We would call the attention of MERCHANTS AND BUSINESS MEN to the fact that we have just received from the Philadelphia number of our new 'Dye' and are now prepared to do orders for Green, Orange, Red, Blue, Purple, Black, Brown, and all other colors for printing. All orders will be promptly filled.

News of the Day. Ex-President Tyler and family, and Sir Edward Head, were at the Clarendon Hotel, in New York, at last address. Where in Hon. John M. Bates.

SEBASTOPOLE—THE STATE OF EUROPE.

The long inactivity of the English and French fleets and armies has been followed by a brilliant and important achievement. French and Turkish troops were landed in the Crimea, and the British government has taken, and with it a large portion of the Russian Black Sea fleet. The despatches and items of information in relation to the battle will be found in another column; and also a description of the fortifications and harbor of the captured fortress.

This conquest is of great importance to the allies; it indeed the conquest is complete, which there is but little doubt. The public opinion of England and France compelled the governments to undertake this enterprise, and it has resulted in their success. It is the great event of the campaign, and gives to the allies the entire control of the Black Sea, and its coast and ports. If the accounts received are true, and so many Russian ships were sunk or taken, the naval power of the Czar is most completely annihilated. It appears, however, that the inhabitants of the Crimea, who are principally Mohammedans, joined the army of the allies in considerable numbers, and cheerfully furnished them with provisions. More than a half a century of subjection to the Russian government has not reconciled the once fierce races of that region to their despotic masters, and they seize the first opportunity to aid in throwing off the hated yoke.

It is not probable that the allies will restore to Russia the conquered fortress and province. It will be restored to Turkey, to whom it formerly belonged, or held and fortified by the English. French and then give them, perhaps for a long time, the command of the Bosphorus. During the present war it can be used as the base of all naval and military operations in the Black Sea, and as a point of departure for the Russian fleet. It is not a short distance from the shores of the Caucasian countries, where the Russians, during the present campaign, have gained many victories over the organized armies of the Turks and even Constantinople, and from Sebastopol, as a rendezvous, forces can be sent to any point along the whole Asiatic and European line of military operations. The Russian fleet is effectively checked and broken in the south; and the vast conquests made to the southward within the last thirty years can now be wrested from her grasp.

Every successful blow that Russia has struck in the direction adds to the prestige of her Asiatic possessions. Russia was fast advancing through them toward the Caucasus; but the line of her conquests is now broken; the forts and castles are destroyed, and ships are signally and totally wrecked. Such is the result of the first campaign in the south. In the north, on the shores of the Baltic, the Russian fleet is completely annihilated. It is one of the strongest fleets in the world; and the splendid successes of the fleet and army of the north will stimulate the forces under Sir Charles Napier to some grand achievement before returning to England and France. We may expect the news of another bloody conflict, before winter sets in. The reduction of Constantinople would expose St. Petersburg as an easy conquest to the allies.

But notwithstanding the reverses of the Czar, he is far from being completely defeated. He has not been completely checked and broken, and upon the whole he has not been completely defeated. He has not been completely checked and broken, and upon the whole he has not been completely defeated. He has not been completely checked and broken, and upon the whole he has not been completely defeated.

History proves the truth of the old adage: "It is not the victor who is the most powerful, but the victor who is the most powerful." It is not the victor who is the most powerful, but the victor who is the most powerful. It is not the victor who is the most powerful, but the victor who is the most powerful.

It is not the victor who is the most powerful, but the victor who is the most powerful. It is not the victor who is the most powerful, but the victor who is the most powerful. It is not the victor who is the most powerful, but the victor who is the most powerful.

TAKING OF SEBASTOPOLE.

PROPOSED ATTACK ON GONASTAT. DESCRIPTION OF THE PLACE.

The following are the official despatches, as communicated to the English public: "On the 20th of Sept. 1854. The British fleet, under the command of the Earl of Clarendon, arrived at the harbor of Sebastopol, on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The Russian fleet, under the command of the Count de Sinajin, was destroyed on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The British fleet, under the command of the Earl of Clarendon, arrived at the harbor of Sebastopol, on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The Russian fleet, under the command of the Count de Sinajin, was destroyed on the 20th of Sept. 1854.

The following are the official despatches, as communicated to the English public: "On the 20th of Sept. 1854. The British fleet, under the command of the Earl of Clarendon, arrived at the harbor of Sebastopol, on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The Russian fleet, under the command of the Count de Sinajin, was destroyed on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The British fleet, under the command of the Earl of Clarendon, arrived at the harbor of Sebastopol, on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The Russian fleet, under the command of the Count de Sinajin, was destroyed on the 20th of Sept. 1854.

The following are the official despatches, as communicated to the English public: "On the 20th of Sept. 1854. The British fleet, under the command of the Earl of Clarendon, arrived at the harbor of Sebastopol, on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The Russian fleet, under the command of the Count de Sinajin, was destroyed on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The British fleet, under the command of the Earl of Clarendon, arrived at the harbor of Sebastopol, on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The Russian fleet, under the command of the Count de Sinajin, was destroyed on the 20th of Sept. 1854.

The following are the official despatches, as communicated to the English public: "On the 20th of Sept. 1854. The British fleet, under the command of the Earl of Clarendon, arrived at the harbor of Sebastopol, on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The Russian fleet, under the command of the Count de Sinajin, was destroyed on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The British fleet, under the command of the Earl of Clarendon, arrived at the harbor of Sebastopol, on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The Russian fleet, under the command of the Count de Sinajin, was destroyed on the 20th of Sept. 1854.

The following are the official despatches, as communicated to the English public: "On the 20th of Sept. 1854. The British fleet, under the command of the Earl of Clarendon, arrived at the harbor of Sebastopol, on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The Russian fleet, under the command of the Count de Sinajin, was destroyed on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The British fleet, under the command of the Earl of Clarendon, arrived at the harbor of Sebastopol, on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The Russian fleet, under the command of the Count de Sinajin, was destroyed on the 20th of Sept. 1854.

The following are the official despatches, as communicated to the English public: "On the 20th of Sept. 1854. The British fleet, under the command of the Earl of Clarendon, arrived at the harbor of Sebastopol, on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The Russian fleet, under the command of the Count de Sinajin, was destroyed on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The British fleet, under the command of the Earl of Clarendon, arrived at the harbor of Sebastopol, on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The Russian fleet, under the command of the Count de Sinajin, was destroyed on the 20th of Sept. 1854.

The following are the official despatches, as communicated to the English public: "On the 20th of Sept. 1854. The British fleet, under the command of the Earl of Clarendon, arrived at the harbor of Sebastopol, on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The Russian fleet, under the command of the Count de Sinajin, was destroyed on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The British fleet, under the command of the Earl of Clarendon, arrived at the harbor of Sebastopol, on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The Russian fleet, under the command of the Count de Sinajin, was destroyed on the 20th of Sept. 1854.

The following are the official despatches, as communicated to the English public: "On the 20th of Sept. 1854. The British fleet, under the command of the Earl of Clarendon, arrived at the harbor of Sebastopol, on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The Russian fleet, under the command of the Count de Sinajin, was destroyed on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The British fleet, under the command of the Earl of Clarendon, arrived at the harbor of Sebastopol, on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The Russian fleet, under the command of the Count de Sinajin, was destroyed on the 20th of Sept. 1854.

The following are the official despatches, as communicated to the English public: "On the 20th of Sept. 1854. The British fleet, under the command of the Earl of Clarendon, arrived at the harbor of Sebastopol, on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The Russian fleet, under the command of the Count de Sinajin, was destroyed on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The British fleet, under the command of the Earl of Clarendon, arrived at the harbor of Sebastopol, on the 20th of Sept. 1854. The Russian fleet, under the command of the Count de Sinajin, was destroyed on the 20th of Sept. 1854.

ALLEGHENY COUNTY ELECTION RETURNS.

STATE AND COUNTY OFFICERS—OFFICIAL.

Table with columns for District, Name, and Votes. Lists candidates for various offices including Sheriff, Clerk, and Justices of the Peace.

Vote for Congress and Members of the General Assembly.

Table with columns for District, Name, and Votes. Lists candidates for Congress and the General Assembly.

Vote for County Officers.

Table with columns for District, Name, and Votes. Lists candidates for County Officers.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisement for R. L. Allen, Wholesale Dealer in No. 8 Wood Street, Pittsburgh. Lists various goods and services.

Advertisement for F. J. Kelly, Wholesale Dealer in No. 8 Wood Street, Pittsburgh. Lists various goods and services.

Advertisement for J. H. Kelly, Wholesale Dealer in No. 8 Wood Street, Pittsburgh. Lists various goods and services.

Advertisement for J. H. Kelly, Wholesale Dealer in No. 8 Wood Street, Pittsburgh. Lists various goods and services.

Advertisement for J. H. Kelly, Wholesale Dealer in No. 8 Wood Street, Pittsburgh. Lists various goods and services.

Advertisement for J. H. Kelly, Wholesale Dealer in No. 8 Wood Street, Pittsburgh. Lists various goods and services.

Advertisement for J. H. Kelly, Wholesale Dealer in No. 8 Wood Street, Pittsburgh. Lists various goods and services.

Advertisement for J. H. Kelly, Wholesale Dealer in No. 8 Wood Street, Pittsburgh. Lists various goods and services.

Advertisement for J. H. Kelly, Wholesale Dealer in No. 8 Wood Street, Pittsburgh. Lists various goods and services.

Advertisement for J. H. Kelly, Wholesale Dealer in No. 8 Wood Street, Pittsburgh. Lists various goods and services.

Advertisement for J. H. Kelly, Wholesale Dealer in No. 8 Wood Street, Pittsburgh. Lists various goods and services.

Advertisement for J. H. Kelly, Wholesale Dealer in No. 8 Wood Street, Pittsburgh. Lists various goods and services.